FAIRGROUNDS REVERTING TO DESERT?

A tractor-loader grinds toward rolls of turf, to scoop up and haul away the lush bluegrass that landscaping crews labored a few weeks ago to install in time for the Marin County Fair alongside the Civic Center Lagoon. County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske explained today that the turf was of a type too difficult to maintain under heavy use. He said landscaping contractor A. and J. Shooter of San Rafael was replacing it with new seeding at no cost to the county. Passers by hauled away free carloads of the turf yesterday and today. The sudden landscaping caught Veterans Memorial Building Director Leon G. Kalimos by surprise yesterday; he summoned sheriff's deputies before he found out the work was legitimate. No Peking Answer To U.N.; Thant Unity Call

Nationalists' Ouster Severe Blow To U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Secretary General Thant issued an extraordinary appeal today for unity in a United Nations which expelled Nationalist China and was still without official confirmation from Peking that Red China had accepted its new U.N. seat. (See other stories page 7.)

"I solemnly appeal to all member states to leave no room for bitterness but on the contrary to abide by the decision of the General Assembly and endorse the tremendous step forward which has been taken last night," Thant said in a statement.

The United Nations voted overwhelmingly Monday night to seat Communist China and expel the Nationalists in a move that dealt the United States its worst diplomatic defeat in the 26-year-history of the U.N. and which shifted the balance of political power in the U.N.

There was no immediate official reaction from Peking, but the Hungarian news agency MTI reported from Peking that a Foreign Office official called the decisive 76 to 35 vote with 17 abstentions "a good vote."

Thant invited the Peoples Republic of China to assume membership but there was no word yet. If Peking follows the lead of the ther U.N. members it would send some top ranking official, possibly Premier Chou En-lai, to make a policy speech.

The first impact from Peking was felt in Geneva, site of the U. N. disarmament talks. A Chinese Communist official there called for a world summit conference to discuss disarmament.

Thant, apparently taking note of anger and dismay in such capitals as Washington, said the Monday night vote to seat Communist China made the 26th General Assembly "a session of decision."

While expressing sadness at departure of the Nationalists, Thant said the decision to admit Peking "may enable us to solve more effectively the international problems with which we are confronted."

"However," he said, "This will imply that no member turns its back on new tasks and new prospects which are now facing the international community."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington he believed the U.N. "will be damaged" by the expulsion of Nationalist China but that Washington must accept the fact that the decision was a majority one.

There were no Nationalist government statements. Taipei was content to rest on the farewell statement of Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai who dramatically led the Nationalists out of the Assembly before the crushing 76 to 35 vote, with 17 abstentions.

He said the world body which Nationalist China helped found in 1945 had become "a circus." Then he staged a walkout of such dignity that the assembly gave him a spontaneous ovation.

Throughout Europe the reaction was that Peking had at last gained its "rightful place" in the United Nations, the same reaction that came from the Soviet news agency Tass. And there was a general belief that world power politics would change and change drastically with China representing 700 million persons.

Inside the great assembly hall of the United Nations the normally staid body erupted into the closest thing to pande-

Tribunal Rejects Michigan Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to disturb a massive school busing order in troubled Pontiac, Mich., where white and black parents and their children have clashed over desegregation and the Ku Klux Klan was linked to bus bombings.

In a brief order without comment, the Court refused to review a Feb. 17, 1970, ruling of U.S. District Judge Damon J. Keith, which later was upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Although there was no formal segregation policy in the automaking city, Keith ordered half its 25,000 pupils bused. He held that the school board "intentionally utilized" its power to perpetuate existing segregation created by housing patterns.

Heretofore, desegregation considered by the high court has been "de jure" —that is, imposed by law.

The other kind is "de facto" —brought about by housing patterns that create all-black schools in ghettoes like New York City's Harlem. The Court has passed up chances to examine it over several years in cases from Gary, Ind., Cincinnati and Kansas City.

The upshot of these and lower federal court actions is to allow school boards to overcome de facto segregation if they wish but not to force them to do so.

In the Pontiac case, blacks argued that the situation there was "de jure" —an outgrowth of official action. The school board argued it was "de facto" —merely a result of population movements that authorities were trying to counteract.

The 6th circuit relied on one of its own opinions in a Cincinnati case in coming down on the side of the complainants. The opinion said, "Bare statistical imbalance alone is not forbidden —there must also be present a quantum of official discrimination in order to invoke the protection of the 14th Amendment."

The Circuit Court agreed with Judge Keith that the Pontiac Board of Education did a great deal to bring about segregation there and "is now responsible to take action to eliminate the very situation which it caused."

Keith said the Pontiac board "intentionally utilized the power at their disposal to locate new schools and arrange boundaries in such a way as to perpetuate the pattern of segregation within the city ..."

Thus, he said, the board "deliberately, in contradiction of their announced policies of achieving a racial mixture in the schools, prevented integration."

He added, "sins of omission can be as serious as sins of commission."

"Where a board of education has contributed and played a major role in the development and growth of a segregated situation, the board is guilty of de jure segregation," he held. "The fact that such came slowly and surreptitiously rather than by legislative pronouncement makes the situation no less evil."

His ruling sharply divided Pontiac, a city of some 68,000 whites and 17,000 blacks 25 miles northwest of Detroit. An organization called The Concerned Parents of the Pontiac Scnnhool District was formed in May 1970, and the school board appealed his ruling.

At the time, the board was busing 3,600 children up to 3 1-2 miles within the 39-square-mile district, none of them for reasons of integration.

On Aug. 30, 1971, 10 of the city's 57 buses were destroyed in a fire-bombing. Ten days later, FBI agents arrested six men, including two linked to the Michigan Ku Klux Klan, on federal charges of conspiring to bomb the buses and to violate the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

Schools opened on schedule with pickets daring bus drivers to run over them. Eight white students and one black were injured in scuffles at one junior high school and nine persons were arrested at the school bus depot.

Pontiac school officials pledged to implement the court-ordered integration plan despite the loss of $50,000 worth of buses.

Kissinger Ends Trip To Peking

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returned to the United States today after a six-day visit to the People's Republic of China.

The 707 jetliner carrying the Kissinger party took off for Washington at 9:05 a.m. EDT.

Kissinger landed at Elmendorf Air Force Base from Peking where he made arrangements for President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China.

Kissinger, Nixon's national security affairs adviser, was to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., tonight.

An announcement of the date of Nixon's journey to Communist China was expected soon after Kissinger reported to the President.

Kissinger's plane landed at 8:30 a.m. EDT. He did not leave the plane and no details were given concerning the talks between him and Premier Chou En-lai.

It was assumed that Kissinger fixed a date for Nixon's visit to Peking and prepared the main topics of discussion. It was his second trip to Red China to make arrangements.

Kissinger originally had been scheduled to stay in Peking four days. It was not known why he remained longer.

Kissinger traveled with about 30 White House and state department staff members, including Far East experts, communications specialists, the Secret Service and representatives of the press office.

Peking Radio said Kissinger and his party were seen off at the airport by Yeh Chien-ying, vice chairman of the Chinese Military Commission, by Chi Peng-fei, Chinese acting Foreign Minister, and other Chinese officials.

Han Hsu, acting director of the protocol department of the Chinese minister of foreign affairs, accompanied the group to Shanghai.

RED CHINESE ASK AN ARMS SUMMIT

Plea For Worldwide Disarmament Talk Follows Nation's Admission To U.N.

GENEVA (UPI) — Chinese Communist diplomats in Geneva called Tuesday for a world summit conference on disarmament following admission of mainland China to the United Nations.

They said no decision has been taken by the Peking regime on joining the 25-nation U.N. disarmament committee which began negotiations in Genva in 1962.

"We desire a world conference at the summit level to discuss the disarmament question," the diplomats at the Chinese consulate said in reply to questions.

The outcome of top-level talks would determine whether negotiations could continue within the framework of a permament forum such as the Geneva conference, they said.

The officials said "we have nothing to say" when asked whether mainland China would join such specialized U.N. agencies as the World Health Organization (WHO) which are based in Geneva.

There have been indications over the past year, however, that this is likely although perhaps not immediately.

The Chinese consulate staff has been growing and now includes officials who speak excellent English and French. The consulate could easily be turned into a diplomatic mission accredited to the U.N. European headquarters here.

Chinese diplomats also have suddenly begun answering telephone calls and receiving visitors as well as inviting western newsmen to receptions and cocktail parties.

Both Western and Communist diplomats said Peking's membership in the United Nations is bound to affect the disarmament conference.

Further negotiations without Peking, they said, could well cast doubt on the value of the conference.

If the Chinese eventually take part there will have to be structural changes, they said.

It would be most unlikely, for example, that Peking would accept the system under which the United States and Soviet Union provide co-chairmen. More likely there would be five chairmen, from Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States.

The disarmament conference has negotiated several important international agreements since 1962, none of which have been signed by Peking.

These include the limited nuclear test ban treaty, the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, the pact banning emplacement of nuclear weapons on the seabed, and the promotion of biological weapons.

Negotiations next year will center on a comprehensive nuclear test ban which would outlaw underground explosions as well as those in the atmosphere, outer space and underwater.

President Hears Agnew Trip Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew met with President Nixon for more than an hour today to report on his recent trip to Turkey, Iran and Greece.

Agnew represented the President at the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian dynasty and met with several heads of state during the ceremonies. He also conferred on NATO matters with officials in Greece and Turkey during his 13-day tour abroad.

MEASURE B

Aqueduct Tab Could Be High As $119 Million

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
(Second of three articles)

Marin Municipal Water District is asking in Measure B on next Tuesday's ballot for authorization to enter into contracts estimated at $35,300,000 plus interest to participate in a long-range program of the Sonoma County Water Agency that ultimately may run the district's obligation to $119 million.

This program is based on the Warm Springs Dam, which is being constructed by the Army Corps of Engineers in northern Sonoma County as a flood control project.

Along with a measure of control on Russian River flooding, this dam will create a huge reservoir with a safe yield — even in years of drought — of 115,000 acre feet of water per year, most of which now runs to waste down the river during the rainy season. (An acre foot is the amount of water which will cover one acre to a depth of one foot.)

Sonoma County, through its board of supervisors wearing the hats of directors of the Sonoma County Water Agency, has committed itself to participate in construction of the dam as a water supply measure, and in a system of aqueducts to get the water where it is needed. Without the aqueduct system, the water would merely be released into the Russian River in orderly fashion to prevent flooding.

The aqueduct system will take water released from the Warm Springs Reservoir out of the river again and pipe it to users in Sonoma County. Since there is more water available than the Sonoma officials believe will be needed in their own long-range plan, North Marin and Marin Municipal Water Districts were invited to participate in the cost in return for shares of the water. The North Marin district already is committed.

Under the terms of the contract which would be authorized by passage of Measure B, Marin Municipal Water District would receive 44,000 acre feet of water per year from the Warm Springs Reservoir via the Russian River-aqueduct

Kosygin, Trudeau Seek An End To Underground Nuclear Tests

TORONTO (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin ended his eight-day visit to Canada today by joining in a joint Soviet-Canadian communique pledging to seek a ban on underground nuclear tests such as the planned U.S. blast at Amchitka, Alaska.

Kosygin flew to Havana, Cuba, en route home to Moscow this morning.

In a joint communique, both Canada and the Soviet Union also expressed continued anxiety over the Indochina situation.

Although the statement did not mention directly the planned U.S. test at Amchitka, it was believed the reference to underground tests may have been included at Canada's insistence. Canada has voiced strong opposition to the Amchitka blast.

Kosygin's plane landed at Havana airport at 12:09 p.m. EDT and he was greeted by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and enthusiastic crowds waving Russian and Cuban flags.

The greeting was shown on Cuban television, picked up in the Florida keys. Havana radio, monitored in Miami, made no mention of Castro, however. Instead, it made reference to "representatives and the diplomatic corps" greeting Kosygin.

Kosygin's special IL62D took off from Toronto International Airport at 8:19 a.m. EDT for a flight to Havana that took the Soviet Premier over the United States.

Soviet officials said Kosygin's plane had concluded arrangements to take the shorter route over the United States to the Cuban capital where the premier will visit for three or four days.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's wife, Margaret, seven months pregnant and wearing matched baby-blue coat and nylons, led the group of officials at the airport to bid farewell to Kosygin, his daughter and other aides. Other Canadian officials included Defense Minister Donald MacDonald, Se, Paul Martin and chief of protocol Jean Cote.

Kosygin, looking fit and cheerful despite a security-laden tour of five Canadian cities that saw him cheered and booed, demonstrated against and once assaulted, sttod at attention on a low dais as he took the salute from an 18-man Canadian armed forces honor guard near the huge blue and white Russian jet on the tarmac.

A military band played both Canadian and Soviet national anthems as Kosygin spiritedly shook hands with officials and some of the security guards. On the boarding ramp, Kosygin turned and waved to newsmen.

FDA Will Act On Lead In Paint

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Food and Drug Administration official said Tuesday the agency plans to sharply restrict lead content of many paints to combat lead poisoning which kills an average of 200 American children every year.

The move coincides with a Consumer Report magazine story saying that of nine brands of pencils tested, four were coated with paint containing lead levels far above the 1 per cent voluntary standard adopted by the American Standards Institute and the Pencil Makers Association.

Jerome J. Donovan, deputy director of the division of Hazardous Substances and Poison Control in the FDA's Bureau of Product Safety, said the FDA's proposal would limit lead content to 0.5 per cent, half that allowed under the industry's voluntary standard.

Soviet Missile Expert Is Dead

MOSCOW (UPI)—Mikhail K. Yangel, the Soviet Union's leading rocket specialist, died of a heart attack Monday, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. He was 60.

Like all leading Soviet space scientists Yangel's participation in the space program was a carefully guarded secret until his death.

In his obituary, which was signed by all the top Soviet leaders, he was credited with making a significant contribution to rocketry.

McCarthy Enters?

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota campaign manager for Eugene McCarthy says the former senator is mailing 100,000 letters to supporters saying he is, in effect, a candidate for president in 1972.

Attorney John Connolly of St. Paul said the letters were to be mailed today to those who backed McCarthy's 1968 presidential bid and to more recent supporters.

Connolly said the letters would say that McCarthy "is going to expand his campaign staff, that he will be a candidate for president in nonprimary states and that he's giving serious consideration to going into the primaries."

No Comment

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government withheld comment today on reports Pakistan President Agha Yahya Khan has responded favorably to offers from U.N. Secretary General Thant to intercede in the border dispute between the two countries.

An Indian official said a similar offer made by Thant Oct. 21 to the Indian government was under consideration and that a suitable reply would be sent soon.

The official Radio Pakistan said Monday that Yahya Khan has asked Thant to visit both India and Pakistan in a message sent Thursday in response to Thant's offer the same day to help reduce the tension which has arisen because of a military buildup by both countries along the borders.

LBJ On Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York Times report of March 10, 1968, that American officials were considering sending 206,000 more U.S. troops to Vietnam in response to the Communist Tet offensive came after Lyndon B. Johnson had decided not to grant the request.

The former President gave the account in excerpts from his forthcoming book "Vantage Point Perspectives of the Presidency 1963-1969" printed today in the Washington Post. He said the information leaked to The Times came from "lower levels" in his administration and that the informants did not know he already had turned down a Pentagon request for more than 200,000 additional troops.

Johnson said he told his senior advisers March 8, 1968, that "I am not going to approve 205,000."

Population Issue

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Of a dozen sensitive and controversial subjects raised in 25 days of debate among Roman Catholic churchmen, the one nobody mentioned was birth control.

Then a cardinal broke the silence yesterday and raised the possibility of a new worldwide furor over the subject.

Vatican sources said Cardinal John C. Heenan, the Roman Catholic primate of England, proposed a fresh examination of the population explosion issue.

His proposal was accepted by fellow committee members and will come before the 210-member 3rd International Synod of Bishops within two or three days, the sources said.

Discussion of the issue was certain to remind Roman Catholics of the 1968 encyclincal by Pope Paul VI which forbade any man-made means of birth control.

Visit Arrests

ATHENS (UPI) — While the Greek military regime was giving a triumphal welcome to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew last week, police were arresting 36 persons, including two leaders in the Greek Communist party.

The Ministry of Public Order reported yesterday that security police raided a secret Communist party meeting near Athens Oct. 18 and arrested 32 persons, including the one-time premier of a Communist guerrilla movement, Dimitros Partsalides.

In a separate action, police arrested four members of a student resistance organization who officials said planned to blow up a power substation a few blocks from Agnew's hotel, the ministry said.

Both raids came during Agnew's eight-day visit to the land of his ancestors.

Critic Arrested

MADRID (UPI) — Art comic Jose-Aria Moreno, who told students to "live a free life — like Picasso" minutes before he was to deliver a lecture on the famed artist-expatriot, was arrested by police yesterday at Madrid University.

University spokesmen said Moreno and several others were arrested before the scheduled lecture, approved earlier by the university, to extol Pablo Picasso on the occasion of his 90th birthday.

The government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco ignored the birthday, celebrated around the world yesterday. Picasso left Spain shortly before Franco's Nationalists defeated the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War and has not returned to his native country in the 32 years since.

Speeding Bicycles May Get A Ticket

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)— Bicycles are so numerous in this quiet city of retired persons and university students that Police Chief Geno Pini warned Monday officers may start giving cyclists speeding tickets.

What constitutes speeding on a bicycle? Pini said each case would be decided on the basis of whether the speed was more than "reasonable or prudent" for conditions.

Cong Ambushes A Truck Convoy

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong ambushed an American army dump truck convoy today on a road 50 miles northeast of Saigon in an attack that killed one GI and wounded two others. The Americans called in helicopters and artillery to drive off the guerrillas.

The U.S. command at the same announced that Typhoon Hester destroyed or heavily damaged 58 American helicopters at a loss of at least $10 million when the storm hit the Chu Lai military base, forcing collapse of 12 huge hangars.

About 40 Viet Cong attacked on Highway 20 connecting Saigon with the mountain resort of Da Lat, long considered one of the safest roads in Vietnam. The last ambush of U.S. troops in the area took place on Highway 316 more than 20 months ago. The unprotected trucks were on a routine road work detail.

It was one of two ambushes reported today in the general area of Saigon. In the other, Monday afternoon, a South Vietnamese payroll convoy was attacked 40 miles northwest of the capital near Dau Tieng. Eight South Vietnamese were wounded but the payroll was saved.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Viet Cong units overran an allied outpost in Kiem Phong province 60 miles west of Saigon today. They killed four government militamen and wounded 11 others and other Communist forces renewed the shelling of the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krek, 85 miles northwest of Saigon after a four-day lull.

Allied fighter bombers and helicopters strafed and bombed areas southwest and southeast of Krek inside South Vietnam and blew up large areas of what the pilots described as Communist fortifications.

The typhoon, which the South Vietnamese government said was the worst in 27 years, killed at least 70 persons, including three Americans, at the base which was all but destroyed.

The South Vietnamese worked to provide food, housing and money for relief to the victims of the storm and announced it would put up a reserve fund of $700,000 for emergency aid.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) said it was dedicating $350,000 to typhoon relief in South Vietnam, according to a broadcast from Hanoi Radio.

As the government directed relief efforts to the stricken areas of northern South Vietnam, Viet Cong units carried out their second raid in a week in a Saigon suburb, bombing a police station and wounding five police.

An Exchange Of Gunfire In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops exchanged gunfire today with snipers across the border of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

The troops have been blowing up secondary border roads to stop members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) from slipping into the violence-ridden north. No soldiers were injured in two shooting incidents.

Snipers also fired on British troops in Belfast and Londonderry but no casualties were reported. An army spokesman said British troops had come under sniper fire more than 60 times since Friday, more than in any previous four-day period since the internment measure went into effect on Aug. 9.

The army also reported that as of Monday night the death toll from violence in Northern Ireland this year stood at 100.

Landmark School Bill Sparks House Fight

MOSCOW (UPI)—More than 90 Jews returned to their homes in six Soviet cities today after their protest attempt ended in arrest and six hours in the police drunk tank.

Jewish spokesmen said 92 dissidents from six cities were arrested Monday when they tried to deliver protest letters to the Communist party headquarters in Moscow.

Most of them were taken into custody outside the green and white party headquarters where Communist party chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev has his office. But by sundown, most of the Jewish dissidents were released with no charges filed against them.

The roundup was the largest mass arrest of dissident Jews since they began a militant campaign to obtain permission to emigrate to Israel. Both Jews and foreign observers were puzzled and surprised that the arrests were organized on the same day that Brezhnev, the party's general secretary, flew to Paris for an official visit.

Jews have delivered protest petitions to the party headquarters a dozen times in the past two months without being arrested. The detentions Monday served to attract attention to Jewish unrest in the Soviet Union at a time when Brezhnev is striving for favorable headlines from his French trip.

Spokesmen said the roundup took place at noon when a delegation of five Jews took four protest letters into the party headquarters. About 60 others waited outside, following the practice established in the numerous other visits Jews have made to the headquarters building.

But before the five-man representation returned, the 60 had been surrounded by police and ordered into waiting cars and buses. When the delegation came out, they, too, were put aboard the buses.

92 Protest Jews Jailed In Moscow

SAIGON (UPI)—A massive security plan to protect President Nguyen Van Thieu during inauguration ceremonies Sunday went into effect today with security agents threatening to shoot persons who don't follow instructions.

"If you go out on the roof, or we see you in the window, we will shoot you," one agent told residents and servants in an apartment building overlooking Lam Son Square.

He advised them to stay inside or leave the building entirely during the Sunday inauguration, they said.

On the downtown streets of the capital, army troops and combat and city police set up increased numbers of checkpoints in an apparent move to keep would-be troublemakers from the area.

Security agents were setting up mobile field stations on thhe roofs and in unoccupied apartments to give them a good view of the streets and surrounding area.

The scene was guarded by dozens of police and soldiers.

Antigovernment militants kept up their hit-and-run attacks during the day, but stayed away from the downtown area, where the bulk of the security force was concentrated.

Saigon Under Wraps For Thieu Inaugural

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A landmark higher education bill fell victim today to bitter interparty fighting in the House over a school desegregation bill and the issue of busing students.

The $23 billion, five-year authorization measure to extend and revamp current aid to higher education programs had been scheduled to come to the House floor today. It was put off by the Democratic leadership and there was a chance it may not surface this year.

The historic measure, which would authorize for the first time direct federal aid to private and public colleges, was caught in a squeeze between forces opposed to and those in favor of an administration-sought bill to help schools meet the costs of desegregation.

The higher education bill was scheduled for a vote last week, but was pulled off the House program after lengthy testimony held up Rules Committee clearance. The committee finally agreed on a rule Thursday and the bill was scheduled for action today, but it was yanked krom the program a second time when forces favoring a desegregation bill indicated they might offer their measure as an amendment to the higher education bill.

The integration measure, sought last year by President Nixon, would authorize $1.5 billion over two years to help pay the costs of desegregation ordered by a court or federal agency or that which is achieved voluntarily.

The Senate passed the bill in April and the House Education and Labor Committee, acting on advice from Speaker Carl Albert, said it would not consider the measure any more this year.

A major point of controversy was Nixon's effort to include a provision in the bill to ban use of any of the money for busing students. The amendment is certain to be offered with a recorded vote demanded when and if the bill comes to the House floor.

Some big city northern Democrats, long-time champions of busing, now are under heavy pressure from suburban white constituents faced for the first time with court-ordered busing that could send their children to ghetto schools.

14 Whooping Cranes At Nesting Grounds

Austwell, Tex. (UPI)—So far 14 whooping cranes of the world's only flock have arrived at their winter nesting grounds on the Texas coast, according to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge officials.

"We had 57 last year and we were hoping we'd break the 60 mark this year," refuge spokesman Charles Ward said Monday. "We have seven pairs right now, and they seem to be in real fine shape."

A Fight Builds On Fish

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation to force the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to plug acknowledged holes in food inspection methods comes before a Senate committee Wednesday, with the administration resisting tough Democratic proposals.

At issue is whether fish processing plants should be inspected daily, as are meat and poultry plants, and whether the FDA should be tied to a tighter inspection schedule for other foods considered particularly susceptible to chemical and biological contaminants.

The Senate Commerce Committee takes up the legislation privately Wednesday. Since hearings were held in May, the issue has received fresh impetus from discovery of deadly botulin in canned soup and the revelation that polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB's), an industrial chemical, were found in poultry, eggs and some packaged foods.

Sen. Philip A. Hart D-Mich., is pushing a bill that would require daily inspection of fish plants and would require the FDA to list other foods it had reason to believe might become contaminated. For each such food, the FDA would have to issue inspection and lab testing schedules and adhere to them.

The administration is backing rival legislation that would increase fish inspection but retain the FDA's present discretion on inspection of fish and all other food products.

The primary issue is money. Hart estimated that daily fish plant inspection would cost $45 million a year, compared with $27 million for the administration version. The stepped-up surveillance of other food products, not included in the administration bill, would add $5 million more.

Uprising Convicts Seek To Control Destiny — Kunstler

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney William Kunstler says prison uprisings are part of the struggles of oppressed minorities trying to achieve "a sense of control over their own destiny."

Kunstler, a member of a negotiating team which tried to settle the Attica, N.Y., prison rebellion, said minority races are reaching "for the kind of power I saw in the Attica yard."

Power is "what you can seize and grasp ... how much fear you can create." Kunstler told the national conference of the American Institute of Planners Monday.

Kunstler said the Attica outbreak actually was "born in California" at Folsom Prison last year.

"A Chicano inmate by the name of Martin Sousa created something last year called the Folsom Manifesto," he said. It travelled to San Quentin and then "somehow jumped the continent to Auburn," another prison in Upstate New York.

From there it went to Attica, where it was handed to prison officials on July 16 this year, he said.

The manifesto was merely a "series of demands to make prisons places where men could survive," Kunstler said. It included such things as increased visitation rights, a minimum wage, better food and better writing and reading facilities.

Attica Prison officials told prisoner representatives on Aug. 20 that it would be "virtually impossible" to meet their demands quickly, Kunstler said. The full-scale rebellion broke out Sept. 9.

In another session of the conference of 5,000 city and community planners, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said he fears the development of Alaska will become an historical "eyesore" comparable to the ravages of the wilderness in the opening of the west.

"There must be an end to speculative land development," Douglas said, or the opening of Alaska will be "as exploitive and haphazard as the opening of the west."

No comprehensive land use policy has been designed for the vast 50th state, Douglas said. Statewide land use regulation is necessary, he said, but local zoning variances which currently exist allow industry and developers to "nibble away at the small sanctuaries we have left."

RCA Chief Assures His Customers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The president of RCA's data processing division has told its customers they will not be abandoned when the firm goes out of the general purpose computer business.

"We fully intend to provide the services necessary for our customers to continue efficiently using their RCA computer equipment as long as they consider it economically feasible to do so," said Joseph W. Rooney.

He addressed the opening session Monday of the RCA Computer Users Association meeting, attended by 270 delegates representing firms from throughout the nation.

The meeting continues through Wednesday with RCA's Sept. 17 announcement of its withdrawal from the computer-making business as its chief concern.

After Rooney's speech, the association's board went into executive session. The group had sought stronger commitments from RCA or news of more progress toward acquisition of the division by another reputable company. Rooney denied an Oct. 22 report that Xerox Corp. had bought the business.

Rooney said RCA has not withdrawn from the business of maintaining and supporting the computer equipment used by its customers and will meet its contractual obligations to them.

The division executive told users he would meet with them individually during the next two days to discuss their problems and needs.

Brezhnev Promotes Tourism On Second Day Of Visit To Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev drank whiskey today with the head of the city council, kissed old French Communist buddies and invited a pretty blonde to Moscow in a combination of tourism and political glad-handing.

Brezhnev, on his first visit to France, was in a jovial mood as he drove through the streets of Paris and was watched and cheered by thousands—in major contrast to his lukewarm welcome Monday when there were almost more police than people.

At Paris City Hall he was greeted by the Vincennes Chapter of the Communist Party waving a sign in Russian, "Welcome, Comrade Brezhnev." The Soviet leader and his wife were led into a reception hall hung with 14th Century tapestries and where with broad smiles he met the city council members.

He was at his politician's best at a nearby reception room where he warmly embraced and kissed on both cheeks French Communist Party leaders Jacques Duclos and Georges Marchais. He accepted a glass of Scotch whiskey and soda, served American style with ice.

He raised the glass to the French Communists and said, "I wish to toast your health."

Brezhnev, who reportedly dieted to lose weight for the trip, spurned hors d'oeuvres. The Soviet leader, wearing a well-tailored gray suit and expensive looking black shoes, spoke with animation for 15 minutes with his friends while even his interpreter and his Soviet security guards drank Scotch.

Mrs. Brezhnev, wearing a black suit with a mink collar and unstylish pointed shoes, sat near Mrs. Jean Cherioux, wife of the city council president. Mrs. Cherioux was wearing the latest Paris fashion, a gray blazer suit.

Then Brezhnev warmly greeted the pretty wife of a former city council president whom he had once met in Moscow. He vigorously shook the hand of the sun-tanned attractive blonde and said, "I invite you to Moscow. Come in my plane. There is room."

In the early part of his drives through Paris waving and smiling from an open car there was no sign of the small groups of hit-and-run demonstrators that burned Soviet flags, battled with police and shouted anti-Soviet slogans during Brezhnev's first day in the French capital. A total of 70 persons were arrested.

Montessori Students Will Display Art

Sculpture, paintings and handcrafts by youngsters from Montessori schools in Marin will be on display at the Ross Valley Clinic in Greenbrae from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday.

The art work was created by children two to five years old, according to Bettyjo Norton, art coordinator for the clinic.

Machinist Strike Is Authorized

SUNNYVALE (UPI) —An International Association of Machinists lodge has voted strike authorization if its negotiators can not reach a contract with the Lockheed Aerospace Co. plant in Sunnyvale.

John Foote, IAM grand lodge representative, said Monday the union has been working without a contract since July 23.

There was no report of progress at negotiations.

Tunnel Bomb Scare Halts Streetcars

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Three streetcar lines were halted for a half hour Monday because of a false bomb report.

An anonymous man telephoned police a bomb had been planted in the Twin Peaks Tunnel, but a search failed to find it.

system when the whole project is completed. North Marin receives water from another reservoir — Coyote in Mendocino County — via the same Sonoma aqueduct system. Its involvement in the present project is only for 3,000 acre feet per year of Warm Springs water.

In designing the aqueduct system, Sonoma County increased sizes of the lines by 40 per cent over those needed for its own water on representations from Marin Municipal that it wanted to participate. If the Marin district does not enter the project now, the lines will be redesigned 40 per cent smaller, according to an Oct. 19 letter to William R. Seeger, Marin Municipal general manager, from Gordon W. Miller, chief engineer of the Sonoma County Water Agency. Thus Marin would not be able to draw a large supply from this source without building another aqueduct system at much greater expense. This is the reason for the Marin district's "hurry-up" approach.

Even by entering the project now, the Marin district would not receive any Warm Springs water until the dam is completed — which is expected to be in 1979. Meantime, however, the aqueduct system could be used to carry to central and southern Marin users some water from Coyote Reservoir in Mendocino County, another Sonoma project, which is a major source of water for the North Marin district.

The aqueduct system included in the Measure B proposal taps the Russian River at its big bend several miles east of Guerneville and extends southward to Petaluma.

To get the water from Petaluma to users in Marin, the local district would have to build its own Marin Aqueduct. The cost of this is not included in Measure B.

The Marin Aqueduct would be nearly as long as the Sonoma portion to be built under the Measure B agreement. However, Marin Municipal has estimated its total cost at slightly less than the Marin district's share of the Sonoma Aqueduct — for which Sonoma County is paying more than half.

Total costs to Marin Municipal, including interest, have been estimated by the district's staff at $119 million, or: $32 million for its share in Warm Springs Dam, $45 million for its share in the Sonoma Aqueduct, and $42 million for the Marin Aqueduct — which is not included in Measure B and presumably would be financed from a future bond issue.

If Marin Municipal does not join in the Warm Springs Dam-Sonoma Aqueduct projects, Sonoma's redesign of the aqueduct will increase its cost to that county even while providing smaller capacity.

Queried by Seeger as to the possibility of Marin buying surplus water from the system (which would still require the Marin Aqueduct for transmission in this county), chief engineer Miller of the Sonoma agency said in his Oct. 19 letter that if any surplus were available, "the cost would be at least one and one-third times" that for which Marin Municipal could get the same amount of water if it participated in the project.

(Tomorrow: What are MMWD's water needs, now and in the foreseeable future, and are there other means of meeting them?)

$3,500 Voted For Building

Directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District voted last night to spend $3,500 to purchase materials for construction of a storage shed, board president Cyril G. Hansen reported.

He said the shed will be built by district employees near the district's treatment plant at Fort Baker.

In other business, the board voted to pay up to $1,000 to modify manhole covers on North Bridgeway in Sausalito where the city is planning to install curbs and gutters and build a bicycle path, Hansen said.

The district board adjourned until 8 p.m. Thursday when it will meet with the Sausalito City Council in city hall to discuss a proposal to consolidate smaller sanitary districts in the county.

Largest Gathering For Vets Building

Last night's free concert by the Airmen of Note, the U.S. Air Force band, drew a record audience of 1,850 persons to the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of the building, said today.

Seating capacity of the building is 2,088. The largest previous audience was the 1,657 turnout for the building's opening night celebration on Sept. 25.

monium since Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev pounded a table with his shoe during a boisterous 1960 session.

Tanzanian Ambassador Salim Ahmed Salim, wearing a black tunic buttoned to the throat, leaped to his feet and did a victory dance. Across the hall, U.S. Ambassador George Bush sat glumly, the United States' 21-year-fight to prevent the seating of Red China at an end.

In the end, it was a group of undecided nations which brought the American diplomatic defeat. Fifteen of them abstained on the vote by which the United States sought to have the expulsion of Nationalist China declared an "important question " which would require a two-thirds vote. That vote lost 55 to 59 and the seating of mainland China became a certainty. Among those abstaining were such allies as Italy, the Netherlands, Laos, and Turkey.

James Chen, the Nationalist Chinese ambassador to the United States, said in a speech in New Haven, Conn., Monday night before the vote that his government would survive peacefully without a diplomatic breach with the United States.

Chen said the ability of Red China to "shoot its way into the United Nations" raised the question of whether the world body is fit to survive.

U.N. Secretary General Thant immediately sent a cablegram to Peking informing the Chinese government it officially was a member of the world body. There was no immediate reaction from China, whose population is estimated at 730 million, but speculation in the United Nations was that Huang Hua, a topflight diplomat assigned to Ottawa by the Peking government earlier this year, might come from Canada to take over the China seat.

Bush told a news conference "I hope the U.N. will not relive this moment of infamy. It's not a good thing to kick somebody out. My heavens, anybody with a heart in his chest who saw those decent people thrown out of the U.N. couldn't help but he affected."

He said he did not believe the outcome would affect President Nixon's planned visit to Peking, or that presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's visit to the Chinese capital had any effect in the outcome.

This carries the U.S. pledge that if Taiwan is subject to an unprovoked attack, the United States will assist.

After leading his delegation from the assembly hall, the Nationalist Chinese foreign minister said he did not believe the action would lead Peking to use force against Taiwan.

"We are not fighting our own people," Chow said. "We are fighting a small percentage of fanatics. There is no possibility of reconciliation as long as such an un-Chinese regime is in power.

Sausalito Board To Eye School District's Future

The future of the Sausalito School District will be discussed by the Sausalito School District board at 7:45 p.m. today in the Central School auditorium.

District residents are encouraged to come to the session and express their views. according to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg.

He said that for the past several months the board has been considering a variety of possible future reorganization plans for the school district. The study is necessary, he said, because of the district's declining enrollment, ethnic imbalance and high cost of ecuating students.

Among the possibilities the board is considering are:

Exchanging students with neighboring districts or districts throughout the county; merging of Sausalito with one or more school districts, and contracting the district's operations to another school district.

Lindberg said no decision is expected tonight.

OBITUARIES

John H. Campion Succumbs At 74

John Hamilton Campion, longtime San Rafael pharmacist, died yesterday following a long illness. He was 74.

Campion and his brother-in-law, William F. Ward, operated the Campion-Ward pharmacy at Fourth and B streets from 1930 until 1968, when illness forced Campion to retire.

Campion was born in San Francisco but was a childhood resident of Ross. His parents established a summer home there after the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, and young Campion was graduated from Ross Grammar School in 1914. He later was graduated from the University of California College of Pharmacy after military service during World War I.

Both Campion and Ward began their careers with a San Francisco pharmacy, then opened their own partnership in San Rafael when "there were about 9,000 people in San Rafael and 10 doctors," Campion once recalled. The partners often had to meet the old San Rafael ferryboats to pick up emergency orders of vaccine from a Berkeley laboratory.

Campion was a former director of the Meadow Club, and was active with the San Rafael Rotary Club, Serra International, a number of pharmaceutical associations, United Bay Area Crusade and other civic and philanthropic groups.

Campion is survived by his wife, Marcella, of the home at 21 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, and three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. John C. W. Taylor, Mrs. William F. Ward, Mrs. S. M. O'Connor and Dr. Edward Campion, all of San Rafael, and Dr. George Stuart Campion of San Francisco.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in St. Raphael's Church, followed by burial in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

FLOYD BALDWIN

He was born in Ohio and had been a carnival worker all his life until moving to Novato five years ago. He was retired but did part-time gardening.

He is survived by a son, Floyd J. Baldwin of Novato.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Private inurnment will follow.

ALICE WALKER

Alice C. Walker, 90, former Mill Valley resident, died yesterday at a Petaluma convalescent hospital after a long illness. Mrs. Walker was born in La Cygne, Kan., and formerly lived at 267 Richardson Drive, Mill Valley.

She is survived by a son, George Walker Jr. of Trinidad, Humboldt County; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Klitzing of Salem, Ore., and a granddaughter.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

MRS. JOHNSON

Private funeral for Jessie E. Johnson, 86, of Greenbrae, who died in a local convalescent hospital Sunday after a long illness, will be in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of Harris A. Johnson of Greenbrae, was born in Wisconsin but lived most of her life in Seattle. She came to Marin about six years ago and lived in San Rafael before making her home with her son and daughter-in-law at their home at 70 Corte de Sabla.

Her husband, Harry H. Johnson, who was in the produce business in Seattle, died about 10 years ago.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Johnson is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Beryl Keller of Issaquah, Wash., and three grandchildren.

MRS RICHARDSON

Funeral for Marie A. Richardson, 84, of Petaluma, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

Mrs. Richardson died Sunday at a Healdsburg hospital after a short illness. She had gone to Healdsburg 10 days ago to visit her daughter, Odile Rasmussen.

Mrs. Richardson was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1909, settling in Boston, Mass. She had lived in Alaska before moving to Petaluma in 1919. Mrs. Richardson was a member of the Golden Age Club of Petaluma.

She is also survived by two sons, Jimmy Richardson of San Francisco and Lee Richardson of Ukiah; a brother, Lee Meyer of San Francisco; seven grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

LINDA ALFONSO

Funeral for Linda Sue Alfonso of Oakland, former Novato resident, will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Mrs. Alfonso, 22, was killed Saturday night in an automobile accident in Oakland.

She was born in Long Beach, but had lived most of her life in Novato. She graduated from Novato High School and moved to Oakland three years ago when she was married. She was a teller in the Golden West Savings and Loan Association in Oakland.

She is survived by her husband, Fredan K. (Al) Alfonso; her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rangell of Novato, and two sisters, Kathy Smith of San Francisco and Sandy Kource, in Europe, with her husband in the armed forces.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

JOHN WALSH

John Francis Walsh, 67, of San Francisco, father of John F. Walsh Jr. of Novato, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

He was born and lived all his life in San Francisco.

Walsh was a retired machinist and owned the City Fork-Lift Co. of San Francisco. He was a member of Machinist Union Local 1305.

He is also survived by his wife, Imelda Crowley Walsh; three grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin.

Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

WILLIAM ACHESON

Funeral for retired Maj. William Acheson, of 1385 Joyce Street, Novato, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel No. 1 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Major Acheson died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Indiana. He served in the Air Force during World War II and the Korean War. He retired in 1961 and since then has worked as an administrative officer at headquarters of Point Reyes National Seashore.

He was a member of Grand Canyon Post of the American Legion and the Wichita Falls, Tex., Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Rosalyn and a son, James Edward Acheson both of Novato; another son, William Scott Acheson and a daughter, Jane Susan Lacy, both of Flagstaff, Ariz., and one grandchild.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Friends may call until 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

P. A. GASSMAN

A Mass of Resurrection for Phillip A. Gassman, Sausalito longshoreman, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Sausalito.

Gassman, 58, died Friday at his home at 7 Tomales Street after a long illness.

A military burial for Gassman, a veteran of World War II, will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today in the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

ALLEN BASCH

Requiem Mass for Allen Carl Basch, 21, of Cotati, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's Church, Cotati. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

Basch died yesterday after his car failed to make a turn at the intersection of Stony Point and Rainesville roads, Petaluma, and landed in a ditch in a field.

He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and had lived in Cotati for 11 years. Basch was a student at Santa Rosa Junior College. He had served in the Navy aboard the carrier Coral Sea in Vietnam and was a member of the Naval Reserve.

Basch was a graduate of Petaluma Senior High School. He was a member of Teamsters Union, Local No. 980.

He is survived by his parents, Carl and Antoinette Basch; a sister, Karen Ann Basch; a brother, Raymond Basch, all of Cotati; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Michael Zmuzsky of New Jersey.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

PETER SCHAFER

Peter M. Schafer of Mill Valley died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 24.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County 23 years, residing at 265 Rose Avenue. Prior to his illness, he was a student at Sonoma State College. His father, Philip Schafer, is San Francisco regional commissioner for social and rehabilitation services for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In addition to his parents, who live in Mill Valley, Schafer is also survived by his wife, Ann, of Mill Valley; two sisters, Priske Schafer of Mill Valley and Paula Bell of Oakland; two brothers, Patrick Schafer of Mill Valley and Philip Schafer of Crescent City, Del Norte County, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Bogan of Mill Valley.

A Mass of Resurrection will be offered at 9:15 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley. Burial will be private.

The family prefers spiritual bouquets or donations to the Marin County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Boy, 7, Breaks Leg In Crash Of Auto, Bike

A Tiburon youngster was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, after suffering a broken leg and possible concussion in a bicycle-auto collision.

Kenneth Thompson, 7, of 102 Jefferson Drive, Tiburon, was injured at 11 a.m. Sunday, when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Shirley Luthman of 60 Lyford Drive, Tiburon, in front of 442 Greenwood Beach Road. The driver told sheriff's deputies she saw the boy ride out of a driveway and into her path too late to avoid collision. He was thrown over the car's hood onto the pavement.

Tiburon firemen gave first aid before the boy was taken to the hospital.

A Special Hearing On Aqueduct

The state Environmental Quality Study Council will hold a special hearing tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Marin Civic Center to examine the environmental impact of the controversial Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct.

The hearing, to be conducted by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will run until 4 p.m. in the supervisors' meeting room.

Orange County Supervisor David L. Baker, council chairman, said the hearing will give citizens and officials a chance to testify on the need for the project and its impact on the environment.

The hearing comes only six days before the Nov. 2 election in which Marin Municipal Water District voters will consider a measure financing the project.

I-J In Error On Candidate

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Robert R. Forbush Sr., a candidate for the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, did not submit biographical information about himself to the newspaper.

Forbush, 44, is owner of the ABC Nursery School and the A-1 Sparkling Service, a building maintenance firm. He and his wife and two children live at 21 Portola Avenue, Santa Venetia.

In connection with the election, he said, "I think local boards are more responsive to the people and I do not want consolidation of sanitary districts.

Reshuffling To Be Studied

The Marin Council of Mayor and Councilmen will discuss state reapportionment tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. during its monthly meeting to be held this month at Tiburon Tommy's Restaurant in Tiburon.

The matter has been placed on the council's agenda at the urging of several city councils which think the county should remain in one senatorial district as opposed to being divided.

The dinner meeting, to be preceeded by a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m., will also include a talk by Pierre Joske, county director of parks and recreation, on the county-wide bicycle path plan.

A DOUBLE TAKE

Motorists traveling along Highway 121 between Napa and Lake Berryessa often do a double take when they come across this strange rock formation. The man's face was put there by nature, but the pipe was added a number of years ago by a man. (UPI Telephoto)

The Problem Facing Island China People

TAIPEI (UPI)—The expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations shocked this island nation into official silence today. But from the people came the realization that they must do whatever possible to survive.

There were no crowds and no extra security measures in evidence. The security guards around the U.S. Embassy and other U.S. military and diplomatic missions were of normal strength.

This superficial calm was not shared by the people.

Television stations, newspapers and news agencies were flooded with telephone calls asking for the latest development. Almost all calls ended their queries with the questions "What's going to happen to us now? What can we do?"

A newspaper executive who asked not to be quoted by name said, "It's time now for us to forget about justice and righteousness all officials have talked so much about. It is time for us to be practical and realistic so we can survive."

The people were surprised because they had believed optimistic reports of the chances of retaining the U.N. seat.

The people were worried, not about an imminent invasion by the Chinese Coomunists, but about the possible economic strangling of the island under new Chinese Communist pressure. With a standing army of a half million well-equipped men, the people of Taiwan do not think the Chinese Communists can cross the 100-mile Formosa strait to attack the islands.

The government may not want to discuss the situation in public, but it is believed here the government will be forced to adopt a much more flexible policy both internally and externally from now on.

Political observers believe the government will have no choice now but to try to maintain diplomatic relations with those nations who may recognize Peking soon.

Such nations include the United States and Japan, which are responsible for more than 80 per cent of the island's foreign trade and which have both expressed their desire to "normalize their relations with Peking."

Within the country, the government is expected to stop discouraging the news media from free and candid discussions of world problems and particularly the problems of Taiwan.

One Taiwanese political leader said, "The government has to be much more liberalized now so we can all survive."

Tapes Taken

Admittance Of Red China Brings A Reality To U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The admittance of Communist China obviously injects greater reality into the composition of the United Nations by bringing in a growing nuclear power with the largest population on earth —730 million persons.

American officials, while supporting Peking's seat on the Security Council, regretted that it had to be accomplished by expelling Nationalist China, representing 14 million people, which had been a charter member and had faithfully discharged its obligations.

However, administration officials privately have said that Nationalist China's membership, while important, was less vital to Taiwan than its security treaty with the United States, which was signed March 3, 1955. Under this pact, the United States promises that if the Nationalist Chinese on Taiwan are subject to an unprovoked attack, the United States will assist them.

President Nixon has said that no matter what happens at the United Nations, both Chinas will have to settle their dispute by negotiation and political means unless Peking wants to risk military confrontation with the United States. Nobody believes this is in the cards.

The Nixon administration, realizing that the tide was running against it in its efforts to keep out Peking, made a virtue out of necessity and this year proposed that Peking be admitted and given the Taiwan's Security Council seat.

However, charges from some pro-Nationalist quarters that the United States simply was going through the motions of trying to retain the Nationalist seat, and not making a real effort, are refuted by the record of conferences Secretary of State William P. Rogers held at the United Nations in what appeared to be a "real arm twisting" effort to retain a seat for Taiwan despite the admission of Peking.

Assertions that the Nixon administration may not have made an all-out effort because of President Nixon's impending visit to China, where he and top Peking leaders will discuss the possibility of easing tensions, also appeared unfounded.

White House sources disclosed some time ago that presidential assistant Henry A. Kissinger, during his July visit to Peking, and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai agreed that the Sino-American summit conference was not dependent upon any alteration of policy on part of either nation.

But it was pointed out that if the United States had been able to keep the Nationalists in the United Nations, Nixon might have been in a stronger negotiating position when he meets with Peking leaders.

Senators To Push U.N. Fund Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Members of Congress dissatisfied with the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations today started mapping an attempt to cut American financial support for the organization.

Both Sens. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., and James Buckley, RC-N.Y., said they would attempt to push through legislation reducing U.S. aid to the United Nations.

Buckley said he had instructed his staff to draft such legislation. Dominick said he might attempt to obtain the cut "in the coming debate on foreign aid."

"With the 67 members of the Senate who supported the Republic of China in a recent letter to the President, I would believe a motion to restrict our financial support would receive very good support in the Senate," Dominick said.

The Colorado senator said he expected some members of Congress would attempt to take the United States out of the United Nations. He said he believed this would "be a mistake" but he added, "I certainly see no reason why we should support it to the degree we have to date."

Buckley said the Monday night U.N. action "may well be recorded as the beginning of the end" of the United Nations. He said the United Nations no longer can be regarded as a "vehicle for collective security in matters of critical importance."

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he would oppose any effort to cut off funds for the world body. He said he opposed the expulsion of Taiwan, but "I don't think we have any business pouting about it."

Indecent Exposure

A 16-year-old Novato girl was the victim of indecent exposure about 6 p.m. yesterday on the Novato High School campus, police reported. The man was described as in his early 20s with dark hair and a bushy mustach.

Peking Celebrates Korean War Entry As U.N. Votes Them In

HONG KONG (UPI)—While the United Nations was voting to accept Communist China as a member, Chinese in Peking were celebrating the 21st anniversary of China's entry into the Korean War against forces of the United Nations Command (UNC).

The vote in the U.N. General Assembly which ousted Nationalist China and admitted the People's Republic of China came 21 years to the day that a multimillion-man force of Chinese "volunteers" crossed the Yalu River into North Korea and fought the UNC to a standstill.

Su Yu, a vice minister of national defense and a former chief of the Chinese general staff, spoke at a reception given by the North Koreans. He made no specific mention of the United Nations. But he denounced the United States, saying the U.S. "madly launched the war of aggression against Korea."

The People's Republic of China actually has had plenty of unkind remarks about the United Nations during the 22 years she has been trying to enter the world body.

When she went to war with the U.N. force in Korea, she denounced it as a tool of the United States, called for its reorganization and supported a move for establishment of a rival United Nations.

When troops of the U.N. Command broke the back of the North Korean forces that had invaded South Korea in 1950 and crossed the 38th parallel in pursuit of the battered North Korean army, China sent more than a million men across the Yalu to engage the U.N. forces. That war ended on July 27, 1953, with what has now become the longest armistice in history.

In January, 1965, when the late President Sukarno pulled Indonesia out of the United Nations, there was strong support from Peking for Sukarno's "bold, revolutionary action."

Island China's Goodbye Is Marked By An Ovation

"On behalf of the government of the Republic of China, I wish to make the following solemn declaration," Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai told the General Assembly.

"The Republic of China —a participant in the Dumbarton Oaks talks, one of the four sponsoring powers at the San Francisco conference, a charter member of the United Nations, a permanent member of the Security Council —has now decided to withdraw from the organization which it helped establish."

Chow concluded:

"To overthrow the rebel Communist regime and restore freedom to the Chinese people is the common objective of all Chinese everywhere.

"The Republic of China is fighting for law and justice. It has done so many times before, often without allies and without outside aid. It is our firm conviction that right will eventually triumph over might and justice will sooner or later prevail over injustice." At 11:09 p.m. Chow turned, left the green marble podium and walked down the aisle and out of the assembly chamber, followed in single file by the four other Nationalist delegates.

Two Chinatowns View Two Chinas

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The news that the United Nations voted to admit Mainland China and expelling Taiwan was met with general disappointment but little shock Monday in the United States' two best known Chinatowns — New York and San Francisco.

"The United States government should stop supporting the U.N.," said Leong Ching, owner of the Chinatown Seaford Restaurant in New York. "To think that country (Taiwan) has been our ally all these years. Every Chinese American should get out and voice their opinion. This thing stinks."

Arthur Lee, 48, a curio shop manager in San Francisco, said he was upset over the expulsion of Formosa because "after all, Nationalist China was one of the charter members" of the United Nations.

"I think it's stupid to take them out," he said. "Every nation—that is every legal nation—should have a seat."

Many of the residents questioned in New York's and San Francisco's Chinatowns expressed no opinion or were unwilling to answer.

"Some still have families on the mainland," one New York resident said. "Besides, there are factions on both sides here. Most people say they don't know or have no opinion because they don't want to be involved."

Although most who talked about the vote were disappointed about the ousting of Nationalist China, there were some who favored the move.

"They're doing the right thing," Paul Lum, 45, owner of the Rickshaw Gift Shop in San Francisco, said, pointing out there are 730 million people on the mainland.

"When you want to talk peace, you talk to the right guy," he said.

Mrs. L. Wong, 36, a San Francisco housewife, however, was bitter.

"I feel awful," she said. Mrs. Wong said she visited Taiwan a month ago and "people are really friendly there. It's a crime for them not to have a seat."

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Free Estimates
Local applications of this remarkable coating are made by the Golden Gate Bldr's Inc. licensed and approved applicators. Cost is surprisingly low — convenient terms can be arranged. Home owners can obtain free estimates without obligations, by calling 776-4453 or mail coupon herewith:

Court Says It Didn't Mean What It Said

On Aug. 30, the justices overturned a lower court ruling that California's system of financing public education, dependent largely on property taxes, is constitutional.

"Such a system," said the California Supreme Court in a 6-1 decision (Justice Marshall F. McComb dissenting) "cannot withstand constitutional challenge and must fall before the equal protection clause."

In other words, the system is unconstitutional.

THE RULING in the case, known as Serrano vs. Priest (for Ivy Baker Priest, state treasurer, whose name headed a list of defendants), put school people throughout the state into a tizzy. And quite a few taxpayers decided to pay under protest, on the basis that they were being taxed unconstitutionally to support the schools.

On the other hand, the decision was applauded by some Democratic leaders in the legislature and by State Supt. Wilson C. Riles — because they saw it was a strong force to win passage of legislation guaranteeing greater state support to the schools. (This appears to be a classic example of the doctrine that "the end justifies the means" — the means in this case being to declare an existing law unconstitutional so you can get another one passed.)

Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger was caught off base by the court ruling. In opposing the Office of Economic Opportunity lawyers who filed Serrano vs. Priest as a class action, he had relied on the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in McInnis vs. Shapiro.

That was an Illinois case filed almost exactly the same time as Serrano vs. Priest — and likewise by OEO lawyers. In fact, the complaints differed only in detail. And the systems of school support are very much alike in Illinois and California, both based on the property tax.

THE U.S. SUPREME COURT on March 24, 1969, upheld a lower federal court decision in McInnis vs. Shapiro that "there is no constitutional requirement that public school expenditures be made only on basis of pupils' educational needs without regard to financial strength of local school districts, nor does Constitution establish rigid guideline of equal dollar expenditures for each student."

The U.S. Supreme Court also, in 1970, refused to hear an appeal from a Virginia state court's rejection of a claim that the school support system in that state — also based on property taxes — was unconstitutional.

But the California Supreme Court heeded not.

NOW, IN RESPONSE to an application from Younger for "clarification" of its Serrano vs. Priest ruling, the California Supreme Court last week added a paragraph saying that it didn't really mean the system was unconstitutional after all — it just wanted the case re-tried in lower court. It would be unconstitutional, said the California justices this time, if what the complainants said was true.

Fong Bill Orchestration Has Music Upside Down

SACRAMENTO — Hell hath no music like the sound of a woman legislator who has just been vetoed. And, oh, the sound of March Fong, she who is an assemblywoman from Alameda County!

One of Mrs. Fong's bills recently was vetoed by Governor Reagan. She claims the bill (AB 950) would have provided for public school instruction about venereal disease. She has been stumping the state demanding the governor's veto be overriden.

Her song is a bit self-deluding. Like the refrain from some pop-rock ballad. But it has been picked up by a lot of the media, and the trouble is, fellas, you have the music upside down.

THERE IS NOTHING in Mrs. Fong's bill which would provide for or establish educational courses about VD. As a matter of fact, such courses are permissible under existing state law.

The thrust of Mrs. Fong's bill? It would abolish the parent's right to approve or refuse a child's attendance at such classes. It would repeal the parent's right to review beforehand the written material and visual aids to be used in the course. That's it, period.

Existing state law provides that a child shall be excused from a sex education or personal hygiene class upon the parent's request. Existing law also provides that parents may check the materials to be used in the class.

The governor, and the opponents of the Fong bill, believe the parental approval and review should be maintained. Mrs. Fong and her supporters would abolish it.

UNDER THE FONG bill, school authorities could compel each and every child to take a course in VD, regardless of parental desire, without prior advice, and without permitting parents to review the materials.

So, it's that same siren song from those who think they hold the keys to some magical kingdom — those who view almost any crisis as a chance to whittle away at individual rights and responsibility.

"Give us your child and don't bother us. We know what's best."

Well, baby, some parents might just know a little more about their kids, their frame of mind, and their fears and phobias than you do. Maybe — just maybe, now — parents know what's best for their own children.

AN ALL-OUT EFFORT should be made to educate school children on the dangers, the effects and misery of VD. Instead of kicking and screaming about the governor's unwillingness to let them ride roughshod over parental approval, the school and public health authorities should get with it.

Megalomania and timidity — they're part of the same bureaucratic set. Knock it off and get going. Work with and through the parents rather than around them.

There has been a rising VD epidemic in the state. It can be halted without putting the state and the school between the parents and the child.

The governor's veto should be upheld, and will be.

Support Master Plan For Lucas Valley

Our home is on Lucas Valley Road, and we feel that Lucas Valley would be irrevocably destroyed as a place to live — as well as a place to visit and enjoy — if the Renaissance Fair and Carnival activity were to take place at the location suggested.

We understand that there is a master plan for the future development of Lucas Valley, and that it does not include provision for the kind of high traffic commercial venture that the Fair represents.

We urge that the master plan be supported.

Information Needed On Bridge Bus Plans

I have been a commuter from San Anselmo to San Francisco and now to Mill Valley for 26 years and have worked with various groups such as the Ross Valley Commuters Club and the Mill Valley Commuters Club in differences over Greyhound transportation services.

I, and I feel that all commuters, are deeply concerned about what is going to happen Dec. 1, when the bridge district busses go into operation. The senior citizens who operate the San Anselmo depot have no information and I find no one nor any publication that gives any information on service, routes, etc.

In behalf of myself and the commuters of Marin County, I ask that you investigate the coming situation and report in clear, concise layout just what we expect — in fact a full story on what we can expect beginning Dec. 1. Surely the bridge district should know by this time its method of operation. . .

Taxpayers Should Not Underwrite Revolution

I would like to comment on your editorial regarding the book. . . purchased by Virginia Franklin at taxpayers' expense for her government classes (35 copies and 25 on order). The book contains much material deliberately intended to teach revolution, violence and disobedience of the law. The taxpayer should not have to pay for instruction in methods of tearing down the structure of the state, for the very support of which his taxes have been paid. This is the same as if one were to pay a group of people to throw rocks at his house and break all the windows.

Underneath Angela Davis' cell window, the school board and the administration is asking the already overburdened taxpayer to support teachings such as this book proposes!

The citizens and taxpayers have the full right to control the program of instruction. They should not have to submit to the dictation of the superintendent or teachers. The school board should exercise its right and aqhority to represent the citizen and taxpayer. Those who pay the bills certainly have a final recourse.

Beer, Wine Sales In Center Sensible

Even though civil servants are more prone to be 9 to 5'ers than those in private enterprise, they, like the private enterprisers, still like their beer or wine or whatever.

The flap on a beer and wine license at the Hall of Justice is absolutely ridiculous and borders on hyprocisy at best. The L.O.L.'s who doth protest can eat somewhere else. The A.B.C. who sets the rules "rejected the request for a license (for a cafeteria operator who must compete with restaurants in an outlying area) on grounds that liquor should not be sold in a public building, close to courts, the county jail and the county library." Well, we know the prisoners aren't going to take advantage of the service, so I guess the A.B.C. and Mr. Baar's chief worry is that we'll have a tipsy public servants, tipsy jailors and tipsy librarians. How archaic can you get?

Civil center caterers have my vote — God knows they need some help with the deal they made in Marin County!

Tremendous Impact From Planned 'Faire'

Whether the Rennaissance Faire is good or bad, it is very obvious the "Faire" will have tremendous impact on the traffic and noise levels on Lucas Valley Road, portions of Marinwood and portions of San Rafael, and upon the air pollution levels of all three areas. To import 6,000 cars a day for a minimum of six weekends a year (the Pattersons are unwilling to guarantee it will not go longer than six week ends a year) up a normal two-lane road that becomes a very narrow two-lane road with many curves and no shoulders is to invite chaos.

The proposed intrusion of this vast commercial enterprise in our valley I vigorously oppose. To allow re-zoning of this 1,000-acre ranch for commercial use would be a disservice to the residents, homeowners, and taxpayers who presently live in the valley. Both the Marin County Master Plan and the San Rafael General Plan show this area as low-density residential and urban-green belt. A careful study of these plans and a drive to the site should convince anyone of the obvious error in trying to locate this commercial enterprise on the Grady Ranch.

Credibility Issue For Water District

Many questions have been raised concerning the credibility of the Marin Municipal Water District representatives regarding Measure B (Russian River Project) on the Nov. 2 ballot. I suggest history can tell us much on this subject:

(1) On Aug. 12, 1970, the MMWD enacted an ordinance raising water rates 25 per cent effective Sept. 1, 1970.

(2) No bills at the higher rate were received by MMWD customers until after the Nov. 3, 1970 Proposition H water bond election.

(3) During the week of Oct. 12-16, 1970, the MMWD, at customers' expense, mailed a bond election brochure to all its customers in which it stated:

"A study by Stone and Youngberg Financial Consultants indicates that all costs in connection with Proposition H can be met through presently authorized rates" (meaning the increased rates customers were unaware of).

(4) William R. Seegar, MMWD general manager, later claimed that the brochure "did not actually promote passage of the bond issue, but served to advise the public about the district and its future plans." . . .

U.S. May Win Costly Victory By Keeping Taiwan In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS — The winds of change shaking the foundations of all institutions blow hard on the fragile structure of this one-and-only world organization. Yet in the great glass house on the East River there is a curious insulation as though the rough realities could be denied by United Nations fiat.

In the decision to be taken on China, the threat to the U.N. is not to be discounted. Although delegates and others here are little aware of it, the warning from Congress that the United States will cut off or greatly curtail its support if Taiwan is expelled is a harsh reality. It can happen, and with the U.N. on the verge of bankruptcy the blow would be crippling, if not indeed fatal.

THE TENDENCY HERE is to dismiss the warning as merely a tactical maneuver to swing votes into line for the American proposal to retain aseat in the general assembly for Chiang Kai-shek's China. Resentful delegates speak of it as blackmail to which they will not surrender. And George Bush, the head of the U.S. delegation, speaks confidently of President Nixon's ability to override the opposition in Congress if Taiwan is expelled.

Taiwan is expelled.

But the fire-breathing opponents, notably Rep. John J. Rooney of Brooklyn, reflected a deep undercurrent of what for lack of a better term might be called isolationism. As chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations for the State Department, he has repeatedly demonstrated his power to deny funds for operations the department considered essential.

"If the Republic of China is expelled there will be no money forthcoming from the United States Congress to pick up the biggest tab at the U.N.," he said the other day.

With absolute control over his subcommittee, this is no idle threat. And a petition signed by 336 members of the House and sent to the President expresses the same view in nearly as implacable a form.

Another 121 House members released a letter to Bush, declaring their continued support for the U.N. and maintaining the committment to pay the required dues regardless of the outcome of the China debate. Is this an accurate reflection of the status of the U.N. in the House, 121 to 336? If it is, then Rooney could have his way not only in his committee but in the House as well.

IN THE LIGHT of the President's dramatically proclaimed mission to Peking, the U.S. position on China is curiously ambivalent. We want better relations with China, with the Peking visit as exhibit No. 1. Yet if the effort to retain a seat for the Taiwan succeeds, Peking will refuse the invitation to the general assembly and to the seat on the security council now held by Taiwan.

One of those long doubtful of the wisdom of this ambivalent approach is Charles W. Yost, head of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. from January, 1969, to February, 1971. He was rudely pushed out because he questioned the Nixon policy. Writing in the magazine Vista predicting the rage from Peking if the American proposal wins, Yost suggests that the Nixon China visit will be seriously endangered:

"In announcing the meeting far in advance, both parties have given hostages to fortune in that each has to some extent constrained himself not to take such action that might cause the meeting to be called off or, if held, would prove a fiasco. In this respect President Nixon would seem to have more of a problem than the Chinese prime minister, for he would suffer more politically at home and abroad than would Chou En-lai if his dramatic initiative should fizzle out."

AND NIGHT AND DAY the pressure is applied to get a majority for the U.S. resolution to make Taiwan's status an important question requiring a two-thirds vote for adoption.

It has its comic aspect. A U.N. member, the Maldives, a collection of islands in the Indian Ocean, has never had a representative here since achieving membership. A current rumor is that the United States is sending a jet plane to the islands to fly a delegate to New York to vote for the American resolution. Increasingly, it appears that by a few votes the United States will score a victory. It will be a costly victory.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Sadat's Middle East Deadline Produces Little Israeli Alarm

By K. C. THALER

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's end-of-year deadline for a settlement of the Middle East conflict has caused uneasiness but no visible alarm in Israel.

Diplomats, gauging the course of Cairo's ultimate decision, see three possible lines Egypt could take once the deadline expires:

—All-out war against Israel, aimed at crossing in force of the Suez Canal and a crucial showdown.

—Despite threats to the contrary, a continuation of the cease-fire, after persuasion from the United Nations, the western powers and guarded advice from Russia.

THE MOST LIKELY course presently expected to be taken by Egypt is a combination of limited shooting and a continued search for an interim agreement on the reopening of the Suez Canal.

Total war, in the opinion of most diplomatic and expert assessments, is held unlikely, at least at present.

To stand a reasonable chance of success, total war would require full Russian backing, both political and military. Neither seems likely at this stage.

The Russians have repeatedly stated they want a negotiated settlement. Communist diplomats in Europe have said in private talks that Moscow is not willing to get involved directly in a major shooting war in the Middle East, with the risk of a confrontation with the United States.

The Egyptians are said to have the necessary equipment massed at the canal, to have made extensive preparations for ferrying troops and tanks across, and to have some 50,000 troops in the front line. But any such major move would require full control of the air, which the Egyptians do not have.

To get it, they would have to knock out the Israeli Air Force — no mean feat in the fact of the Israeli Air Force's past achievements and untarnished reputation.

The alternative would be a major attack or a series of attacks on Israeli positions, or some form of a new war of attrition.

The Israelis worry about such a possibility, chiefly because they are uneasy about possible casualties among their comparatively small population.

But they seem confident that their defenses have been sufficiently reinforced along the canal line to withstand such action better than in the past.

Petalumans Glad To Receive Park Money But Want More

The prospect of a new 18-acre county park for Petaluma was greeted warmly by residents, but many have the "it's about time" attitude.

For years residents have been urging the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to shake loose some money for recreation in the southern part of the county. Many have been openly angry when park funds go to the more populous Santa Rosa area and for development of coastal parks.

The 1971-72 county budget allots $25,000 to start development of the 18-acre parcel on the Petaluma River adjacent to the city boat launching ramp. Many residents feel this land has been aching for park development for a long time.

INSTEAD OF DOING cartwheels at the $25,000 allotment, many have responded that it isn't nearly enough. Petaluma City Councilman William A. Perry Jr., the city liaison for development of the park, promises the city has a "pipeline" to the supervisors and believes that in future years as much as $100,000 will be invested by the county in the park.

Although the official action for the funds came during the term of incumbent Supervisor Philip Joerger of Petaluma, he's quick to point out that most of the credit should go to George De Long, who left office last January. Most residents don't care who's responsible for the money — they're just glad to get it.

CITY AND FEDERAL money combined to build the boat launching ramp. It serves its purpose well, but is not landscaped except for two pryacantha plants at the restrooms. It is hoped the county funds can be used to prepare an attractive and functional plan for the park. It could be a place of beauty.

Landscaping to blend and add to the natural terrain and river bank would make the park extremely popular. Instead of residents hurriedly launching their boats to leave the desolate area, families would be able to spend a whole day there boating, picnicking and using the play equipment.

Hundreds of new homes are under construction near the park. Road construction is also under way and we may hope it will be engineered to allow children to walk safely to play at the park.

NOW THAT THE BAY AREA Air Pollution Control District is enforcing pollution laws in Southern Sonoma, the foul odors and smoke from river industries should be contained by the time the park is opened.

The advent of stronger pollution controls came largely unnoticed to the average resident. But now that fall is here, something is missing. Without the pungent smell of burning leaves, fall seems a little less colorful.

ART BUCHWALD

Why Nixon Couldn't Find Woman For Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — It came as no surprise to most men here that President Nixon could not find a qualified woman to nominate to the Supreme Court.

"Heaven knows we tried,' an administration spokesman said, "and the pressure on the President was enormous. First Mrs. Nixon talked to him about it, then Martha Mitchell, and finally Bella Abzug. But it just wasn't in the cards."

"Why?" I asked.

"Well, we investigated it and discovered women just weren't cut out to be Supreme Court justices. For one thing it takes a lot of physical endurance to sit on the court, hearing cases all day long, and our medical people told us women couldn't take the pressure. They have a tendency to fidget when they have to stay in one place too long."

"I hadn't thought of that but it's true," I admitted.

"ALSO WE DECIDED the Supreme Court is a man's world. When the Supreme Court justices get together in private session to discuss cases, they like to tell locker-room jokes and cuss a lot. A woman wouldn't be comfortable in such an atmosphere and it would inhibit the male justices in their work."

"It figures," I agreed.

"Another major consideration was the question of protocol. We had to think what effect a woman justice would have on dinner parties in Washington for the next 15 or 20 years. A Supreme Court justice outranks most people in the government, including cabinet officers, and it just wouldn't look right for a woman justice to be seated on the right of her hostess. Putting two women next to each other at a Washington dinner party is unthinkable and could cause grave consequences in the social world for years to come. I think Mr. Nixon said it best: 'Presidents may come and go but dinner parties in Washington go on forever.'"

"WHAT OTHER objections did you find?" I wanted to know.

"As you know, the President said in his television speech the one criterion he used in his selection was that a member of the Supreme Court should be the very best lawyer in the nation. He said, 'In the legal profession, the Supreme Court is the fastest track in the nation, and it is essential that the justices on that court be able to keep up with the very able lawyers who will appear before the court arguing the cases.'

"Now the President wasn't just using a sports metaphor. What we did was lay out a one-mile track around the Supreme Court and we clocked several women nominees in races against male lawyers. We discovered that those women who agreed with the President's philosophy couldn't keep up the pace, and those who were fast enough to get around didn't have enough blue-blooded strict-constructionist breeding."

"No one can say the President didn't give women a fair test," I said.

"ANOTHER FACTOR that militated against a woman being appointed to the court was the fear that there would be mass resignations among the Supreme Court guards, who had been used to dealing with men justices all their lives.

"You can find any number of qualified Supreme Court justices, but it takes years to train a good Supreme Court guard.

"But there were other things we had to worry about as well. What kind of precedent would we be setting by appointing a woman to the Supreme Court? Suppose the next thing women would ask for was a seat on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or an opportunity to conduct Sunday church services at the White House? Where would it stop?"

"God only knows," I said. "Why didn't the President make this perfectly clear?"

"As soon as he explains it to Mrs. Nixon, Martha Mitchell and Bella Abzug, he probably will."

Zoning, Housing Unit, Planners To Meet

The meeting, set for 8 p.m. at the Robson House, also will set a public hearing date for the report.

Can, Gasoline Found At Site Of Theater Fire

A half full five-gallon gasoline can has been found at the site of a fire, believed set by an arsonist, at Forest Meadows theater in San Rafael Saturday.

The theater, adjoining the Dominican College campus on Grand Avenue, did about $200 damage to the state area and wood props. San Rafael Fire Department reported.

The theater was the scene of a series of deliberately set fires last year, including one which destroyed $4,500 worth of costumes being used by the Marin Shakespeare festival.

San Rafael Police said the arsonist responsible for Saturday's fire, discovered about 10:30 p.m., poured gasoline on the stage and props before lighting them.

Another West Coast Dock Strike For Yule?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chances are, come Christmas week, dock workers will go on strike again on the West Coast. Such is the record of the Taft-Hartley Law when used by the government to try to settle dock strikes.

When President Nixon recently invoked the law to force West Coast longshoremen back to work after some 100 days, it marked the ninth time it had been used in a dock strike—more than in any other industry.

It has done little good.

The argument can be made —and has been made —that using the law harms more than helps in trying to end longshore contract disputes. The key provision is an 80-day cooling off period, which in the current case would end just before Christmas.

The board of inquiry that Nixon himself named to look into the West Coast dispute — preliminary to going to court to get an injunction to stop the strike —mentioned reservations about use of the law.

The board observed, "Fear has been expressed ... that heightened government actions at this point will inhibit the parties in resolving their differences."

Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, representing the West Coast dockers, boycotted the presidential board, contending that no national emergency existed because the strikers had continued to load and unload military cargoes.

In the eight other instances where the Taft-Hartley has been used in a dock strike, in only one case was the dispute settled during the cooling off period —and that just before the 80-day injunction expired.

In all the others, the strikes resumed. In fact, most of the time, the hard bargaining did not come until after the injunction expired.

The opposing parties know that once used, the Taft-Hartley law loses its sting. Come what may, after 80 days the injunction comes off. The cooling off period cannot be renewed or extended. It is a one-time weapon in the hands of the President.

The last 20 of the 80 days are supposed to be devoted to getting final position statements from the opposing parties and putting a final offer from employers to a vote by workers.

More often than not, that has been an exercise in futility with the government sometimes not even bothering to submit the final offer for a vote, because of the certainty of rejection.

The fact is, if a dispute is so bitter that only an economic struggle will settle it, the Taft-Hartley cooling of period merely gives one side or another — sometimes both — a breather to resume the fight after the injunction expires.

When renewed, the fights frequently have had an element of bitterness which did not exist before: Government use of a back-to-work order.

Occasionally the Taft-Hartley Act has seemed to be successful in bringing on settlements during cooling off periods. Those involved in the negotiations have said that it is mostly illusory —that the negotiators probably were on the brink of agreement anyway and would have ended the dispute without Taft-Hartley interference.

That was said to have been the case in the 1959-1960 steel strike.

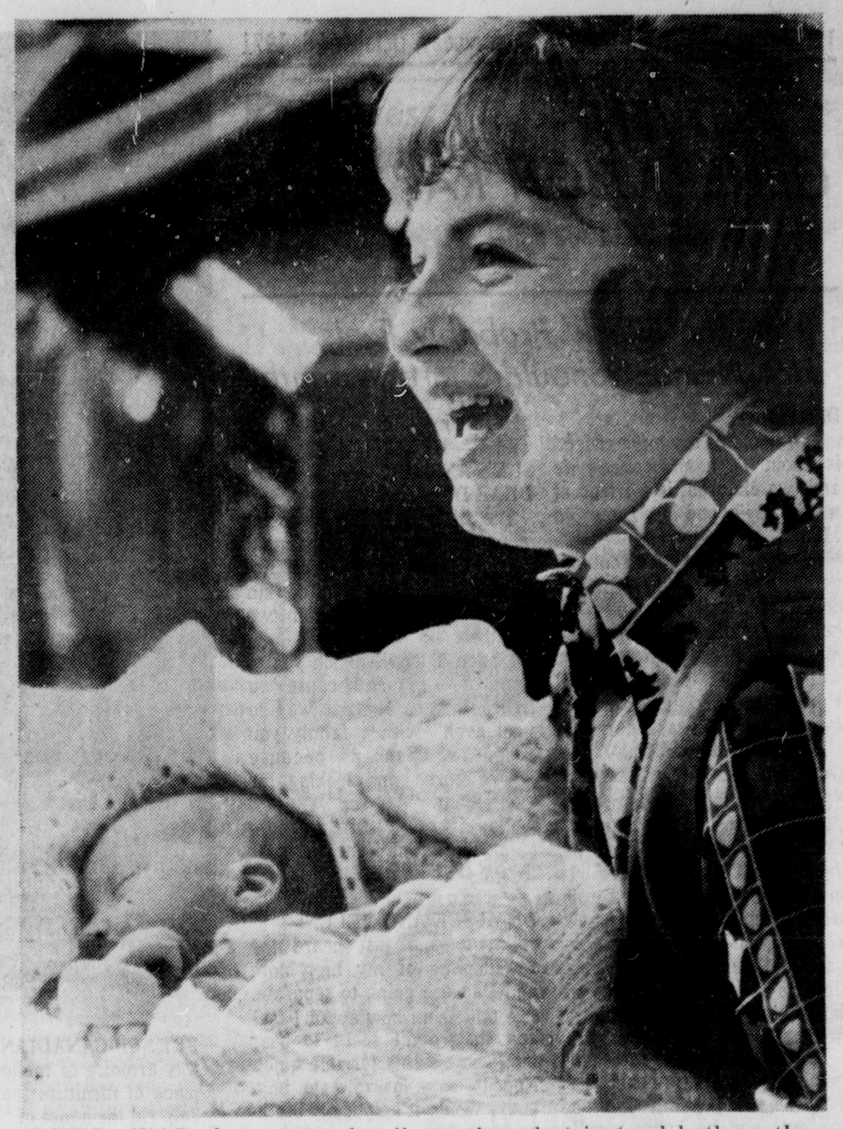
"... WHEN THE others fed their babies I just sat alone. But then I ... fed Laura with the nurses there," said Mrs. Carol Martin about her premature baby. "It was scary ... she was so tiny."

"I SPEND all my time with them," said Mrs. Paul Knupp about her prematurely born twins Rhonda Lee and Richard Paul (shown here). While the twins were still in the hospital their mother and father came often to learn to do their feeding. "Their legs were like your finger, at first," said Mrs. Knupp.



"GREG WAS due yesterday," mused Mrs. Len Ellis, but he is 6 weeks old. "It would have been easy to get detached," said his mother, but instead both mother and father went to the hospital to learn to take over his special feeding technique.

The Thinking On 'Premie' Care Has Changed

By BARBARA HOSMER

Until a few years ago, when a premature baby was born it was immediately whisked away to a separate unit of the hospital for careful handling in strict isolation, and the baby's mother was excluded.

It was as if the parents had had no child until the tiny one measured up to the five-and-a-half to six pounds required for it to be able to be taken home.

Now the thinking has totally changed, and when "premies" are born at Marin General Hospital they go into the same nursery as other newborns. Their mothers are invited into the nursery just as soon as they are able to go.

THE BABIES are kept in isolettes and given the same careful care, but both the mother and father are included in as much of their baby's care as possible while it is still in the hospital.

Talking about her premature baby Laura (now two months old), Mrs. Carol Martin of San Rafael explained her recent experience at Marin General's maternity.

"She was in the isolette and when the others fed their babies, I just sat alone. But then I went and fed Laura with the nurses there. It was scary to see her in the isolette — she was so tiny."

The premie in the isolette wears a little mask and also sunglasses to protect the eyes, called a Bilite, explained Gail Moore, clinical nurse specialist who works with premature babies and their families.

THREE MOTHERS and a father of babies who recently were born prematurely at Marin General Hospital gathered there last week to talk about their experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knupp of San Rafael had premature twins, Richard Paul and Rhonda Lee, now seven weeks old. They took turns coming into the hospital and feeding the babies. They would alternate feeding each twin so that the babies would be used to both parents doing the feeding, as they would when the babies went home.

SOMETIMES IT is necessary to arrange for extra help at home to assist with the older children and the baby when it first goes home, and the Knupps had a nurse help them for the first week the twins were home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Knupp have been kept busy with the two-hour feeding of two babies who, because they were premature, are weak and tire easily when being fed.

"I spend all my time with them," said Mrs. Knupp. "You get two or three hours sleep — it's terrible," remarked her husband.

All of the parents have older children, and the mothers had been through the birth and feeding experience before and could compare the difference of caring for a prematurely born infant.

They were taught by the nurses to feed and handle their babies very carefully and when the babies were stable, eating well and the parents felt competent to take over full care, they found they could bring the infants home, though they might weigh only 4½ pounds.

THE BABY'S condition and the parents' ability to give the care it needs determine when a prematurely born baby can be taken home from the hospital. It is not longer the weight that counts, the nurse said.

Though the Knupps have a 4-year-old daughter as well as the twins, Mrs. Knupp said that she and her husband learned certain techniques from the nurses for the care of the two new babies.

"WE WEREN'T aware of the tongue being at the roof of the mouth and how to pull the chin down to get the tongue to drop before feeding.

"We learned to twist the bottle one-quarter turn to wake them up — if they are weak (as premature babies are) they tire easily," Mrs. Knupp said.

She said she shared the same feeling about smallness that Mrs. Martin had. "They were so tiny I thought they were glass," she said of the twins, who weighed four pounds 11 ounces and four pounds nine ounces when born a month early. They are almost seven pounds now, their mother estimated, glancing down at the little ones whose heads show traces of her own reddish hair.

"I noticed a difference in the legs — they were like your finger at first," she said.

"It makes you feel really good to see that fat go on," Mrs. Martin spoke up. Her Laura was four pounds 11 ounces at birth and went down to four pounds nine ounces. Now she's close to nine pounds.

MRS. MARTIN had a special task with her premature baby because she wanted to breast-feed her. It meant that for every two or three hours the first eight days of the baby's life Carol Marin had to pump the milk at home and bring it to the hospital.

"It also meant that I had to keep myself up well so that I could continue to breast-feed her at home," she said. She has had two other premature babies, one of whom did not live.

Feeding their babies has been difficult for all because the tiny ones tire so quickly they become too weak to suck.

Mrs. Len Ellis of Novato, who has two other children, age 5 and 3, has special problems with her Greg, who was born six weeks prematurely.

"I didn't even know what to expect when I found out Greg would be premature. Then he was born with a cleft palate and harelip. I had never seen a cleft palate before. I was glad they told me right away in the delivery room what the problems were," she said.

THEN GREG developed a lung distress and it was touch-and-go for awhile. Elaine Ellis and her husband just concentrated on hoping he'd make it.

Looking back at the past six weeks since Greg was born, Elaine Ellis talked about the differences in caring for him from her other children as babies.

"Feeding is the biggest hurdle for him," she said holding the sleeping infant on her lap. "Because he was premature he doesn't have the strength to suck and he can't get much milk.

"Being premature and with birth defects, he spent three weeks here in the hospital. My husband and I came in often. It would have been very easy to get detached from Greg then, to forget about him.

"He spent an extra week in the hospital so we could learn how to feed him. He will be coming back soon to have his lip and palate repaired."

She said that the nurses all had a hand in the Ellises' learning to feed him.

"MY HUSBAND did feed him at the beginning when Greg came home. Now he tends to give the bottle and I finish with tube feeding, but he does a lot of the holding for me. If you don't keep doing it you're not as good at it," she said.

"I think we feel closer to Greg than we did to the other children when they were babies."

All agreed that premature babies looked sort of "blobby" with undefined features and it has been interesting to watch eyelashes grow and features develop.

"Greg was due yesterday," Mrs. Ellis said. "Now he looks about the way my other babies did when they were born."

Mrs. Knupp was already noticing that her boy twin was harder to care for than the girl. "That's the way with boys," remarked Carol Martin, whose older child is a boy.

NONE OF the parents of premature babies were eager to go through it again. Accept what happens, but don't repeat it if you can help it, they agreed. It can happen to any mother, and usually you have some idea ahead of time.

It helps if any woman who is expecting a baby has a pediatrician already selected, nurse Gail Moore advised, so that he can be there quickly if the baby is premature.

"If you expect to have a premature baby, don't get too shook up," said Carol Martin, who has had three.

"Anxiety is bad — the worst thing is to worry about it. Accept what happens," advised Elaine Ellis.

One advantage they found was that while the newborn were in the hospital they had some time at home to recover and prepare before the baby came home and to spend with the older children.

Also, the father feels closer to premies because he gets in on the ground floor with them, remarked Gail Moore. "Especially if he sees the baby even before the mother does."

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

'Unk The Skunk' Probably Feels Hot Number Should Share Warmth

DEAR RAP:

The uncle of my ex-boyfriend is about 45, has a sweet wife and two children, is a friend of my family's, and is a Dirty Old Man!

He wants me to sneak out and go with him. If I turn him down, he'll tell my parents a bunch of stuff he knows about me, and I'll get beat and also watched like a hawk until I leave home, which won't be for another two years, darn it.

Here's the story: "Unk" (let's call him) is a big flirt and I goofed around with him a lot but always thought he was kidding. He knows more than he should — like how I sneak out on dates because my father is mean as sin.maybe his nephew told him something, too. Anyway, I thought I could trust him. He always seems to be on the kids' side, so you tell him a lot. That was a mistake!

Last night, he gave me a ride home, and an unfatherly kiss. Then he said he wanted to take me out, and he knew I could manage it because I was good at sneaking.

What it added up to was that if I didn't go with him, he'd tell my folks about my "past." He was pretty cool, but I got the message. And my dad would believe a friend before he'd believe his daughter, especially since I haven't exactly been the ideal teenager.

I don't want to go with a dirty old married man, but how am I going to get out of it? — DISGUSTED BY D.O.M.

HELEN'S VIEWS

DEAR DIS:

He probably figures a hot number should share the warmth.

When you let a "D.O.M." know you sneak out and fool around, then play up to his flirting, you can't expect a image." But when he comes on like a blackmailer, you can slap him down fast with, "Want to go out with me? Look, you ask my father, and I'll ask your wife." — HELEN

SUE'S ANSWER

DEAR DIS:

The Dirty Old Man has a lot more to lose than you have — his wife and kids, his reputation, and probably a lot of skin if your father finds you two together.

Play it safe. "Dis": Ignore "Unk the Skunk" until he goes away. — SUE

DEAR SUE AND HELEN:

I'm 15 and just heard the worst news of my life. Mom and Dad are going to separate. I've told them how awful I feel and they don't seem to hear me. There's this terrible quiet. Nobody says a word to anybody. Would it help if my brother and I ran away? Maybe looking for us would bring them back together. — N.N.

DEAR N.:

Running away won't solve the problem. It might push your folks farther apart. If they aren't happy together, a separation may be better for all of you, even though it hurts awfully at first. (You aren't the only victim of a broken home: they're miserable, too — which is why they don't seem to hear you.)

Remember, married people can stop loving each other, just as you and your boyfriend could. Try to see their side. — SUE

DEAR N.:

. . .But sometimes married people only think they have stopped loving each other. If you can break through that wall of silence and get them talking, maybe you'll have two real parents again. — HELEN

A Birth Pill— 72 Hours After

CHICAGO (UPI)—A birth control pill taken with 72 hours after sexual intercourse prevented pregnancy in 1,000 women of child bearing age without serious side effects, a Michigan physician reported today.

Dr. Lucile Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health Service, said in an article released today in the Journal of the American Medical Association that nearly 900 of the women had used no contraceptive protection.

The probability of a woman becoming pregnant following sex without protection is between one in 50 and one in 25, Dr. Kuchera said.

Dr. Kuchera said she gave a synthetic estrogen known as diethylstilbestrol twice daily for five days to consenting women.

She emphasized that the pill was an emergency type of treatment and advised the women to use other means of contraception on a regular basis.

Secondhand Dolls Sought

Used dolls in good condition are being sought by Mrs. Deloris Moore of Sonoma who for many years has cleaned, refurbished and dressed secondhand dolls and donated them to children who would not otherwise receive gifts at Christmas.

This year Mrs. Moore is seeking Barbie dolls, but says she would welcome dolls with moveable parts, trims, laces and other materials.

FRENCH-CANADIAN design in furniture is introduced in this armoire of mellow cherrywood. It is a case of a new piece of furniture that can become a family heirloom and help rid the house of "the blahs."

INSIDE YOUR HOME

For The House That Has A Bad Case Of The Blahs

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

So far no clever manufacturer has come up with a patent medicine for a house with a case of the blahs. You just live with it, hoping one day to get a great inspiration that will transform that dull interior into a room of distinction.

Fresh paint, new wall coverings and sometimes just a new area rug may alleviate some of the blahs. But what may be totally missing in a house or apartment is that one element that makes a room say it's individual.

The young folks who cover the antique shops, swap meets and junk dealers are ever on the lookout for that once-in-a-lifetime find. It may be an old roll-top desk or a beat-up hutch cabinet. Maybe an armoire or marble-top washstand. But the pickings are getting slimmer and slimmer at those sources.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong with new furniture many people fail to realize that every antique was new once. So they prefer the so-called found treasure over the one sitting in the local retail store. The same narrow vision affects people who shop for older Persian-type carpets.

They look for rugs with faded colors, thinking that represents antiquity. Perhaps it doesn't occur to them that the original owners of those same rugs enjoyed their fresh, jewel tones. When they were new, they had singing, brilliant colorations; they grew faded through generations of use.

So on occasion it's nice to let your family members be the ones who cause a piece of furniture to become an heirloom. The armoire shown today is an example of the kind of piece that can be handed down to the next generation.

Inspired by an armoire from a private collection in Saint-Hilaire in the province of Quebec, this piece is part of Heritage's Tour de France line. Heritage makes no effort in this line to make every piece match or go-together exactly.

Instead, they have searched for unique pieces that have architectural scale and interest. It's their solution to the blahs, and it retails at a bit more than $400. We don't usually mention prices, but in this case, the price tag seems reasonable for the loving craftsmanship and detailing.

THE CURVED apron, multiple moldings, recessed panels and shell motif vary slightly from the original armoire. The fittings are antique brass; hinges are described as long barrel hinges and they become part of the overall design.

The interior is fitted with pull-out drawers and dividers so the unit could work in many areas of the home. It's particularly interesting since it represents a period of design so few of us are aware of and that is the French-Canadian style of the 18th century. You see, there's another cure for those blahs — learning about design.

Paris' Spring Fashions Skipping Back To School

PARIS (UPI) — Paris spring fashions skipped back to school today.

After fiddling around with midis and slinky looks, the French ready-to-wear manufacturers for spring have wrought an innocent little girl theme built around schoolgirl smocks, sailor outfits and sweet 19th Century ruffled evening dresses.

The mini, which could barely hold up its head in last year's ready-to-wear midi experiement, has made a triumphant return. Daytime skirts in the weeklong ready-to-wear displays by 700 French manufacturers at the Versailles Exposition Hall for buyers and press are shorter than those usually seen on Paris streets. The minis replaced "hot pants", the only shorts in the collections being Bermudas for sports.

CONSERVATIVE OR older women are not expected to dress like school girls. For them the show offers the usual suits and coatdress outfits inspired by Chanel or Courreges, sheaths and cocktail garb, although even in these lines of ready-to-wear the hemlines are shorter than for winter, to bare the knee.

For the young and the swingers, the new look is the smock or the sailor. The peasanty-looking smocks are gathered over the bust with a round Peter Pan collar or square neckline. Sleeves, be they short, medium or long, are puffed. Many dresses in prints have collars and cuffs in different prints, the idea of mixing prints, stripes, dots and solids in one dress being popular in the Paris rag trade.

Dressier smocks come in satins and crushed velvet. "Elle" magazine, the style-setter for the young of Paris, is already out with photographs of these mini-school-girl dresses with short puffed sleeves worn over pullover sweaters or blouses.

For the evening, the winner at the Versailles Hall exposition were copies of Yves Saint Laurent's "Proust" dresses in his winter show, long taffetas or ginghams with demure high necks, eyelet embroidery, rick-rack and ruffles.

VOWS SAID IN FAIRFAX

Gary Louis Pfaff and Lauren Diane Wilson were married at St. Rita's Church in Fairfax and greeted guests at a reception afterward at San Geronimo Golf Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilson and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pfaff, all of Fairfax.

Time Can Be The Heart Healer

"Time is a great healer," is an old proverb — and time is what it takes to mend some infants' heart defects, as doctors at the National Institutes of Health recently discovered.

According to research among a group of children born with a hole that separates two sides of their heart, in more than a third of the youngsters the defects corrected themselves naturally by the time the children reached their third birthday.

In infants born with other defects, heart malfunctions are not known to mend naturally. In these cases, science takes over, and very often with good results. Many childrens' heart defects which do not heal spontaneously can be corrected by open heart operations and other cardiac surgery.

GIANT MUSICAL SOUND

Pathologist Arrives For Haley Study

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Viennese pathologist arrived here yesterday to conduct a second autopsy on the body of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, killed in the 1970 Marin Civic Center shoot-out.

Dr. Leopold Breitenecker, chairman of the Institute of Legal Medicine at the University of Vienna, was accompanied by his wife, Erma, and his son, Dr. Rutiger Breitenecker of Baltimore, who will assist in the post mortem.

The pathologist said he was under orders not to issue statements, grant interviews or submit to photographs in connection with his visit.

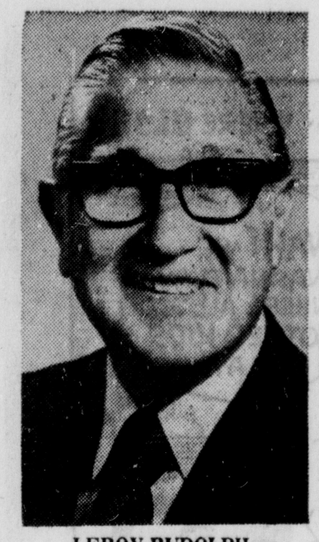
However, he did comment on his arrival at San Francisco International Airport that it was not unusual to exhume a corpse more than a year after death. It has been done "many times" and is "an accepted procedure around the world," he said.

Judge Richard E. Arnason, presiding over the murder-kidnap trial of Ruchell Magee, granted a defense request that Haley's body be exhumed.

Magee's court-appointed attorney, Ernest Graves of Los Angeles, wants the new autopsy to try to prove that a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Magee in the back of an escape van did not kill the judge.

The original autopsy indicated Haley was hit by the shotgun blast and also sustained a bullet wound. Both were fired at about the same time and either could have killed him, said coroner's officials.

Graves is trying to prove the bullet wound occurred first and Haley was already dead when the shotgun was fired.



LEROY RUDOLPH
Retiring banker

San Rafael Banker Will Retire Soon

Leroy Rudolph, manager of the Bank of America's San Rafael main office and a bank vice president, will retire next month after more than 45 years with the bank.

Headquarters for the bank in San Francisco announced Rudolph will retire Nov. 30. No successor has been named.

The executive began as a bookkeeper in the bank's Petaluma office in 1926.

After 11 years in Petaluma, he was transferred to Cloverdale, then to San Rafael in 1941 as assistant cashier and chief clerk. He was named operations officer five years later.

In 1952, he became assistant manager of the bank's Santa Rosa main office and six years later took over as manager of a branch office in Santa Rosa.

He was moved to the San Rafael post in 1960 and was named vice president two years later.

His wife, Marjorie, was murdered in their San Rafael home in 1966 while he was in a local hospital recovering from surgery. The slayer has never been found.

In addition to his bank work, Rudolph has devoted himself to service organizations. He belongs to the San Rafael Rotary Club and Elks Lodge and has served as a Marin director of the Cerebral Palsy Association, a director of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Redwood Empire Association.

Critic To Speak At Fall Series

Karen Monson, music critic for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, will be the speaker Thursday at the final opera preview in the fall series sponsored by Marin Opera Action.

Miss Monson, 26, will preview Donizetti's "Maria Stuarda" at the Frances Young Gallery on the grounds of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross at 8:30 p.m.

A native of New York, the music critic holds a bachelor's degree from Radcliffe College, where she majored in music. She has studied flute for 16 years in New York, Boston and London and in 1966 was chosen a Fulbright scholar in performing arts at the Hochschule Fuer Musik in Berlin.

On her return to this country she became a member of the Rockefeller Foundation's project for the training of music critics. During this three-year program she was a graduate student at the University of Southern California and then became the assistant to Martin Bernheimer, music critic of the Los Angeles Times.

She is now a member of the Rockefeller Foundation Project faculty and has been with the Herald-Examiner since 1969. She also writes on a freelance basis for the San Francisco Opera, various music and other periodicals and record jackets.

Inverness Election Off

One of three candidates running for two seats on the Inverness Public Utility District board has been disqualified, making an election unnecessary.

According to a spokesman at the county elections office, Sim Vanderryn, an architect, failed to get the necessary number of signatures to qualify for the ballot.

Thus incumbent George H. Ludy of Highland Way and Donald J. Colbert of Inverness Way will be considered by the county board of supervisors for direct appointment to the utility district board.

Ludy, a former Marin County supervisor and planning commissioner, is now in real estate sales.

A Sampling By Lindsay In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York swept through Florida Monday in an apparent test of sentiment for his possible entry in the Florida presidential primary in March.

He flew back to New York after appearances in Tallahassee, Miami and St. Petersburg.

Lindsay arrived in Tallahassee early Monday morning, after a weekend visit to Mississippi, where he spoke at rallies for independent black gubernatorial candidate Charles Evers.

Lindsay conferred with state officials and Democratic party leaders in Tallahassee, then hopped by charter plane to Miami and St. Petersburg for speech-making.

Lindsay told the Florida League of Cities meeting in St. Petersburg the nation should turn its money and energy to building hospitals, schools and jobs rather than bombs.

"When will we finally have escalation of concern for our cities her at home?" he asked the municipal officials.

"You and I know the facts of urban life, but we have not gotten the help we need because in Washington theydo not understand these facts," Lindsay said. "Washington has lost touch with what's going on in the cities and towns of America."

MUSIC REVIEW

Another Chamber Group Makes Debut

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A second new chamber music group to make its Marin debut within a week — the Pacifica Chamber Players — was heard last night in Angelico Hall in the Dominican College Concert Series.

Whereas the concert Friday by the Otnes String Quartet at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence was suited to the average music lover, last night's concert was definitely for the connoisseur of chamber music, for the program consisted of difficult and rarely heard gems performed with extraordinary skill and polish.

The Pacifica Chamber Players is a group of six music students of university or graduate level and last night included professional musicians substituting for the violinist and cellist. Performing were director Tom Rose, clarinet; Ricklin Nobis, piano; Anne Crowden, violin; Nancy Ellis, viola; Gretchen Elliott, cello, and Robert Dickow, French horn.

Playing with remarkable rapport and precision, the musicians were masters of technical and expressive resources that resulted in full realization of the widely varied styles of their three numbers. These were the refined subtle Mozart Quartet for Piano and Strings No. 1 in G Minor, the gay, piquant Milhaud Suite for Violin, Clarinet and Piano, and the fiery, brilliant Dohnanyi Sextet for Clarinet, Horn, Strings and Piano.

Balance among the instruments was very good for the most part. Though the cellist was technically proficient, her tone was a little light. The unusual power and warmth of the viola helped to strengthen the lower register.

Highlight of the evening was the Dohnanyi with its typical Hungarian fervor and drama. Playing was at a very high level of skill by all instruments, but I particularly noticed the French horn. I have rarely heard as mellow and golden a tone and one so smoothly sustained on this instrument.

The Milhaud was the spice of the program, completely captivating with its jazzy first and last movements, lyrical second and dance-like third. The songful quality of the clarinet was especially lovely.

The Mozart that opened the program is said to include tempestuous, stark and imperious elements, but the Pacifica Chamber Players' interpretation did not have all that dramatic an impact. It was refined and elegant Mozart.

Special commendation is due pianist Ricklin Nobis, who provided a strong equally virtuoso foundation for the other instruments in all three numbers on the program.

Price Team Takes Oath Of Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Working against an 18-day deadline, the seven members of the Price Commission took the oath of office today and immediately went to work on a program that will attempt to hold the line on prices after the freeze expires.

In a brief ceremony in the Executive Office Building next to the White House the new commissioners grasped bibles, raised their right hands and pledged to "well and faithfully discharge" their new duties.

The commission will set price and rent standards that will apply after the freeze expires Nov. 13. They will also hear appeals for relief from the economic controls and decide if companies have made unreasonably large "windfall" profits because of the controls.

The board is headed by C. Jackson Grayson Jr., dean of the business school at Southern Methodist University. All seven members are public representatives. There is one woman, Marina Whitman, University of Pittsburgh economics professor, and one Negro, William T. Coleman Jr., a Philadelphia lawyer.

The other members are John William Queenen, formerly with the accounting firm of Haskins and Sells; William Scranton, former governor of Pennsylvania; Wilson Newman, former chairman of Dun and Bradstreet, and Robert F. Lanzilotti, dean of the school of business at the University of Florida.

Soviet Military Might Studied

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin Laird today gave European defense ministers a report on increases in Soviet military strength and discussed plans to contain it.

At a meeting of the nuclear planning group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), Laird and his European counterparts—from Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and Greece —examined studies of how the balance of strategic nuclear forces will develop in Europe.

The ministers are engaged in a continuing study of the strategic balance aimed at maintaining NATO's policy of flexible response in any conflict and deciding policy for the future.

Closed Meeting

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District will meet in closed session to discuss whom to hire for a secretary job at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office, 270 Elm Road, clerk Jane Boyer reported.

UC Virus Lab To Be Renamed

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The University of California's famed virus laboratory at Berkeley will be renamed in honor of the late Wendell M. Stanley, pioneer virus researcher, in ceremonies Sunday.

Stanley died in June while attending a scientific meeting in Spain. He was the first to crystallize viruses and define their chemistry, and won the Nobel Prize for his research.

Membership Drive Extended This Week

The new Marin Concert Association has extended its membership drive through Saturday.

Information about the association, which plans a series of concerts at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, may be obtained by asking information for the telephone number of the association at its headquarters at Sherman Clay, San Rafael, or by calling Mrs. Bernard Mulaskey, 18 Sherman Court, Fairfax.

Bears Hazardous

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Residents of the Vancouver north shore have been warned not to get too familiar with visiting black bears. Two bears have been killed recently in residential sections of West Vancouver and a game official said more bears could be expected to appear in the area.

Registration Slated For Six Courses

A hunter safety course for persons at least 12 years old will start next Tuesday at the Novato Community House, running for four weeks.

An eight-week course in judo will start Nov. 15 at Rancho School.

A belly dancing course will be taught for six weeks starting Nov. 4 at the Novato Community House.

Food and cake decorating will be taught on Wednesdays and Thursdays starting Nov. 3 and 4 at the Novato Community House.

Teen drop-in will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Novato High School and Wednesdays at San Marin High School, San Jose and Sinaloa junior high schools and on Saturdays from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Novato and San Marin high schools.

A Warning On The Waterfront

Gryziec, representing the 500-member volunteer planning organization San Francisco Tomorrow, said the city's official plans for development of the waterfront could destroy some areas.

A hearing on the city's planning problems was set for Thursday afternoon.

"The official plans reveal that the waterfront will continue to be treated as common real estate available for maximum private profit rather than as a rare natural resource for maximum public enjoyment," Gryziec said.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Should Refuse First Trick For A No-Trump Victory

"It's hard to live in a state of rapture over such plays as that," said Sherlock Holmes as he got up from his favorite kibitzing chair at the Baker St. Bridge Club. Dr. Watson walked out with the great detective, but the good doctor was bewildered. They had just watched a very normal, but unlucky, hand. What on earth was Holmes complaining about?

ENCOURAGEMENT

In the hand in question, West opened the jack of hearts. East signaled encouragement by playing the seven, and South took the king. South got to dummy with a diamond to try the club finesse, losing to the king.

West promptly led the six of hearts, and East took four heart tricks to defeat the contract. Exit two kibitzers.

Holmes wouldn't discuss the hand, but readers of this column surely see what bothered him. If you haven't spotted the bridge crime and the criminal, take another look at the hand before you read on.

HASTY PLAY

South could afford to lose a trick to the king of clubs, but he couldn't afford to lose four heart tricks. Moreover, South didn't need a heart trick to make his contract; he just needed to limit the loss in hearts.

If you have put all these observations together you have surely seen that South should refuse to win the first trick. East can capture the next heart trick with the ace, dropping the king, but then East must stop after taking the queen of hearts. Dummy's ten will eventually stop the suit.

HEARTS TRAPPED

West eventually gets in with the king of clubs but cannot lead hearts or get the lead to his partner in any other suit. South loses three hearts and one club, but easily makes his game contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 8 7 4 3 2
♥ - J 6
♦ - 10 7 6
♣ - K 8 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is slightly too weak for a response. If partner opened with one spade, however, you would raise to two spades since your length in partner's suit would be worth a point or two.

Transport Panel Meeting Slated

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The Metropolitan Transportation Commission's monthly meeting will be at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow in the board of supervisors chambers of the Alameda County Administration building, 1221 Oak Street.

Because the commission's seven committees always meet in secret without public notice, business to come before the full commission cannot be determined in advance.

The executive committee will meet first at 9:15 a.m.

Environmentalist Listing Sought

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI)— Charles R. Carroll, chairman of the Greenwich Environmental Service, is asking all environmentalist and conservationists in the country to help in the compilation of a national directory of such organizations.

Carroll expressed hope that "all groups will write us to let us know of their existence and that all national groups will send us a list of all of their chapters or affiliated organizations."

Carroll asked that responses be sent to: P.O. Box 95, Pleasantville, N.J. 08232.

Seven In Stinson Beach Lineup

(One of a series of articles being published by the Independent-Journal, outlining the issues and presenting the candidates in the Nov. 2 election)

On Nov. 2 voters in the Stinson Beach County Water District will go to the polls to select three directors for the district board, in the first contested election since the district was formed in 1961.

The district's 451 registered voters will be able to choose from a field of seven candidates, including three incumbents.

Despite the fact the State Water Resources control board last week withdrew certifaction for the $8.1 million waste treatment system proposed for Stinson Beach and Bolinas and thus killed the project, it was the controversial project which drew the large field of candidates.

The project may be dead in its present form, but its impact will still be felt in the upcoming election because money remains available for a suitably modified plan and all four candidates opposing the incumbents decided to run because they were against the project.

Incumbents Edward E. Leary, James V. Stevens and Hugh Dougherty may have expressed doubts that the waste disposal system planned was the best one possible for the community. But many residents still see the board members as the persons responsible for coming close to saddling the community with an $8.1 million sewer system.

It must be noted that Dougherty and Stevens decided several months ago that alternatives to the plan might be possible. To this end, they encouraged the board's recent hiring of two consultants to study the sewage situation in Stinson, then recommend other possible (and feasible) solutions. Leary, too, had agreed to take another look at the proposal if re-elected.

Long before the current project was killed by the state, the four other candidates in the race were convinced it must be stopped and other methods and solutions found.

Three contenders, John L. Jones, Andrea De Marco and Charles E. Hancock, are running on a slate sponsored by Stinson Beach Projects, a grassroots resident group which emerged in opposition to the expensive system. A fourth contender, Proctor Jones, is in the contest as an independent, but also opposed the project as unsuitable for the small community.

Two other candidates, Lank Felsen and Harriet W. Crandall, have withdrawn from the race in favor of the Stinson Beach Projects slate, although their names will still appear on the ballot.

On election day voters will cast their ballots at a single polling place in the Stinson Beach Community Center where the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The seven candidates bring to the contest a variety of qualifications and reasons for running for the board:

Incumbent Stevens, a sales engineer for a company which manufactures pulp and paper waste disposal systems, said he hopes to bring to the board "technical experience and common sense, plus an appreciation of the necessity of protecting the environment and small town atmosphere of Stinson Beach."

A two-year veteran on the board, Stevens contends that waste disposal systems proposed by opponents of the project are untried and unproven and could be very expensive to maintain. He said the current waste system would cost more to build than others, but the cost of upkeep and maintenance would be low.

The ideal system for Stinson Beach must combine "a dedication to ecology, balanced with a system of proven effectiveness which is simple to operate," Stevens said.

Stinson Beach rancher Hancock believes a change is needed on the board to make it more responsive to the public it serves. For some time, he said, residents in the district have been "faced with a crisis of nonrepresentative government."

Hancock said the three Stinson Beach Projects candidates are very aware of the problems which can result when a board ignores the wishes of the public. He said the three would work diligently to insure the board remains "receptive to the views of residents."

Hancock, who is also a trustee for the Bolinas-Stinson School District, said he would strive for a sewage disposal system that would utilize existing facilities, such as septic tanks, to the fullest extent possible.

Leary, a retired construction inspector for the state, who has served on the water board about three years, is running "because I did not want to quit under fire since I had not done anything to be ashamed of." He said he has been "a good board member" and has "done what I thought was the right thing."

If the district is going to construct a treatment and disposal system, Leary believes it should be built as soon as possible because "the longer we wait, the more it will cost."

Teacher Miss De Marco says that if elected she would do everything in her power to keep community residents informed of what is going on in the district. "I care about Stinson Beach and feel there are forces on the county and state level which could destroy the character of the area if the people are not informed," she said. She suggests the district publish an information bulletin which could be sent to all residents.

Miss De Marco, who describes herself as "a critical thinker, someone who doesn't just accept what's handed to me," would also work to deal with other community problems, such as lack of recreational facilities and insufficient distribution of water.

Photographer Jones deplores "the undemocratic manner" in which the current board has been run and the "immense indebtedness the board has incurred without consultation and consent" of taxpayers and property owners.

Jones, who has leased or owned property in Stinson Beach for the past 17 years, believes that local government is "our last bastion of hope. If we dissolve, merge, consolidate or permit annexation of the little areas which we know, and in which we are known, we lose our identity as a free people," he said and urged persons "who favor big government" to vote against him.

In addition to developing a scaled-down system involving recycling of wastes and no ocean outfall designed for Stinson alone, Jones sees improvement of Stinson's water mains as essential. "They have deteriorated to the point where the fire department might not be able to handle a single residential blaze, let alone a major conflagration in an area where there is much old frame construction," the retired lumber company vice president said.

If elected, he would try to insure the electorate is kept informed of district operations, something he believes the current board has neglected.

Dougherty has been president of the water district board since it was formed in 1961 and said his 10 years experience on the board have given him "an extensive layman's knowledge of waste treatment systems and local government."

He is running, he said, because of "a sense of continuing responsibility to the community" and the desire to "achieve an optimum solution to the (sewage) problem and avoid a short-sighted solution which will require starting all over again in a few years."

The system Dougherty envisions would be one which is environmentally sound, within the financial resources of the community and designed in such a way that it will serve the area adequately in the future.

Heated Officers' Charges During Prisons Hearing

By WAT TAKESHITA

SAN FRANCISCO — Spokesmen for the California Correctional Officers Association were sharply reprimanded by a congressional subcommittee yesterday for charging certain lawyers and lawyer groups with possible subversion or revolutionary activities.

Moe Camacho, president of the California Correctional Officers Association, called for investigation of several groups including the National Lawyers Guild and Berkeley attorneys Fay and Marvin Stender for subversive activities.

This brought stinging rebuke from Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., chairman of a subcommittee of the House Committee on Judiciary.

"I take exception to your statements," said Kastenmeier. He said attorneys are accountable to courts and the bar associations and should not be subjected to such serious accusations at a public hearing on prison reform.

"We've dealt with plots to kill correctional officers," replied Camacho. "We have lost nine personnel in two years. When a correctional officer in his heart feels some people are purposely trying to kill him, he's got to get emotional!"

"When will a committee be formed to take testimony from the victims of crimes?" Apfel asked indignantly.

Camacho placed blame for violence on attorneys who he said "provide an ideal pipeline between the outside and inside revolutionary movements.

"Prison violence and murder in California will continue to increase unless and until we accept the cold, hard fact that a conspiracy exists to destroy our penal system and our willingness to deal accordingly with those who are responsible."

Rep. John Conyers, D-Michigan, a black member of the subcommittee, told the correctional officers they label prisoners as militants and revolutionaries but forget that there are a few sadistic officers who precipitate the incidents.

Citing one recent example, Conyers declared that on Aug. 23 — two days after the Aug. 21 outbreak at San Quentin in which three inmates and three guards died — officers dragged prisoners whom they considered revolutionaries out of their cells and forcibly removed their long hair and sprayed mace in their faces.

"That's common knowledge, and I'm sure you wouldn't deny it," challenged Conyers.

He added that some correctional officers later returned to the prisoners and apologized for what they had done in a heat of passion.

"If I saw any brutality inflicted by an officer, I'd report it," replied Camacho.

Aaron Read, spokesman for the California State Employees Association, asked for more realistic salaries for correctional officers and a training academy similar to the one set up for highway patrolmen.

The strongest attack against the state prison administration came from Fay Stender, Berkeley attorney, who was one of those named as a possible subversive by Camacho.

"The basic root condition of California prisoners is total powerlessness," said Mrs. Stender. Once inside the prison, a convict is at the complete mercy of the correctional officers because it is their word over that of convicts, she declared.

At a disciplinary hearing, a parole hearing, or a hearing to revoke parole, the word of one or two officers can doom a man to life imprisonment with no chance for rebuttal or cross-examination, she alleged. "The terror comes from powerlessness because all review is within the system; there is no redress."

She hand-delivered a note which she said was written by a correctional officer to a convict who pleaded for medical aid. The note read: "Yell for help when the blood is one inch thick all over the floor. Don't call before that."

To free convicts from the terror of powerlessness, Mrs. Stender recommended that a federal ombudsman be created to hear grievances of prisoners. She said this ombudsman must be paid and supervised from an agency completely divorced from the department of corrections.

Among her other recommendations were:

Prisoners should be allowed to organize, hear charges and cross-examine witnesses, get a minimum wage for working in industries, not be subject to indeterminate sentences, and have more access to legal help.

Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections; Henry W. Kerr, chairman of the California Adult Authority, and James W.

Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections; Henry W. Kerr, chairman of the California Adult Authority, and James W. L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin, defended the prison system as working better today than ever before. They cited such improvements as conjugal visits, three-day passes, and the work furlough system.

Prison officials agreed that San Quentin and Folsom are old and over-crowded and should be abolished, but the expense of converting these prisons into smaller units scattered in various communities is more than the taxpayers can afford.

UNICEF Drive Is Set Sunday

Several hundred Tiburon Peninsula children will go door-to-door Sunday to collect money for the United Nations Childrens Emergency Fund in the annual "trick or treat for UNICEF" campaign.

This year the Reed School District, the Community Congregational Church and St. Stephen's Episcopal Church are cooperating in the drive, according to Peninsula chairman Gertrude Schleiger.

Each year approximately $600 is collected for UNICEF on the Tiburon Peninsula, she said.

Five Enter Race For Fire Panel In Bolinas

Five candidates will vie Nov. 2 for three seats on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

The candidates include the three incumbents whose seats are up for election — Fred E. Davis, Hurford Sharon and Edwin Cadogen.

None could be reached yesterday for comment on the election in which 661 registered voters will be eligible to cast ballots. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Davis, 62, of Aspen Road, has served on the board since Dec. 1966.

Davis, who is a handyman, also has served on the Bolinas Public Utility District Board.

Sharon, another incumbent, lives on Brighton Avenue.

Cadogan, a former College of Marin instructor, is running for the first time since being appointed to the board.

He is also a director of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District and is subject to a recall election Nov. 2 from that board.

He resides at 32 Crescente Avenue. He resigned his position at the College of Marin in 1967 after 20 years with the school.

Four Candidates Battling For Three Marinwood CSD Seats

(One of a series of articles being published by the Independent-Journal, outlining the issues and presenting the candidates in the Nov. 2 election).

Four candidates — including two incumbents and a former director — are battling for three seats on the Marinwood Community Services District board to be filled by the Nov. 2 county election.

Lawrence B. Malkin, who surrendered his seat in 1969 after almost two years on the board, is again seeking a seat. Walter O. Johnson, a member of the land use advisory committee of the services district, is the fourth candidate.

The polls in the Lucas Valley district will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the 1,974 registered voters in the district.

The main problem confronting the board is future development, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager of the district.

While the board unanimously has taken strong stands against major developments such as the proposed Renaissance Pleasure Faire in Upper Lucas Valley, Johnson said the board has not gone far enough.

"I think the Marinwood Community Services District board has been very lax in the area of acting rather than reacting. This has resulted in more hysteria than practical land use," the 43-year-old financial planner and consultant said.

He said his main thrust if elected to the board would be to develop "realistic" long-range plans for the valley so the board would have guidelines for dealing with developers.

Although he has held no elective office, he said his experience in real estate would help in planning.

Malkin, 39, assistant administrator at Marin General Hospital, was chairman of the Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commission before being appointed to the district board in January, 1969. His resignation followed his election as president of the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club.

He lauded the past leadership of the board in holding down taxes and meeting the problems of a small district. He promised to continue in the same mold.

Solomon, 43, an attorney, was elected to the board in 1967. He has also served as a director of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District and chairman of the Marinwood Citizens' Advisory Committee on Land Use and the Dixie School District Citizens Finance Committee.

The incumbent director said further effort must be expended on improving the district's services while continuing to drive down the tax rate and on planning for land use.

Emphasis, he said, should also be placed on "preventing the polarizing of the community, by age, by politics, or otherwise," and on cooperation with other government bodies.

O'Brien, like Malkin, was appointed to the board after a stint as chairman of the parks and recreation commission. The 43-year-old insurance broker was appointed in March 1970.

He told the Independent-Journal the main concerns of the board are finances and development.

He claimed the board has added services and made improvements while reducing the tax rate.

The incumbent appointee also committed himself to fight "abuses in density" and battle to retain open space on the hills surrounding Lucas Valley.

The goldeneye duck is commonly called the "whistler" because of the loud, high-pitched noise made by its wings.

Driver Injured In Lot Scuffle

A 20-year-old San Rafael man was released yesterday from Marin General Hospital after overnight treatment of an injury suffered in a scuffle Saturday following a minor traffic accident in a supermarket parking lot.

San Rafael police said Leroy T. Leonhardt of 2035 Redwood Highway, Apt. 12, was taken to the hospital by ambulance after he was found unconscious, although it was not clear how he was knocked out, in the Mayfair Market at 1801 Fourth Street.

Police said the trouble at the market began when Leonhardt apparently backed his car into a car being driven by John E. Loeber of San Jose in the parking lot.

The men got out of their cars and Leonhardt allegedly attacked a passenger in Loeber's car, Mark Jefferson Lee of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 21, San Rafael.

Lee and Loeber got back into their car and were starting to drive away, police said, when Leonhardt hurled two rocks through the back window of their car. Lee suffered minor glass cuts on his arm and cheek, police said.

Lee and Loeber then chased Leonhardt into the store, but were reportedly held away from him by other persons in the store, and police were unable to say how Leonhardt was injured. He suffered bruises of his head and abdomen, the hospital said.

General Obligation Bond Is Supported

The Petaluma City Council heard last night that passage of general obligation bonds would be the cheapest method of financing the required addition to the sewage disposal plant.

City Finance Director Cecil G. Gealta said that Ernest Bodner of financial consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco recommended that $1 million bond election be held in January to finance the project.

Last June voters rejected a $2 million bond election for the project. Since that time, the city has become eligible for 80 per cent rather than 50 per cent federal and state financing for construction. Bodner said the city would now reduce its bond issue to the $1 million figure and still meet costs.

Gealta said the city must actually have $1.7 million on hand, pending federal reimbursement of money, but said it would be less expensive to borrow the remaining $700,000 from a bank or from the city water fund.

The council heard that revenue bonds could be sold without holding an election, but that interest rates would be higher than on general obligation bonds and that more reserve funds must be on hand.

The council has promised the state Water Quality control Board that if a bond election is held and fails again, it will sell revenue bonds to finance the project.

Gealta said the council requested more financial information and set another meeting for Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. A decision on the bond election must be made at the Nov. 15 meeting so the election can be held in January.

Youth Injured In Shoreline Accident

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a fractured collarbone received in a one-car accident on the Shoreline Highway, south of the Tomales Bay Oyster Co.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Paul C. Holsman was injured about 9 p.m. when his southbound auto overturned while rounding a curve.

HOW TO BE SURE YOUR HOUSE SITS INSTEAD OF SELLS

You can put up a sign and wait for a prospect. Or advertise, and wait for the phone to ring. Both are guaranteed to get you more "lookers" than buyers.

Save time. See us first. We're Realtors; experts who know how to price your home, promote your home, and bring you real prospects. Professionals who are pledged to a strict code of ethics, and work in your best interests. So you can relax, knowing you're being taken care of. Professionally.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, if you list with multiple listing, you will immediately have 800 professionals working for you.

MR. and MRS. MARIN

Are We Competitive? What About Our Service?

Two Important Questions When Buying Your New Car

Your Marin County auto dealer can put money in your pocket. He has lower overhead, lower sales tax, no gimmicks and you as a next door customer to think of. Compare the above, to dealers "ACROSS the BRIDGE" and you've answered the question. Then stop by and see one of us and we'll prove it to you.

You have a big investment in your new car and when, and if, something does need repair, you want fast, convenient, reliable local service that you can depend on. We are your neighbors, our business is concentrated in Marin. We want your business . . . and strive to deserve it.

SUMMONS
No. 60127

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin

vs.

SAMUEL I. MOORE, also known as S. I. MOORE, and ALSO ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN, CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO, Defendants.

To the Defendants:

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.

The object of this action is to make the above-named defendants set forth the nature of their claim or claims to the real property in the complaint and hereinafter described, if any they have, and that such claim or claims be adjudged to be of no effect and void, and that plaintiffs' title to said real property be quieted against them.

That said real property is situate in the City of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described as follows:

Parcel One:

Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of Beach Road, formerly "Bay View Ave." which point is the most southerly corner of Lot 12, Block 1, as said lot and block are shown on that certain map entitled, "Map No. 3 of the Belvedere Peninsula, Marin County, Cal." filed June 26, 1891 in the Office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin; running thence from said point of beginning along said road line south 38° 21' east 51.36 feet to the most southerly corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Rose M. Rotchy to Martha M. Morrison, recorded July 25, 1955 in Book 958 of Official Records at page 161; thence along the southeasterly line of the parcel of land described in said last mentioned deed north 38° 26' east 134.72 feet to a point distant 65.02 feet from the easterly corner thereof; thence leaving said line north 77° 51' west 89.22 feet; thence south 28° 26' west 50.0 feet; thence south 27° 23' east 32.89 feet and south 38° 26' and west 20.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcel Two:

Beginning at the most easterly corner of the property described above as Parcel One and running north 38° 26' east 65.02 feet to the northeasterly line of Lot 11 in Block 1, map above referred to.

IF YOU WISH TO SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO SO PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING, IF ANY, MAY BE FILED ON TIME.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE RE: MINORS' CHANGE OF NAME
No. 61509

WHEREAS, JOHN JAMES FLORES and KAREN FLORES, his wife, petitioners, as guardians of applicants, ELIZABETH DENISE HERNANDEZ, ROBERT ANTHONY HERNANDEZ, MELINDA THERESE HERNANDEZ, and VERONICA DORESE HERNANDEZ, all being under 18 years of age, have filed a petition with the clerk of this court for an order changing applicants' family name from HERNANDEZ to FLORES.

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the above-entitled matter appear before this court at 9 A.M., on Nov. 11, 1971, in the courthouse in San Rafael, Marin County, California, and show cause, if any, why the petition for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in the Independent-Journal of Marin, a newspaper of general circulation printed in the County of Marin, California, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing on the petition.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KPIX (5), 7:30 p.m. — The influence of black Americans on contemporary white English singers of the blues, and vice versa, is explored in an hour-long special, "Black, White and Blues." Among the musicians performing are Chicken Shack, Fleetwood Mack and Savoy Brown. Gene Pell narrates.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — "Should tax monies be spent to support non-public schools?" is the subject on "The Advocates."

Rare Woodpecker — Photographic Proof

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—The ivory-billed woodpecker, its presence undocumented for more than 30 years, has been sighted and photographed in the southeastern United States, a representative of the National Audubon Society reported Monday.

William M. Campbell, president of the local chapter of the Audubon Society, told United Press International the society has "documented proof" of the existence of the bird.

Campbell's announcement was confirmed by Robert Manns, southeastern representative for the society in Atlanta. He said a pair of the birds had been sighted and a photograph taken of one of them recently.

Campbell and Manns refused to reveal the location of the birds, explaining they feared an influx of hundreds of bird watchers if the site were made known.

Last year officials of the Audubon Society made a recording of the mating call of the bird in the Santee swamp in South Carolina. However, the woodpecker itself was never observed at that time.

"We can safely say the ivory-billed woodpecker is not extinct," said Campbell. "We have a photograph of it and we know that it was observed jointly by at least two highly qualified observers."

The last reported sighting of the bird was made by ornothologist John V. Dennis in 1967 along the big thicket country of Eastern Texas. Dennis' report was never confirmed by Audubon authorities.

The decline of the woodpecker followed extensive lumbering operations throughout the South in the 1930's. The Santee swamp has been the target of a proposed logging operation, but a one-year delay has been ordered in the start of timber cutting while a state study of the impact of the cutting is made.

Campbell would not say definitely if the Santee swamp was the site of the photographs, but he noted that "the fact that we have found the bird points up the pressing need for an extensive study of the area by the South Carolina public service authority."

The Bighorn Returns To Old Habitat

TULELAKE (UPI)—A band of 10 California bighorn sheep returned during the weekend in a livestock truck to the northeastern corner of the state where they had been extinct for more than half a century.

The eight ewes and two rams, transported from British Columbia by the state Department of Fish and Game and the National Park Service, were turned free in Lava Beds National Monument to start what wildlife officials hope will be a new herd of California bighorn sheep.

The California bighorns originally populated the northeastern part of the state as far west as parts of Shasta County and as far south as Lassen County. But hungry domestic sheep eventually spelled their downfall.

The transplanted bighorns will roam throughout 1,100 acres of steep, rocky country on lands administered by the Parks Service and Forest Service.

When the fledging herd has increased to 25 animals, officials hope to relocate some to other areas where bighorns once roamed. Currently, an estimated 200 bighorns now roam the eastern slope of the Sierra from Mono County southward in small, scattered bands.

Bighorns are fully protected in California and hunting them is prohibited.

Steel Imports

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The 11 million tons of steel imported in the first seven months of this year was the equivalent of 65,000 full-time job opportunities in the domestic steel industry plus 13,000 in supporting business, according to the U.S. Steel Corp.

Man Complaining of 'Dope' Spill Booked At Jail

A San Anselmo man, arrested on drug charges by San Rafael Police Sunday, has been released from Marin County Jail on his promise to appear in municipal court Friday.

Police said Bruce L. Rasmussen, 19, of 51 Forbes Avenue was arrested after he asked a San Rafael service station attendant for some rubber bands, saying he had spilled his "dope" in his car.

The attendant at Sarganis Shell Station, 755 Second Street called police, who said they found a hypodermic needle and syringe, a spoon and a plastic bag containing 30 white tablets of an unidentified substance in a small cardboard box in Rasmussen's pocket.

He was booked on suspicion of possessing a narcotics injecting device, dangerous drugs and a hypodermic needle.

COEDS CREATE CREEPY CORNERS

Mother Of Jackson Is Denied Items

A move by the mother of slain San Quentin inmate George Jackson to get possession of some of his property apparently has been denied.

A preliminary opinion filed today by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court indicates the warden of San Quentin has the right to hold property of Jackson which appears to be needed in connection with an investigation of the Aug. 21 violence at the prison.

With the exception of unidentified materials given to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, all Jackson's property has been returned to his mother, Georgia Jackson of Pasadena, according to an affidavit filed by San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson.

Bales has declined to say what property he has, but Mrs. Jackson's attorney, Edward C. Bell of San Francisco, said it includes a manuscript of a book Jackson was working on, various correspondence dating from 1960 and legal documents pertaining to the defense of the Soledad Brothers.

Jackson died in what was reportedly a futile escape attempt at the prison Aug. 21. Two other inmates and three guards were slain.

CTA Calls For Racism Probes

OAKLAND (UPI) —The California Teachers Association is calling on each of its locals for independent studies of racism.

A resolution, passed Monday as the CTA ended its annual convention, asks each local to spend a meeting before March 31 considering racism and education—what each local is doing to promote the hiring, retention and promotion of minority group teachers.

The resolution was passed after two black members complained of internal racism.

JoAnne Minor of California State College at Hayward declared the 20,000-member organization has no "state black officials—either elected or appointed.

Tam High Trustees Seeking Goals Study

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night asked the district superintendent for ways to educate themselves on education goals without stepping on the toes of task forces appointed to develop such goals.

Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said his recommendations will be forthcoming, probably Nov. 15, after he talks with members of the task forces.

The two-and-a-half hour discussion with parents and teachers focused mainly on defining "goal", Hawkins said, but littel was said about actual educational priorities.

However, the board recommended that the task forces study goals set up for elementary districts in Marin.

The task forces, consisting of students, parents and faculty, have been set up at each of the district's three schools to develop educational goals for the high schools.

In a closed session prior to the discussion, the board discussed firing a teacher, but took no action, Hawkins said.

Belvedere Council Scores Democratic Remap Plan

The Belvedere City Council last night joined its sister city Tiburon in opposing a democratic proposal to redistrict state Senate districts, cutting the Tiburon Peninsula from the rest of Marin.

Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel said the council is sending a resolution to the Senate elections and reapportionment committee saying that the "interests of the electorate are primary" rather than the interests of "politically motivated" elected officials.

Democrats on the committee have proposed a plan whereby the Tiburon Peninsula would be included in a district which would stretch 200 miles north and include Solano, Colusa, Glenn, Sutter, Yuba, Tehama and Shasta counties.

The rest of Marin would be included in a district covering portions of San Francisco and San Mateo counties under the Democratic proposal.

Republicans have proposed a plan which would keep Marin intact in a district that would be enlarged to include western portions of San Francisco and Sonoma counties.

Floating Dock Permit Sought

A proposal to build a floating dock on Corte Madera Creek near Larkspur Plaza has been received by the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco.

Anyone wishing to object to the application by Charles J. Hendrickson for the dock at 555 Larkspur Plaza Road must write in triplicate to the corps prior to Nov. 15, according to Col. Charles R. Roberts, district engineer.

He said the proposed dock, designed to service an apartment building, must also be approved by the state.

Burglar Slips Into Ice Cream Parlor

A burglar slipped into the rear room of a Larkspur ice cream parlor last night and escaped with $150 while an employee was closing the front of the store.

Larkspur police said the theft from a counter at Swensen's Ice Cream and Candies, 230 Bon Air Shopping Center, occurred between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m.

8:07 a.m., Sausalito — Resident reported smoke pouring out from A.G. Schoomaker plant no. 2; fire department investigation found smoke to be exhaust gases from smokestack.

5:28 p.m., San Rafael — Small grass and brush fire at end of Worthington Lane; believed set by children.

Kentfield Board Hires Three New Employees

The Kentfield School District board last night hired three part-time employees and accepted the resignation of a fourth.

District Supt. Anthony Bacich said the board accepted the resignation of David Powers, a teacher's aide at Adaline E. Kent Junior High School, and hired Nancy Jacobsen to replace him. Her salary will be $111 a month, he said.

Also employed were Barbara Stump and Lila Van Orden. Mrs. Van Orden will work two hours a day at $5 an hour as a teacher of handicapped children, a new position, Bacich said.

Mrs. Stump will work 18 hours a week as a library aide for $148 a month, the superintendent said.

Youth Is Nabbed For Loaded Rifle

A 17-year-old Novato youth went hunting yesterday and was crossing the San Marin High School campus with his loaded .22-caliber rifle when Novato police apprehended him.

He was cited to juvenile authorities for having a loaded gun on school grounds and in public. He was also cited for having marijuana when police found a packet of green vegetable matter in his pocket.

Pedestrian's Wrist Broken

A 25-year-old San Rafael woman was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a broken right wrist suffered when she was struck by a car while crossing Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Police said today Christine Wilsey of 65 Treehaven Drive apparently was not in the crosswalk when struck by an auto driven by John Noble Young, 75, of 1438 Nye Street, San Rafael.

Officers said Young was turning left onto Fourth from Lootens Place when the 12:10 p.m. accident occurred.

Injuries Minor In Shoreline Accident

A 35-year-old Stinson Beach man received minor injuries, but declined hospital treatment yesterday, in a two-car accident on Shoreline Highway in Stinson Beach.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the accident, said Sheldon B. Spindell, of Box 268, driver of one of the vehicles, was hurt about 4:05 p.m. The other driver involved was identified as Stephen W. Burke, 28, of Los Angeles.

Fuller From Grid Capital In Texas

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Johnny Fuller of the San Francisco 49ers is from the pro football capital of the world and he couldn't be prouder of that bit of information.

If you didn't know, the football capital is Beaumont, Tex., population a little over 115,000. There are currently 23 men from Beaumont playing professional ball either in the U.S. or Canada, including Bubba and Tody Smith, Mel and Miller Farr, Jerry Levias. And John Fuller.

Fuller, a fourth year pro via Lamar Tech (Texas again), was guest speaker for the Marin Chapter, 49er Goal Rushers yesterday at San Rafael's Holiday Inn.

When things are going smoothly for the 49ers, Fuller is a backup defensive back. With injuries to safeties Mel Phillips and Roosevelt Taylor the past two weeks, Fuller has been pressed into service, but things are still going smoothly because Fuller has been doing one heck of a job.

Johnny, with traces of Texas accent leaking out all over the place, agreed with comments past 49ers have made concerning the heavy dosage of holding penalties the Niners have been getting.

"They're (officials) really watching us this year. All teams hold, we all know that. How else can you keep some of those big defensive ends from getting in?"

In trying to find an answer to the 49ers' scoring problem, San Rafael Buick baron Don Collins asked Fuller if he felt the team missed any of the coaches lost last year when Ed Hughes left the 49ers to take over as head coach for the Houston Oilers, taking two other assistants with him.

"No," declared Fuller. "We've got a great coaching staff. Our defensive backfield coach, Don Heinrich, really understands quarterbacks and receivers and can tell us what they'll do at certain situations."

Milt Schwartz wanted to know why the 49ers' offense is great between the 20-yard lines but still fails to score touchdowns (just one in each of the last two games).

"I sure can't answer that," said Fuller, "and John Brodie can't answer it either. I think the offense will come around. They'll start scoring."

He hinted a good time would be next Sunday when the 49ers will be entertaining the New England Patriots in Candlestick Park. They do have Jim Plunkett, but he can't play defense, too, and that's where the Pats are hurting.

The defensive specialist enjoyed talking about what he knows most, the defense, which has been outstanding for the Niners thus far in the season.

"We have more depth this year, and more confidence. Our defensive line is better, with experience from last year really improving those guys."

In explaining why the 49ers don't use zone defense in the backfield more, since more and more clubs are going to it, Fuller said the Niners have tried it in the past "and we get burned. We can do better in man-to-man coverage."

Another question concerned the ruling on the bump and run tactics teams use when defensive backs bump receivers as they start downfield in pass patterns. Before the ball is passed, Fuller explained, a defensive back can push or bump the receiver while he is in front of him, but once the receiver gets to the side of the defender, or past him, no more pushing.

Fuller, who is on all 49er special teams — kickoffs, punts and field goals — is one who likes to get involved with kids. In the off season he's a juvenile delinquency counselor at a boys ranch in San Francisco.

Novato Youth Wins Houston Trip

Boots Way To Title In Oakland

By LEW CODDINGTON

David is 8. Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum, the Novato youngster won the quarterfinals of Ford's punt-pass-and-kick competition, thus advancing farther than any Marin County youngster ever has in this annual affair.

Blanda is 43, and although he doesn't punt, he passed and kicked the Raiders to a harrowing 31-27 victory over Cincinnati. The competition was held at halftime of that game, there were 54,699 people in the stadium, which is a bigger crowd than most eight-year-old kids normally play before.

Was he nervous? "You bet," he says.

He didn't act it. His combined distance for one punt, one pass, and one place-kick off a tee was 157 feet, a whopping 25 feet better than his nearest competition.

It earned him a trip to Houston, scene of some of Blanda's earlier triumphs, where the national semifinals will be held Dec. 19 at halftime of the Oilers-San Diego Chargers game. Thirteen youngsters in his age bracket, one representing each of the American Football Conference cities, will collide. The winner meets the National Football Conference winner at the Super Bowl.

That's pretty heady stuff for a third-grader, but he's taking it all in stride.

"The big thing is that I'll get to see the Astrodome," he says. "And I'll get to fly." He hasn't been in a plane since he was a baby and has never been out of California except for a skiing excursion to Nevada.

David never has played organized football, although he plans to when he is old enough. He plays pretty well on the neighborhood pickup level — two on a side, one quarterback and one end. He's usually the quarterback.

"David has a lot of natural ability," said his father, Duane. "He's big for his age, but not as big as some of the guys he's beaten."

His father coached him for about a month before the competition, on evenings and weekends after David got home from Pleasant Valley school. Nobody in the neighborhood paid much attention to it at the time, but now that they've got a hero in their midst, "they think it's great," David says.

This is David's first year in the competition, and he'll be eligible for five more tries, up through age 13. He intends to keep coming back. "He really wants to win," said his father.

There were about a million youngsters to start out in the competition, and now he's one of the final 26 in his age group. Which leads to a final comparison:

If he can handle the eight-year-olds as well as Blanda handles the 43-year-olds, he's going to be one happy youngster.

Victory Bell Up For Grabs

Two title-conscious teams with divergent attacks collide Friday night in the Marin County Athletic League football game of the week when Terra Linda and San Rafael meet.

San Marin visits Redwood in Larkspur at 3:30 p.m. in another Friday MCAL game.

On Saturday, Novato treks to Tamalpais in Mill Valley, 1:30 p.m.; St. Patricks of Vallejo plays at Marin Catholic, 2 p.m., and Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland plays Drake at San Rafael High, 8 p.m. in two non-league contests.

The pass oriented Terra Linda team visits San Rafael High School to battle the resident Bulldogs in an 8 o'clock affair, hoping to return the coveted victory bell which goes to the winner of this intradistrict game.

Novato Sets For Redwood Harrier Go

Redwood high school meets Novato Thursday in a pivotal Marin County Athletic League cross-country meet that will either simplify the race or throw it into hopeless confusion.

Other MCAL competition will find San Rafael at San Marin, Drake at Terra Linda, and Tamalpais home with a bye.

Redwood and San Rafael are tied for first place with 4-0 league records, while Novato is still in the race at 3-1. Both the Giants and the Bulldogs are expected to win, setting the stage for their showdown next Thursday at Phoenix Lake.

But Novato has other ideas, and a Hornet victory would create the possibility of a three-way tie at the season's end. Novato has two big advantages in the upcoming clash: unbeaten runner Don Hutton, and a wicked, hilly course opponents hate to run on.

Standings

Redwood 4-0, San Rafael 4-0, Novato 3-1, Tamalpais 2-3, San Marin 1-3, Terra Linda 1-4, Drake 0-4.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

USC Back Honored By Pac-8

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

SAN FRANCISCO — USC defensive back Bruce Dyer, who pilfered two key passes in the Trojans' 28-14 win over previously unbeaten Notre Dame, is this week's Pacific 8 defense player of the week.

Dyer returned his interceptions 28 yards and 53 yards with the second one going for a touchdown. The 179-pounder from Dearborn Heights, Michigan, also was credited with five tackles from his cornerback position.

Offensive honors earlier had gone to wide receiver Edesel Garrison of the Trojans and Washington State's Bernard Jackson.

Stanford

STANFORD — Stanford, upset victim last Saturday at the hands of Washington State, prepared Monday for their next Pacific-8 conference test Saturday against Oregon State in Corvallis.

Indians coach John Ralston said the squad heard a scouting report and watched game films of Oregon State, and then worked on setting basic offensive and defensive patterns in an hour and a half practice session.

California

BERKELEY — California quarterback Reed Chastang returned to practice Monday and began the tough job of trying to regain his starting position.

Chastang opened the Bears' first game against Arkansas, but separated a shoulder in the first period. He was replaced by Jay Cruze, who has led the Bears to three straight last minute victories.

Bears coach Ray Willsey said he will make a decision on whether to play Chastang this week in Berkeley against USC after watching Chastang in practice.

Oregon

EUGENE — Oregon held a very short no-pads workout Monday as they began preparation for their Saturday game against surprising Washington State in Spokane.

The offense worked on both passing and running and worked against simulated Washington State defenses.

The defense concentrated on pass coverage and WSU running formations.

Oregon State

He also worked both Steve Endicott and Jim Kilmartin at quarterback with the number one offensive unit.

Plunkett Returns Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — New England Patriots quarterback Jim Plunkett, last year's Heisman trophy winner from Stanford, will return to familiar territory Sunday, but he'll have a welcoming party led by the San Francisco 49er defensive front four.

The 49ers lead the 26-team national football league in the number of times its defensive unit has dropped the opposing quarterback for a loss — 25 in six games.

That statistic is primarily the work of three young linemen, ends Tommy Hart and Cedrick Hardman and tackle Earl Edwards, who combined with veteran tackle Charlie Krueger.

ARTERIES HARDENED

Deceased End Had 'Old' Heart

DETROIT (UPI) — The family of Chuck Hughes had a history of heart trouble, the Lions' team physician has disclosed, and the Detroit wide receiver had the heart of a man in his 40s.

An autopsy Monday disclosed Hughes, 28, had an undetected heart disease known medically as "arteriosclerosis," an abnormal thickening and hardening of the arterial walls.

A massive stoppage of the left coronary artery felled Hughes on the Chicago Bears' 15-yard line with 62 seconds to play in Sunday's National Football League game. He was pronounced officially dead 50 minutes after the end of the game but both Lions' doctors feel he was, in effect, dead when he hit the turf.

"The Chuck Hughes family — both mother and father — died of what appears to be a heart disease," said Dr. Edwin R. Guise, who along with Dr. Richard A. Thompson comprise the Detroit team of physicians.

"Possibly two different kinds," Dr. Guise said. "And there's a question about one brother." Hughes was one of 13 children.

"His heart was not consistent with his age," Dr. Guise said. "His heart was an older heart. I prefer to say he was a man with a heart of the 40s — and I use that age because that is my age."

The two doctors jointly released the Wayne County medical examiner's report and were emphatic in dissociating the football game from the heart attack.

"It could have happened at any time," Dr. Thompson said. "It was something that was bound to happen. It could have happened yesterday, the day before or tomorrow."

"Arteriosclerosis heart disease has been coming on with no visible signs for some time," Dr. Guise said. "Playing football contributed in that it was a stressful situation. There is some evidence to indicate that stressful situations can induce a terminal event in patients with heart trouble."

Hughes had a "false negative test," Dr. Guise said, when he passed the electrocardiogram every NFL player takes before a new season starts. He was hit hard in a Sept. 4 exhibition game and was hospitalized twice after complaining of abdominal pains.

"I don't know," Dr. Guise replied when asked if the 180-pound receiver was given any tests for heart damage at that time. "We gave him so many tests that I think we must have, but I'd have to go back and look at the results to be certain.

Minnesota Stops Colts 10-3

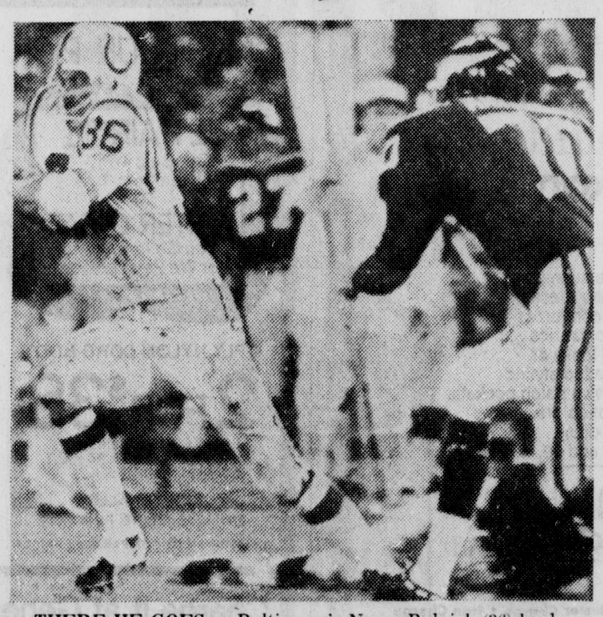
BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Two teams with mutual admiration, the Minnesota Vikings and the Baltimore Colts, spent the better part of Monday night's football game trading ball possession between the 30 yard lines.

But when the Vikings did get inside the Baltimore 30, which happened twice, they scored 10 points. And the Colts, who fared a bit better in field position, were stymied by three first half pass interceptions and two goal-line stands.

After the Vikings had emerged from a tense finish with a 10-3 win, coach Bud Grant grinned and said, "I think they could play in our division."

Judging by the relaxed atmosphere in the locker room of the defending super bowl champion Colts, they had surmised the Vikings can play with anybody now, too.

"It was a well fought, good football game," Baltimore coach Don McCafferty said. "Just a battle of two fine defenses. We're proud of our defense, and they have every right to be proud of theirs."



THERE HE GOES — Baltimore's Norm Bulaich (36) broke away for a 36-yard romp during last night's game against the Minnesota Vikings. Chasing Bulaich was Vikings' defensive end Jim Marshall. The Vikes downed the Colts, 10-3. (UPI Telephoto)

Someone asked McCafferty if the Colts would like to meet the Vikings again.

"I can't think about that," he replied. "We've got to look forward to next week."

If the teams did meet again, it would be in the Super Bowl — with Baltimore representing the American Conference, and Minnesota the champion of the National Conference.

And that's not out of the question, because the two teams lead the NFL in defense and are fighting for their division titles.

The two teams traded compliments just like they traded the ball 26 times with only three scores.

"They're the best defense we've faced by far," said Viking flanker Bob Grim, who entered the game with 22 receptions and didn't catch a pass. "Because of that double coverage they use, you get forced to the inside."

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas countered, "they play a zone defense they way it's supposed to be played. We had to look for the short passes."

Colt defensive end Bubb Smith added, "they just have one hell of a good front four. If they get ahead of you by more than one touchdown, like they did to us tonight, it's murder trying to catch them."

FISH AND GAME

Just Living Off Fat Of The Land

By AL GIDDINGS

Ravendale, Lassen County — I guess I left you last week with me in the 7 Acres Motel at Litchfield, my wife, Mary, in Woodacre with our car, and those two guys, Howard Leach and Jack Schaub enroute home to Sacramento. And it's snowing! Yep, those two left me up here hoping I'd stay in the tent in the coming snowstorm, but not this kid.

The good wife Mary arrived that night about 11 o'clock. We just let it snow. For two days we drove out to the camp, but it seemed best to stay at the motel.

We got in a duck hunt one day at a little pond near camp. We collected one mallard and three widgeon in an afternoon's shoot. Last Wednesday, we spent the evening with Charlie Heart and his family at Susanville. He said that two California Highway Patrol officers and a sheriff — all from Sonoma County — were coming up for a deer hunt. Charlie is a CHP man here in Lassen County. On the hunt I took a shotgun along for cottontails.

As it turned out it was a banner day for Mary. The entire trip became a booming success. She got herself a dandy three-pointer. It probably weighed about 160 pounds. We had gotten separated from the rest of the group, so we ended up packing it in making two trips to the car. Mary took a little more than a quarter, so things went good; her first trip she took the guns and her binoculars. (Those back packs are Godsends.) Of course all the fellows were duly impressed. Mary was in her glory!

Friday morning Enos Foster of Woodacre and his 11-year-old son, Scott, showed up about 7 o'clock. We knew they were coming so we had the two sets of horns sitting on the camp table where they couldn't miss seeing them. We got the desired results! Enos spent the day on a big hunt of his own with Scott going all the way. Enos said they hiked 10 miles, saw about 28 deer, one legal, two forks, two spikes and the rest does. The legal buck was just too far for a shot. Scott had a back pack on — no gun — but he collected deer horns, cowheads — anything that was interesting in the mountains. Some kid! Enos had arrived with our mail for which we were at first elated! What's going on down there? One state income tax bill came and they want money in October? The house tax bill came too. Up 200 bucks! Didn't they hear that state employees didn't get a raise this year? I guess it's "Stay up here, live in a tent!" No water bills, no taxes, a ranger services the one building around here once a week and he also collects the garbage. Live off the fat of the land, that's what I say!

On Saturday, Mary and I were waiting for Enos and Scott and two other hunters. George Kerbs of Woodacre and Larry Broussal (the French Chef) of San Francisco were coming for dinner. They had been out since early morning; it had been snowing most of the day. Mary and I had just returned from a ride, and she was putting together a stew. With just two days left to this deer season in this area, I hoped the boys connected.

Here they come now! One cottontail rabbit. Put it in the stew. Yep, living off the fat of the land!

Angels To Select Dalton Tomorrow

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Harry Dalton, director of player personnel for the American League Champion Baltimore Orioles, is expected to be named general manager of the California Angels Wednesday.

Angel President Robert Reynolds Monday announced the hiring of Dalton, 44, had been scheduled for that day.

"Throughout our talks with Dalton my feelings have ranged from doubtful to hopeful," Reynolds said. "I'm now very optimistic.

"I'm optimistic that we'll be able to make an announcement on Dalton at a press conference sometime Wednesday.

Reynolds said it was unlikely California will name a field manager at the conference.

"We'd like to announce both but right now the first step is the important one," the Angel president explained. "and, of course, we want our general manager to have the key voice in choosing his field manager."

Angel general manager Dick Walsh and Field Boss Lefty Phillips were fired after the club's 11th pennantless season.

Signups Slated For Saturday In Junior Cage

Registration will be held Saturday, Nov. 6, for the Terra Linda Recreation and Park Department's junior basketball program.

Boys in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are eligible to compete. Teams will be fielded from Santa Margarita, Don Timoteo, Bernard Hoffman, Nova Albion, Oakview, St. Isabella's, Mary Silveira, Lucas Valley, Oliver Hartzell and Dixie schools. Regular-season play will open in January following a Christmas tournament.

Registration fee is $5 for Terra Linda recreation district residents, and $6 for non-residents. Registration will be held at the district's offices, 670 Del Ganado, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Knee Surgery Set

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Rookie Ken Durrett of the Cincinnati Royals undergoes surgery Wednesday to repair a torn cartilage in his right knee. Durrett, injured in a game against Portland last Saturday night, will be sidelined for about 12 weeks.

vaunted San Rafael running attack, which features All-League halfback Scott Duncan, Mark Farrar, Dave Urquhart and alternate Jim Grigg. This group ran roughshod through all but Redwood, a team which later bowed to Terra Linda.

The Trojans showed the league they can stop the run with a defense bulwarked by linemen Mike Sabel, Larry Madden and backer Steve Withers. Safety John Buckley and halfback Rich Nicholes, a late developing star, anchor the pass defense.

San Rafael also has some excellent defensive stalwarts, such as end Duke Bessee, the Lechners, John and Bill, and Urquhart.

With defensive stars like these pervading the lineups, some observers foresee a low-scoring game. However, with championship survival at stake, it is likely that both squads will pull out all stops in repeatedly denting the scoreboard.

The other two championship candidates, Redwood and Novato, confront easier tasks. The Giants host San Marin, while the Novatans tackle Tamalpais.

In addition, the Hornet offense has awakened. Thus, Novato enemies have even more to worry about, like stopping the aerial antics of All-League quarterback Marty Moroski and the running of tailback Leo Magers.

Like Novato, Redwood has a comparatively easy assignment. The Giants will be trying to rebound from a 23-6 pasting by Terra Linda when battling San Marin. The Mustangs will attempt to spoil the Giant plans with the passing of sophomore quarterback Hoza Wright. The southpaw has exhibited outstanding potential and is determined to trigger a Mustang triumph.

The Wildcats of Kentfield dropped their first two, but they won the next five to serve notice that coach Bruno Banducci has transformed the school's erstwhile sagging fortunes.

PREP OF THE WEEK

Larry Madden Shows Dexterity

Larry Madden, a 6-foot-2, 180-pound defensive tackle at Terra Linda High School took honors by anchoring a highly inspired Trojan defense which walloped Redwood 23-6 Saturday. He intercepted a fourth quarter pass and rambled 48 yards for a touchdown to see the win.

In attempting to pinpoint the "why" behind his development, Trojan followers observe the junior is tremendously strong and very consistent. "He is a great pass blocker too," Blue and Gold coach Don Lucas pointed out.

Madden's football prowess is enhanced by his attitude. "I like to set my goals high and try to extend myself. I always try to be the best and give my best all the time.

"And that goes for the classroom also," the four-year I-J toter added. Sporting a healthy 3.0. Madden has aspirations for attending Idaho State. His reasons are not solely academically motivated; "I like the skiing there," he said referring to the hobby he has nurtured for the past two years.

The lanky lad with four tackles and 27 assists this season is also contemplating Oregon State University possibilities. His grandfather was the captain of the 1905 varsity football edition.

In addition, Madden was born in Corvallis, Ore., the Beaver's campus locale.

Although college looms over the immediate horizon, Madden is more concerned with the contemporary questions, like beating San Rafael Friday night or completing chemistry assignments.

Neither are easy tasks, but Madden is working hard on both. While putting in some two hours a day in the school week for football practice, Madden still finds time to plunge into classroom assignments.

He deems English interesting, "but I'm only taking chemistry because I have to." Madden is also studying American history under former Trojan frosh coach Brad Squires. "He's a very good teacher, because he questions things, and makes us think."

Apparently, the Madden family is heavily involved in several newspaper aspects. "My father (Paul J.) is working in the circulation department of a San Francisco paper," the 16-year-old noted.

A sister, Cathy, served part-time in the I-J circulation department in the summer.

Ironically, the family's newspaper ties run deeper than their past athletic affiliations. "Other than the grandfather," Larry's father interjected. "No one previously played in sports in our family."

However, Larry has turned the course of Madden history. The Madden family pioneer last year set the school's "B" discus mark of 136-feet, four inches.

"I enjoy swimming and listening to music also," Madden enthused.

In discussing the latter subject, Madden intimated that he prefers "rock, because it is easier to listen to and doesn't drag on. I like other music too, and I'm studying about Bach."

To complete his 25 hour day, Madden has tried his hand at the guitar. "But I've sort of stopped it for a while because of football."

Thus, when opposing coaches peel their proteges off the grass after a Madden tackle, they will know that Larry Madden is more than a commonplace footballer; he is an intense young man bent on excelling in all his endeavors.

Lamonica Says He's Prepared

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kansas City and Oakland are tied for the lead in the American Football Conference Western Division, but the Raiders think they will be on top after Sunday.

"It comes down to Kansas City and us again next Sunday," offensive guard Gene Upshaw says. "Somebody's going to be leading the West and it had better be us."

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who injured his little finger on his throwing hand against Cincinnati last Sunday and had to watch veteran George Blanda lead the team to a 31-27 comeback win over the Bengals, said, "My finger's sore now, but I'll be there."

At least one Raider — running back Marv Hubbard — is a bit apprehensive about the game with the Chiefs.

Hubbard, who scored three touchdowns against the Bengals and moved into the rushing leadership in the AFC, had some unkind words for the Chiefs after the two teams played to a 17-17 tie in their second meeting of the year.

"I'm scared to be perfectly honest," Hubbard said. "I know those guys are going to be looking for me. It's going to be a real war. We're gonna have to go after them. I think we'll be ready."

Both the Raiders and the Chiefs, with one loss each on their records, have five-game winning streaks on the line.

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys placed safety Richmond Flowers on waivers Monday and was claimed by and awarded to the Washington Redskins.

TITLE FIGHT

Rondon Thinking Ahead; Faces Brennan Tonight

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — You'd think the fight was over.

If World Boxing Association (WBA) light-heavyweight champ Vicente Rondon succeeds tonight against Gomeo Brennan in his third title defense this year, his stock as one of boxing's brightest young stars will again climb.

And Rondon says training will start almost immediately for a fight next month with world middleweight champ Carlos Monzon in Argentina.

For Brennan, who has 38 knockouts in 108 bouts to his credit — while Rondon has fought a total of 39 fights — a win in the scheduled 15-rounder at Miami Beach convention hall will be the culmination of a lifelong dream.

Rondon is a hard trainer and a hard puncher who told UPI, "I like to sweat," and traveled to Germany just two weeks ago to fight and win a non-title tuneup bout.

From a toothful smile between his mutton-chop whiskers, Brennan said, "I fought my first bout here in Miami Beach when I was 18 and if hard work, good shape and experience means anything, I'll take him."

The 31-year-old Brennan added "you must remember that I was fighting in 'battle royals' with kids in Bimini long before I ever came to Miami."

Twice British Empire middleweight champ, Brennan has wanted a world title shot "ever since I started fighting."

With a record of 35-5-1 Rondon wants his family to know the win will be for his late father. In this, his first defense outside Venezuela, Rondon's family will not be able to be on hand, but they'll be watching on television at home, he said.

His father died shortly after he won the WBA title Feb. 27 with a knockout over Jimmy Dupree. Bob Foster holds the title of the National Boxing Association (NBA) which does not recognize the WBA.

In his two previous title defenses, in Venezuela, the 6-2 former soldier, whose weight fluctuates between 174 and 178 pounds, earlier this year beat Italy's Piero Del Papa and Eddie "Bossman" Jones of the United States.

California In Road Go Tomorrow

It took the seals eight games this year to break into the national hockey league win column. Last year it took 10 games.

And Gerry Pinder's three goals that helped the Seals get that first win last Sunday with a 6-3 victory over Detroit was the third time in eight games a Seal has turned the hat trick. Last season California had just one three-goal performance.

The Seals continue their short road trip Wednesday when they meet Pittsburgh. Then they travel to Boston Thursday and return home Sunday.

Olivares Stops Kanazawa

King Decks Game Foe 3 Times

Olivares, an overwhelming favorite, finally caught up with his relentless body attack and stopped the courageous challenger. The end of the fight came at 2 minutes of the round.

Olivares, who was on the verge of being stopped himself in the 13th round by the comeback by the challenger, came out fighting hard as the 14th round opened. He drove Kanazawa against the ropes and punished the Japanese fighter severely with lefts and rights to the body.

Kanazawa took a nine-count knockdown from referee Jay Edson of Phoenix, Ariz. Kanazawa tried to fight back courageously but Olivares sent him down flat on his back with a two fisted attack.

Kanazawa rose gamely to his feet but he went down again before Olivares' hammering punches and the fight ended.

Upsets Hit British Net Tournament

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — The $48,000 Embassy Open tennis tournament moves into second round play today after an opening day marked by stunning upsets.

Among the top-ranked pros falling in opening round action were Stan Smith, the U.S. Open title holder; Ken Rosewall of Australia; and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.

Australian Ray Ruffels knocked out Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., 9-8, 6-4 while South Africa's Frew McMillan ousted Rose-wall, the Forest Hills winner a year ago, 6-4, 6-2.

Bob Hewitt of South Africa eliminated Reissen 9-8, 6-4 while John Newcombe from Australia, played back to form in beating countryman Owen Davidson 9-8, 9-8.

In other first round matches, Ilie Nastase of Romania beat Roy Barth of San Diego, Calif., 8-6, 6-4; Czechoslovakia's Jan Kodes defeated Australian Fred Stolle 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; John Alexander, also of Australia, ousted U.S. Davis cupper Frank Froehling 7-5, 6-2; and Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette, Calif., downed South Africa's Ray Moore 9-8, 6-3.

TROUBLED ABA TEAM

Pittsburgh Sold Again

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Condors, with an albatross of low attendance round their necks, Monday were sold to a group of Washington-Maryland businessmen, the fourth sale of the team in the last five years.

The Condors, whose pre-game attendance last season was a league-low 2,806 persons, will remain in Pittsburgh, according to general manager Mark Binstein.

Metro Sports, Inc., the new owner, announced its purchase of the American basketball association team from Haven Industries, a New York conglomerate, on Monday. League approval of the purchase was expected today, according to Donald H. Adams, a Bethesda, Md., investment banker and president of Metro Sports, Inc.

In their five-year history, the Condors have had three other owners, seven coaches, four nicknames and made three franchise shifts. Binstein denied published reports the sale would mean another shift.

"The difference between this offer and the six or seven other offers Haven Industries have received in the year a half they owned the club, is that this group did not want to move the franchise," Binstein said in Pittsburgh.

The team's new executive director is Arnold Heft, former part owner of the Baltimore Bullets and a former NBA referee. Heft is a builder in the Washington, D.C. area.

Other officers of Metro Sports include Victor H. Ottenstein, vice president, a prominent Washington businessman, and Leonard S. Blondes, secretary treasurer, a lawyer and former Maryland state legislator.

Mill Valley Gal Wins 2 Net Titles

Alice Reeve of Mill Valley was a double winner in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department Open Doubles Tournament Sunday.

Mrs. Reeve teamed with Betty Stephens of San Rafael to win the women's doubles over Mary Ann O'Neil and Marianne Hanley of Mill Valley, 6-1, 6-1, in a powerful display.

Then teamed with her husband, Jim, the Reeves defeated her women's doubles partners, Mrs. Stephens, who was a partner of Phil Seymour of Ross, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

In men's doubles, Seymour and Gordon Smith of Mill Valley downed George Garver and Mike O'Neil of Mill Valley, 7-6, 7-5.

Warriors Entertain Buffalo

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors play their second home game of the new National Basketball association season tonight when they meet the Buffalo Braves in the Oakland Coliseum arena.

The Warriors, playing almost all their home games in the Coliseum this year, are coming off a tough 115-109 overtime victory over Detroit last Saturday in their home opener.

Down by eight points with 4:50 left to play and playing without center Nate Thurmond, who had fouled out of the game, the Warriors came back in the final minutes to tie the game, and then broke the game open in the extra period on a seven-point burst by Jim Barnett.

"It was a thing of beauty. Very inspiring," Thurmond said afterwards. "It's been a long time since we've come back like that after being so far down late in the game. The guys really hustled."

SPORTS SHORTS

Vatican Radio Raps Automobile Racing

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

VATICAN CITY — Vatican Radio bitterly attacked the sport of automobile racing today and described its two latest victims as "Kamikazes dedicated to death."

The radio said it was commenting in the wake of the deaths Sunday of Joe Siffert of Switzerland and Ron Sheldon of the United States.

"These drivers," it said, "became ever more kamikazes dedicated to death. Shudders of emotion and indignation are raised everywhere, but nothing — or practically nothing — is done to guarantee the so-clear respect of the human being."

It took note "bitterly" of the current way the sport is operated and said it was a sport which remained deaf in the face of the "slaughter" of drivers.

Tennis

WEMBLEY, England — U.S. Open champion Billie-Jean King of Long Beach, Calif. today started defense of her singles title at the $45,000 Wills Embassy tournament with a comfortable victory over Briton Shirley Brasher.

Mrs. King, chasing the top prize of $2,400, needed only 40 minutes to defeat the British No. 8, a veteran mother of three, 6-4, 6-1.

Basketball

BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Bullets regained Archie Clark today, but still were uncertain about Earl Monroe's plans for returning to the club.

Clark, who came to the Bullets from Philadelphia in a trade for Fred Carter and Kevin Loughery, was suspended with Monroe last Friday for failing to show up for a game with New York.

Clark apologized to Bullet fans Monday night for going AWOL and promised them he would do what he could to bring them "an exciting season of NBA ball." He will be in uniform for tonight's game in Milwaukee against the champion Bucks.

Baseball

STANFORD — Hospital authorities said surgery "went fine as expected" Sunday on San Francisco Giants First baseman Willie McCovey.

Dr. Fred Behling, Stanford's team physician, performed the operation for a torn cartilege in McCovey's left knee. The Giants said McCovey was expected to stay in the hospital for about a week.

General

DETROIT — A scholarship fund has been set up to pay for the education of 23-month-old Brandon Shane Hughes, son of the late Detroit Lions' wide receiver.

McNulty Gets Second

Penalties Ire NFL Team Boss

The San Francisco 49ers, who Sunday set a new team penalty mark of 168 yards in a single game, are not the only ones afflicted with foul problems. Take the case of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The American Football Conference team's coach Chuck Noll, referring to the 511 yards marched off against the squad in six league games, commented Monday that league officials are making "ridiculous" calls this season.

The Steelers received seven 15-yard penalties during Sunday's 23-16 victory over the Houston Oilers. Noll complained Monday that some of the four offensive holding fouls against Pittsburgh were called merely because players had their arms outstretched.

"It's the whole emphasis on calls," Noll said. "Some coaches complain that things are not being called, so the league tells the officials to look for this or look for that, and they start calling things."

"We had a holding call on Jon Kolb when he was 10 or 12 yards away from the play on the other side of the field and the ball-carrier already was being tackled. One of the Houston players ran in front of him and all he did was put his hands out to keep from stepping on his foot. It was a simple human reaction."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Size Of The Pie Remains The Same

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. If I bought 100 shares of stock "A" at $40 and two years later it split 5-for-2, I would then hold 250 shares.

If the market value for stock "A" drops to $8 can I sell my original 100 shares, and take the tax loss on my original total cost?

This would leave me with 150 shares at no cost for a later capital gain.

Would this be permitted by the Internal Revenue Service? — I.G.

A. No, since your original 100 shares no longer exist as an entity.

If you think of the corporation as a pie, the concept becomes simple.

Whether a pie is cut in four pieces or 10 pieces, the pie remains the same size.

On the original cutting you had two pieces to eat, now you have five, but no matter how you slice it you still have half the pie.

Your original $4,000 total cost must be equally assigned to each of the 250 shares, giving you a per share cost of $16.

Sale of 100 shares at $8 would mean a realized loss of $800 and a paper loss of $1,200 on the remaining 150 shares.

Q. I purchased SMC Investment Corp. at 17½ late in 1968.

It is now below 10. Should I buy more to average down, hold or sell? — L.G.

A. These OTC shares, purchased at the initial offering, are trading at a substantial discount from net asset value.

However, since a large proportion of the company's assets are in non-marketable restricted securities, value assessments are difficult to make.

These restricted securities may be sold only through a private transaction or by filing a registration statement with the SEC for a public stock offering.

SMC is a closed-end investment trust with heavy emphasis on venture capital investments.

While SMC's portfolio contains securities of some well-known corporations, a larger number of its investments are in relatively untested companies.

Rough(neck) 'n Ready Red Adair Has A Job No One Else Wants

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Red Adair has made a career of taking on jobs nobody else in the oil industry seems to want or can handle: well blowouts and fires.

Many regard Adair, who headquarters in Houston, as a hell-for-leather roughneck who jets around the world snuffing out huge fires with dynamite blasts. That's part of what he does, but he also is a master technician of the oil industry and intimately familiar with the hardware and equipment used in the business.

He's a consultant in catastrophe situations. Oil companies won't say how much they pay Adair to do his thing, but they will say he's "worth every dollar."

The son of a blacksmith, he was born Paul N. Adair in Houston June 18, 1915. Adair dropped out of the seventh grade after the school house, located across the street from the fire department, burned down. He worked as a soda jerk before entering the oil fields as a roughneck.

He became an oil fire fighter in 1946 for Myron M. Kinley, a pioneer in the field of dousing oil blazes. Kinley said he was impressed by the way Adair once calmly capped an oil well blowout and once was uninjured in a blowout that blew him 50 feet into the air. When Kinley retired in 1959, Adair went into business for himself.

A five-foot, six-inch, 180 pounder with red hair and freckles, Adair can be quick with a smile or a temper tantrum. He and his wife have a son and daughter, both married. When he is not battling oil fires, Adair flirts with danger in a powerful racing boat or takes it easy aboard his 27-foot fishing boat. He also has four cars, all painted red.

When Red talks about what he does he lapses into an oil field argot that is hard for most people to understand.

He's likely to say, "We'll put on a packoff assembly head," or, "up here, we have a split slip and hanger designed to handle 10,000 pounds pressure."

When Adair appeared at a news conference in New Orleans while a big offshore fire was under way he showed he had a philosophical side. It came out when a young lady from a television station asked him, "Mr. Adair, is there any danger to your personnel?"

"This is what our business is, ma'am, we don't worry about it."

Parker Is Elected To Summit Post

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Robert G. Parker has been elected executive vice-president of Summit Corp. of San Francisco and Wichita, Kan., national distributors for Petroleum Resources Fund Inc.

Before joining Summit Corp., Parker was managing general partner of P M R Co., a San Francisco brokerage firm, and vice-president and co-owner of Pacific Securities, Sacramento.

Market Closes Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market found little in the news to its liking and closed lower today despite a brisk rise early in the session.

Some analysts labeled the initial advance a "technical rally" after nine consecutive declines in key market averages, but they noted that there was no news to give it any support.

The late selling continued to reflect uncertainty about Phase Two of President Nixon's economic policy, world monetary concern, and some worry over possible repercussions stemming from the ouster of Nationalist China from the United Nations.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.14 at 94.96, and declines topped advances, 889 to 439, among the 1,664 issues crossing the tape.

New Mill Valley Store Has Two Names, Two Sets Of Owners

A new store opened in Mill Valley is owned by two sets of sisters and has two names — but is operated as one establishment.

Quimbaya, a venture of Joan and Elizabeth Heller, and Sherwood Forest Crafts, and operation of Bonnie and Janet Moss — all of Mill Valley — have 149 Throckmorton Avenue as their joint address.

Quimbaya deals in South American imports and also Appalachian crafts. The Heller sisters lived in Colombia several years and are familiar with items from that area.

Sherwood Forest Crafts handles such items as antique clothing, handmade pocketbooks and other leather goods and miscellaneous crafted articles.

Merchandise items are displayed together and all the owners are familiar with each other's lines. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays. Closed Mondays.

SEVERAL NEW TENANTS have opened offices at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, leased by Stephen Kramer, realtor at that address.

There are two new law offices. One is that of Cahn and Dorne, whose principals, Norman Cahn and Robert Dorne, both live in Marin and have relocated their business from Oakland. The other is a new branch office for Kant, Gordon and Myers of Beverly Hills.

Also in the building is a new marketing company, Canco, Inc., headed by Jack Canterbury of Crest Marin.

He has taken an office at the Marin Builders Exchange, 110 Belvedere Street, San Rafael.

CONGRATULATIONS to Frank Rodarte of San Anselmo, who next Monday will celebrate his first year back in Marin County with his Frank's Shoe Repair at 875 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

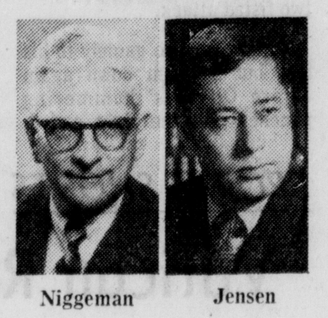
For eight years he had his shop in San Anselmo, but then he opened in San Francisco and stayed there for five years before moving his business back to the county.

INSURANCE: Donald Shank of Novato has received an award from the Farmers Insurance Group marking 10 years with the organization. Richard Bartholomew of San Rafael has received a similar award for his five years with Farmers.

LOUIS W. NIGGEMAN of Kentfield, president and chief executive officer of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, will be questioned by a panel of graduate students from the University of California in Berkeley and Stanford University on Thursday at 8 p.m. on KQED (Channel 9). Subject will be "Insurance and the Public Interest."



Niggeman Jensen

W. CHARLES JENSEN of Larkspur has been elected president of J. A. Sanford and Co. San Francisco and Malibu firm specializing in municipal and assessment bond financing. One of the co-founders of the company, which was established in 1968, he started his career in the government bond department of C. F. Childs and Co., Chicago and later spent several years in New York before moving to the Pacific Coast.

Brand New Look For Airline

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Hughes Airwest Airlines has unveiled its new look — yellow from nose to tail.

The futuristic image of the airline has changed the fleet of DC9's from nose to tail and gives employes a new fashionable look from head to toe.

Windows on the airliners will be treated with glare resistent material and the tail sports a new insignia illuminated by wingtip light beams.

Hostesses have new uniforms to match the yellow aircraft. Mario Armond Zamparelli of Los Angeles designed the hostess costumes.

Russell Stephenson Jr., vice president of marketing, said Friday the new futuristic image would play an important role in an aggressive marketing program during 1972. The same colors eventually will be used inside passenger cabins and at airport ticket counters.

FAIRGROUNDS REVERTING TO DESERT?

A tractor-loader grinds toward rolls of turf, to scoop up and haul away the lush bluegrass that landscaping crews labored a few weeks ago to install in time for the Marin County Fair alongside the Civic Center Lagoon. County Parks and Recreation Director Pierre W. Joske explained today that the turf was of a type too difficult to maintain under heavy use. He said landscaping contractor A. and J. Shooter of San Rafael was replacing it with new seeding at no cost to the county. Passers by hauled away free carloads of the turf yesterday and today. The sudden landscaping caught Veterans Memorial Building Director Leon G. Kalimos by surprise yesterday; he summoned sheriff's deputies before he found out the work was legitimate. No Peking Answer To U.N.; Thant Unity Call

Nationalists' Ouster Severe Blow To U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Secretary General Thant issued an extraordinary appeal today for unity in a United Nations which expelled Nationalist China and was still without official confirmation from Peking that Red China had accepted its new U.N. seat. (See other stories page 7.)

"I solemnly appeal to all member states to leave no room for bitterness but on the contrary to abide by the decision of the General Assembly and endorse the tremendous step forward which has been taken last night," Thant said in a statement.

The United Nations voted overwhelmingly Monday night to seat Communist China and expel the Nationalists in a move that dealt the United States its worst diplomatic defeat in the 26-year-history of the U.N. and which shifted the balance of political power in the U.N.

There was no immediate official reaction from Peking, but the Hungarian news agency MTI reported from Peking that a Foreign Office official called the decisive 76 to 35 vote with 17 abstentions "a good vote."

Thant invited the Peoples Republic of China to assume membership but there was no word yet. If Peking follows the lead of the ther U.N. members it would send some top ranking official, possibly Premier Chou En-lai, to make a policy speech.

The first impact from Peking was felt in Geneva, site of the U. N. disarmament talks. A Chinese Communist official there called for a world summit conference to discuss disarmament.

Thant, apparently taking note of anger and dismay in such capitals as Washington, said the Monday night vote to seat Communist China made the 26th General Assembly "a session of decision."

While expressing sadness at departure of the Nationalists, Thant said the decision to admit Peking "may enable us to solve more effectively the international problems with which we are confronted."

"However," he said, "This will imply that no member turns its back on new tasks and new prospects which are now facing the international community."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington he believed the U.N. "will be damaged" by the expulsion of Nationalist China but that Washington must accept the fact that the decision was a majority one.

There were no Nationalist government statements. Taipei was content to rest on the farewell statement of Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai who dramatically led the Nationalists out of the Assembly before the crushing 76 to 35 vote, with 17 abstentions.

He said the world body which Nationalist China helped found in 1945 had become "a circus." Then he staged a walkout of such dignity that the assembly gave him a spontaneous ovation.

Throughout Europe the reaction was that Peking had at last gained its "rightful place" in the United Nations, the same reaction that came from the Soviet news agency Tass. And there was a general belief that world power politics would change and change drastically with China representing 700 million persons.

Inside the great assembly hall of the United Nations the normally staid body erupted into the closest thing to pande-

Tribunal Rejects Michigan Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to disturb a massive school busing order in troubled Pontiac, Mich., where white and black parents and their children have clashed over desegregation and the Ku Klux Klan was linked to bus bombings.

In a brief order without comment, the Court refused to review a Feb. 17, 1970, ruling of U.S. District Judge Damon J. Keith, which later was upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Although there was no formal segregation policy in the automaking city, Keith ordered half its 25,000 pupils bused. He held that the school board "intentionally utilized" its power to perpetuate existing segregation created by housing patterns.

Heretofore, desegregation considered by the high court has been "de jure" —that is, imposed by law.

The other kind is "de facto" —brought about by housing patterns that create all-black schools in ghettoes like New York City's Harlem. The Court has passed up chances to examine it over several years in cases from Gary, Ind., Cincinnati and Kansas City.

The upshot of these and lower federal court actions is to allow school boards to overcome de facto segregation if they wish but not to force them to do so.

In the Pontiac case, blacks argued that the situation there was "de jure" —an outgrowth of official action. The school board argued it was "de facto" —merely a result of population movements that authorities were trying to counteract.

The 6th circuit relied on one of its own opinions in a Cincinnati case in coming down on the side of the complainants. The opinion said, "Bare statistical imbalance alone is not forbidden —there must also be present a quantum of official discrimination in order to invoke the protection of the 14th Amendment."

The Circuit Court agreed with Judge Keith that the Pontiac Board of Education did a great deal to bring about segregation there and "is now responsible to take action to eliminate the very situation which it caused."

Keith said the Pontiac board "intentionally utilized the power at their disposal to locate new schools and arrange boundaries in such a way as to perpetuate the pattern of segregation within the city ..."

Thus, he said, the board "deliberately, in contradiction of their announced policies of achieving a racial mixture in the schools, prevented integration."

He added, "sins of omission can be as serious as sins of commission."

"Where a board of education has contributed and played a major role in the development and growth of a segregated situation, the board is guilty of de jure segregation," he held. "The fact that such came slowly and surreptitiously rather than by legislative pronouncement makes the situation no less evil."

His ruling sharply divided Pontiac, a city of some 68,000 whites and 17,000 blacks 25 miles northwest of Detroit. An organization called The Concerned Parents of the Pontiac Scnnhool District was formed in May 1970, and the school board appealed his ruling.

At the time, the board was busing 3,600 children up to 3 1-2 miles within the 39-square-mile district, none of them for reasons of integration.

On Aug. 30, 1971, 10 of the city's 57 buses were destroyed in a fire-bombing. Ten days later, FBI agents arrested six men, including two linked to the Michigan Ku Klux Klan, on federal charges of conspiring to bomb the buses and to violate the 1968 Civil Rights Act.

Schools opened on schedule with pickets daring bus drivers to run over them. Eight white students and one black were injured in scuffles at one junior high school and nine persons were arrested at the school bus depot.

Pontiac school officials pledged to implement the court-ordered integration plan despite the loss of $50,000 worth of buses.

Kissinger Ends Trip To Peking

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returned to the United States today after a six-day visit to the People's Republic of China.

The 707 jetliner carrying the Kissinger party took off for Washington at 9:05 a.m. EDT.

Kissinger landed at Elmendorf Air Force Base from Peking where he made arrangements for President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Red China.

Kissinger, Nixon's national security affairs adviser, was to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., tonight.

An announcement of the date of Nixon's journey to Communist China was expected soon after Kissinger reported to the President.

Kissinger's plane landed at 8:30 a.m. EDT. He did not leave the plane and no details were given concerning the talks between him and Premier Chou En-lai.

It was assumed that Kissinger fixed a date for Nixon's visit to Peking and prepared the main topics of discussion. It was his second trip to Red China to make arrangements.

Kissinger originally had been scheduled to stay in Peking four days. It was not known why he remained longer.

Kissinger traveled with about 30 White House and state department staff members, including Far East experts, communications specialists, the Secret Service and representatives of the press office.

Peking Radio said Kissinger and his party were seen off at the airport by Yeh Chien-ying, vice chairman of the Chinese Military Commission, by Chi Peng-fei, Chinese acting Foreign Minister, and other Chinese officials.

RED CHINESE ASK AN ARMS SUMMIT

Plea For Worldwide Disarmament Talk Follows Nation's Admission To U.N.

GENEVA (UPI) — Chinese Communist diplomats in Geneva called Tuesday for a world summit conference on disarmament following admission of mainland China to the United Nations.

They said no decision has been taken by the Peking regime on joining the 25-nation U.N. disarmament committee which began negotiations in Genva in 1962.

"We desire a world conference at the summit level to discuss the disarmament question," the diplomats at the Chinese consulate said in reply to questions.

The outcome of top-level talks would determine whether negotiations could continue within the framework of a permament forum such as the Geneva conference, they said.

The officials said "we have nothing to say" when asked whether mainland China would join such specialized U.N. agencies as the World Health Organization (WHO) which are based in Geneva.

There have been indications over the past year, however, that this is likely although perhaps not immediately.

The Chinese consulate staff has been growing and now includes officials who speak excellent English and French. The consulate could easily be turned into a diplomatic mission accredited to the U.N. European headquarters here.

Chinese diplomats also have suddenly begun answering telephone calls and receiving visitors as well as inviting western newsmen to receptions and cocktail parties.

Both Western and Communist diplomats said Peking's membership in the United Nations is bound to affect the disarmament conference.

Further negotiations without Peking, they said, could well cast doubt on the value of the conference.

If the Chinese eventually take part there will have to be structural changes, they said.

It would be most unlikely, for example, that Peking would accept the system under which the United States and Soviet Union provide co-chairmen. More likely there would be five chairmen, from Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States.

The disarmament conference has negotiated several important international agreements since 1962, none of which have been signed by Peking.

These include the limited nuclear test ban treaty, the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, the pact banning emplacement of nuclear weapons on the seabed, and the promotion of biological weapons.

Negotiations next year will center on a comprehensive nuclear test ban which would outlaw underground explosions as well as those in the atmosphere, outer space and underwater.

President Hears Agnew Trip Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew met with President Nixon for more than an hour today to report on his recent trip to Turkey, Iran and Greece.

Agnew represented the President at the 2,500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian dynasty and met with several heads of state during the ceremonies. He also conferred on NATO matters with officials in Greece and Turkey during his 13-day tour abroad.

MEASURE B

Aqueduct Tab Could Be High As $119 Million

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
(Second of three articles)

Marin Municipal Water District is asking in Measure B on next Tuesday's ballot for authorization to enter into contracts estimated at $35,300,000 plus interest to participate in a long-range program of the Sonoma County Water Agency that ultimately may run the district's obligation to $119 million.

This program is based on the Warm Springs Dam, which is being constructed by the Army Corps of Engineers in northern Sonoma County as a flood control project.

Along with a measure of control on Russian River flooding, this dam will create a huge reservoir with a safe yield — even in years of drought — of 115,000 acre feet of water per year, most of which now runs to waste down the river during the rainy season. (An acre foot is the amount of water which will cover one acre to a depth of one foot.)

Sonoma County, through its board of supervisors wearing the hats of directors of the Sonoma County Water Agency, has committed itself to participate in construction of the dam as a water supply measure, and in a system of aqueducts to get the water where it is needed. Without the aqueduct system, the water would merely be released into the Russian River in orderly fashion to prevent flooding.

The aqueduct system will take water released from the Warm Springs Reservoir out of the river again and pipe it to users in Sonoma County. Since there is more water available than the Sonoma officials believe will be needed in their own long-range plan, North Marin and Marin Municipal Water Districts were invited to participate in the cost in return for shares of the water. The North Marin district already is committed.

Under the terms of the contract which would be authorized by passage of Measure B, Marin Municipal Water District would receive 44,000 acre feet of water per year from the Warm Springs Reservoir via the Russian River-aqueduct

Kosygin, Trudeau Seek An End To Underground Nuclear Tests

TORONTO (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin ended his eight-day visit to Canada today by joining in a joint Soviet-Canadian communique pledging to seek a ban on underground nuclear tests such as the planned U.S. blast at Amchitka, Alaska.

Kosygin flew to Havana, Cuba, en route home to Moscow this morning.

In a joint communique, both Canada and the Soviet Union also expressed continued anxiety over the Indochina situation.

Although the statement did not mention directly the planned U.S. test at Amchitka, it was believed the reference to underground tests may have been included at Canada's insistence. Canada has voiced strong opposition to the Amchitka blast.

Kosygin's plane landed at Havana airport at 12:09 p.m. EDT and he was greeted by Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and enthusiastic crowds waving Russian and Cuban flags.

The greeting was shown on Cuban television, picked up in the Florida keys. Havana radio, monitored in Miami, made no mention of Castro, however. Instead, it made reference to "representatives and the diplomatic corps" greeting Kosygin.

Kosygin's special IL62D took off from Toronto International Airport at 8:19 a.m. EDT for a flight to Havana that took the Soviet Premier over the United States.

Soviet officials said Kosygin's plane had concluded arrangements to take the shorter route over the United States to the Cuban capital where the premier will visit for three or four days.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's wife, Margaret, seven months pregnant and wearing matched baby-blue coat and nylons, led the group of officials at the airport to bid farewell to Kosygin, his daughter and other aides. Other Canadian officials included Defense Minister Donald MacDonald, Se, Paul Martin and chief of protocol Jean Cote.

Kosygin, looking fit and cheerful despite a security-laden tour of five Canadian cities that saw him cheered and booed, demonstrated against and once assaulted, sttod at attention on a low dais as he took the salute from an 18-man Canadian armed forces honor guard near the huge blue and white Russian jet on the tarmac.

A military band played both Canadian and Soviet national anthems as Kosygin spiritedly shook hands with officials and some of the security guards. On the boarding ramp, Kosygin turned and waved to newsmen.

FDA Will Act On Lead In Paint

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Food and Drug Administration official said Tuesday the agency plans to sharply restrict lead content of many paints to combat lead poisoning which kills an average of 200 American children every year.

The move coincides with a Consumer Report magazine story saying that of nine brands of pencils tested, four were coated with paint containing lead levels far above the 1 per cent voluntary standard adopted by the American Standards Institute and the Pencil Makers Association.

Jerome J. Donovan, deputy director of the division of Hazardous Substances and Poison Control in the FDA's Bureau of Product Safety, said the FDA's proposal would limit lead content to 0.5 per cent, half that allowed under the industry's voluntary standard.

Soviet Missile Expert Is Dead

MOSCOW (UPI)—Mikhail K. Yangel, the Soviet Union's leading rocket specialist, died of a heart attack Monday, the Soviet news agency Tass reported today. He was 60.

Like all leading Soviet space scientists Yangel's participation in the space program was a carefully guarded secret until his death.

In his obituary, which was signed by all the top Soviet leaders, he was credited with making a significant contribution to rocketry.

McCarthy Enters?

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — The Minnesota campaign manager for Eugene McCarthy says the former senator is mailing 100,000 letters to supporters saying he is, in effect, a candidate for president in 1972.

Attorney John Connolly of St. Paul said the letters were to be mailed today to those who backed McCarthy's 1968 presidential bid and to more recent supporters.

Connolly said the letters would say that McCarthy "is going to expand his campaign staff, that he will be a candidate for president in nonprimary states and that he's giving serious consideration to going into the primaries."

No Comment

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government withheld comment today on reports Pakistan President Agha Yahya Khan has responded favorably to offers from U.N. Secretary General Thant to intercede in the border dispute between the two countries.

An Indian official said a similar offer made by Thant Oct. 21 to the Indian government was under consideration and that a suitable reply would be sent soon.

The official Radio Pakistan said Monday that Yahya Khan has asked Thant to visit both India and Pakistan in a message sent Thursday in response to Thant's offer the same day to help reduce the tension which has arisen because of a military buildup by both countries along the borders.

LBJ On Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York Times report of March 10, 1968, that American officials were considering sending 206,000 more U.S. troops to Vietnam in response to the Communist Tet offensive came after Lyndon B. Johnson had decided not to grant the request.

The former President gave the account in excerpts from his forthcoming book "Vantage Point Perspectives of the Presidency 1963-1969" printed today in the Washington Post. He said the information leaked to The Times came from "lower levels" in his administration and that the informants did not know he already had turned down a Pentagon request for more than 200,000 additional troops.

Johnson said he told his senior advisers March 8, 1968, that "I am not going to approve 205,000."

Population Issue

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Of a dozen sensitive and controversial subjects raised in 25 days of debate among Roman Catholic churchmen, the one nobody mentioned was birth control.

Then a cardinal broke the silence yesterday and raised the possibility of a new worldwide furor over the subject.

Vatican sources said Cardinal John C. Heenan, the Roman Catholic primate of England, proposed a fresh examination of the population explosion issue.

His proposal was accepted by fellow committee members and will come before the 210-member 3rd International Synod of Bishops within two or three days, the sources said.

Discussion of the issue was certain to remind Roman Catholics of the 1968 encyclincal by Pope Paul VI which forbade any man-made means of birth control.

Visit Arrests

ATHENS (UPI) — While the Greek military regime was giving a triumphal welcome to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew last week, police were arresting 36 persons, including two leaders in the Greek Communist party.

The Ministry of Public Order reported yesterday that security police raided a secret Communist party meeting near Athens Oct. 18 and arrested 32 persons, including the one-time premier of a Communist guerrilla movement, Dimitros Partsalides.

In a separate action, police arrested four members of a student resistance organization who officials said planned to blow up a power substation a few blocks from Agnew's hotel, the ministry said.

Both raids came during Agnew's eight-day visit to the land of his ancestors.

Critic Arrested

MADRID (UPI) — Art comic Jose-Aria Moreno, who told students to "live a free life — like Picasso" minutes before he was to deliver a lecture on the famed artist-expatriot, was arrested by police yesterday at Madrid University.

University spokesmen said Moreno and several others were arrested before the scheduled lecture, approved earlier by the university, to extol Pablo Picasso on the occasion of his 90th birthday.

The government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco ignored the birthday, celebrated around the world yesterday. Picasso left Spain shortly before Franco's Nationalists defeated the Republicans in the Spanish Civil War and has not returned to his native country in the 32 years since.

Speeding Bicycles May Get A Ticket

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)— Bicycles are so numerous in this quiet city of retired persons and university students that Police Chief Geno Pini warned Monday officers may start giving cyclists speeding tickets.

What constitutes speeding on a bicycle? Pini said each case would be decided on the basis of whether the speed was more than "reasonable or prudent" for conditions.

Cong Ambushes A Truck Convoy

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong ambushed an American army dump truck convoy today on a road 50 miles northeast of Saigon in an attack that killed one GI and wounded two others. The Americans called in helicopters and artillery to drive off the guerrillas.

The U.S. command at the same announced that Typhoon Hester destroyed or heavily damaged 58 American helicopters at a loss of at least $10 million when the storm hit the Chu Lai military base, forcing collapse of 12 huge hangars.

About 40 Viet Cong attacked on Highway 20 connecting Saigon with the mountain resort of Da Lat, long considered one of the safest roads in Vietnam. The last ambush of U.S. troops in the area took place on Highway 316 more than 20 months ago. The unprotected trucks were on a routine road work detail.

It was one of two ambushes reported today in the general area of Saigon. In the other, Monday afternoon, a South Vietnamese payroll convoy was attacked 40 miles northwest of the capital near Dau Tieng. Eight South Vietnamese were wounded but the payroll was saved.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, Viet Cong units overran an allied outpost in Kiem Phong province 60 miles west of Saigon today. They killed four government militamen and wounded 11 others and other Communist forces renewed the shelling of the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krek, 85 miles northwest of Saigon after a four-day lull.

Allied fighter bombers and helicopters strafed and bombed areas southwest and southeast of Krek inside South Vietnam and blew up large areas of what the pilots described as Communist fortifications.

The typhoon, which the South Vietnamese government said was the worst in 27 years, killed at least 70 persons, including three Americans, at the base which was all but destroyed.

The South Vietnamese worked to provide food, housing and money for relief to the victims of the storm and announced it would put up a reserve fund of $700,000 for emergency aid.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) said it was dedicating $350,000 to typhoon relief in South Vietnam, according to a broadcast from Hanoi Radio.

As the government directed relief efforts to the stricken areas of northern South Vietnam, Viet Cong units carried out their second raid in a week in a Saigon suburb, bombing a police station and wounding five police.

An Exchange Of Gunfire In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops exchanged gunfire today with snipers across the border of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

The troops have been blowing up secondary border roads to stop members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) from slipping into the violence-ridden north. No soldiers were injured in two shooting incidents.

Snipers also fired on British troops in Belfast and Londonderry but no casualties were reported. An army spokesman said British troops had come under sniper fire more than 60 times since Friday, more than in any previous four-day period since the internment measure went into effect on Aug. 9.

The army also reported that as of Monday night the death toll from violence in Northern Ireland this year stood at 100.

Landmark School Bill Sparks House Fight

MOSCOW (UPI)—More than 90 Jews returned to their homes in six Soviet cities today after their protest attempt ended in arrest and six hours in the police drunk tank.

Jewish spokesmen said 92 dissidents from six cities were arrested Monday when they tried to deliver protest letters to the Communist party headquarters in Moscow.

Most of them were taken into custody outside the green and white party headquarters where Communist party chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev has his office. But by sundown, most of the Jewish dissidents were released with no charges filed against them.

The roundup was the largest mass arrest of dissident Jews since they began a militant campaign to obtain permission to emigrate to Israel. Both Jews and foreign observers were puzzled and surprised that the arrests were organized on the same day that Brezhnev, the party's general secretary, flew to Paris for an official visit.

Jews have delivered protest petitions to the party headquarters a dozen times in the past two months without being arrested. The detentions Monday served to attract attention to Jewish unrest in the Soviet Union at a time when Brezhnev is striving for favorable headlines from his French trip.

Spokesmen said the roundup took place at noon when a delegation of five Jews took four protest letters into the party headquarters. About 60 others waited outside, following the practice established in the numerous other visits Jews have made to the headquarters building.

But before the five-man representation returned, the 60 had been surrounded by police and ordered into waiting cars and buses. When the delegation came out, they, too, were put aboard the buses.

92 Protest Jews Jailed In Moscow

SAIGON (UPI)—A massive security plan to protect President Nguyen Van Thieu during inauguration ceremonies Sunday went into effect today with security agents threatening to shoot persons who don't follow instructions.

"If you go out on the roof, or we see you in the window, we will shoot you," one agent told residents and servants in an apartment building overlooking Lam Son Square.

He advised them to stay inside or leave the building entirely during the Sunday inauguration, they said.

On the downtown streets of the capital, army troops and combat and city police set up increased numbers of checkpoints in an apparent move to keep would-be troublemakers from the area.

Security agents were setting up mobile field stations on thhe roofs and in unoccupied apartments to give them a good view of the streets and surrounding area.

The scene was guarded by dozens of police and soldiers.

Antigovernment militants kept up their hit-and-run attacks during the day, but stayed away from the downtown area, where the bulk of the security force was concentrated.

Saigon Under Wraps For Thieu Inaugural

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A landmark higher education bill fell victim today to bitter interparty fighting in the House over a school desegregation bill and the issue of busing students.

The $23 billion, five-year authorization measure to extend and revamp current aid to higher education programs had been scheduled to come to the House floor today. It was put off by the Democratic leadership and there was a chance it may not surface this year.

The historic measure, which would authorize for the first time direct federal aid to private and public colleges, was caught in a squeeze between forces opposed to and those in favor of an administration-sought bill to help schools meet the costs of desegregation.

The higher education bill was scheduled for a vote last week, but was pulled off the House program after lengthy testimony held up Rules Committee clearance. The committee finally agreed on a rule Thursday and the bill was scheduled for action today, but it was yanked from the program a second time when forces favoring a desegregation bill indicated they might offer their measure as an amendment to the higher education bill.

The integration measure, sought last year by President Nixon, would authorize $1.5 billion over two years to help pay the costs of desegregation ordered by a court or federal agency or that which is achieved voluntarily.

The Senate passed the bill in April and the House Education and Labor Committee, acting on advice from Speaker Carl Albert, said it would not consider the measure any more this year.

A major point of controversy was Nixon's effort to include a provision in the bill to ban use of any of the money for busing students. The amendment is certain to be offered with a recorded vote demanded when and if the bill comes to the House floor.

Some big city northern Democrats, long-time champions of busing, now are under heavy pressure from suburban white constituents faced for the first time with court-ordered busing that could send their children to ghetto schools.

14 Whooping Cranes At Nesting Grounds

Austwell, Tex. (UPI)—So far 14 whooping cranes of the world's only flock have arrived at their winter nesting grounds on the Texas coast, according to Aransas National Wildlife Refuge officials.

"We had 57 last year and we were hoping we'd break the 60 mark this year," refuge spokesman Charles Ward said Monday. "We have seven pairs right now, and they seem to be in real fine shape."

A Fight Builds On Fish

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation to force the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to plug acknowledged holes in food inspection methods comes before a Senate committee Wednesday, with the administration resisting tough Democratic proposals.

At issue is whether fish processing plants should be inspected daily, as are meat and poultry plants, and whether the FDA should be tied to a tighter inspection schedule for other foods considered particularly susceptible to chemical and biological contaminants.

The Senate Commerce Committee takes up the legislation privately Wednesday. Since hearings were held in May, the issue has received fresh impetus from discovery of deadly botulin in canned soup and the revelation that polychlorinated biphenyls (PCB's), an industrial chemical, were found in poultry, eggs and some packaged foods.

Sen. Philip A. Hart D-Mich., is pushing a bill that would require daily inspection of fish plants and would require the FDA to list other foods it had reason to believe might become contaminated. For each such food, the FDA would have to issue inspection and lab testing schedules and adhere to them.

The administration is backing rival legislation that would increase fish inspection but retain the FDA's present discretion on inspection of fish and all other food products.

The primary issue is money. Hart estimated that daily fish plant inspection would cost $45 million a year, compared with $27 million for the administration version. The stepped-up surveillance of other food products, not included in the administration bill, would add $5 million more.

Uprising Convicts Seek To Control Destiny — Kunstler

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Attorney William Kunstler says prison uprisings are part of the struggles of oppressed minorities trying to achieve "a sense of control over their own destiny."

Kunstler, a member of a negotiating team which tried to settle the Attica, N.Y., prison rebellion, said minority races are reaching "for the kind of power I saw in the Attica yard."

Power is "what you can seize and grasp ... how much fear you can create," Kunstler told the national conference of the American Institute of Planners Monday.

Kunstler said the Attica outbreak actually was "born in California" at Folsom Prison last year.

"A Chicano inmate by the name of Martin Sousa created something last year called the Folsom Manifesto," he said. It travelled to San Quentin and then "somehow jumped the continent to Auburn," another prison in Upstate New York.

From there it went to Attica, where it was handed to prison officials on July 16 this year, he said.

The manifesto was merely a "series of demands to make prisons places where men could survive," Kunstler said. It included such things as increased visitation rights, a minimum wage, better food and better writing and reading facilities.

Attica Prison officials told prisoner representatives on Aug. 20 that it would be "virtually impossible" to meet their demands quickly, Kunstler said. The full-scale rebellion broke out Sept. 9.

In another session of the conference of 5,000 city and community planners, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas said he fears the development of Alaska will become an historical "eyesore" comparable to the ravages of the wilderness in the opening of the west.

"There must be an end to speculative land development," Douglas said, or the opening of Alaska will be "as exploitive and haphazard as the opening of the west."

No comprehensive land use policy has been designed for the vast 50th state, Douglas said. Statewide land use regulation is necessary, he said, but local zoning variances which currently exist allow industry and developers to "nibble away at the small sanctuaries we have left."

RCA Chief Assures His Customers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The president of RCA's data processing division has told its customers they will not be abandoned when the firm goes out of the general purpose computer business.

"We fully intend to provide the services necessary for our customers to continue efficiently using their RCA computer equipment as long as they consider it economically feasible to do so," said Joseph W. Rooney.

He addressed the opening session Monday of the RCA Computer Users Association meeting, attended by 270 delegates representing firms from throughout the nation.

The meeting continues through Wednesday with RCA's Sept. 17 announcement of its withdrawal from the computer-making business as its chief concern.

After Rooney's speech, the association's board went into executive session. The group had sought stronger commitments from RCA or news of more progress toward acquisition of the division by another reputable company. Rooney denied an Oct. 22 report that Xerox Corp. had bought the business.

Rooney said RCA has not withdrawn from the business of maintaining and supporting the computer equipment used by its customers and will meet its contractual obligations to them.

The division executive told users he would meet with them individually during the next two days to discuss their problems and needs.

Brezhnev Promotes Tourism On Second Day Of Visit To Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev drank whiskey today with the head of the city council, kissed old French Communist buddies and invited a pretty blonde to Moscow in a combination of tourism and political glad-handing.

Brezhnev, on his first visit to France, was in a jovial mood as he drove through the streets of Paris and was watched and cheered by thousands—in major contrast to his lukewarm welcome Monday when there were almost more police than people.

At Paris City Hall he was greeted by the Vincennes Chapter of the Communist Party waving a sign in Russian, "Welcome, Comrade Brezhnev." The Soviet leader and his wife were led into a reception hall hung with 14th Century tapestries and where with broad smiles he met the city council members.

He was at his politician's best at a nearby reception room where he warmly embraced and kissed on both cheeks French Communist Party leaders Jacques Duclos and Georges Marchais. He accepted a glass of Scotch whiskey and soda, served American style with ice.

He raised the glass to the French Communists and said, "I wish to toast your health."

Brezhnev, who reportedly dieted to lose weight for the trip, spurned hors d'oeuvres. The Soviet leader, wearing a well-tailored gray suit and expensive looking black shoes, spoke with animation for 15 minutes with his friends while even his interpreter and his Soviet security guards drank Scotch.

Mrs. Brezhnev, wearing a black suit with a mink collar and unstylish pointed shoes, sat near Mrs. Jean Cherioux, wife of the city council president. Mrs. Cherioux was wearing the latest Paris fashion, a gray blazer suit.

Then Brezhnev warmly greeted the pretty wife of a former city council president whom he had once met in Moscow. He vigorously shook the hand of the sun-tanned attractive blonde and said, "I invite you to Moscow. Come in my plane. There is room."

In the early part of his drives through Paris waving and smiling from an open car there was no sign of the small groups of hit-and-run demonstrators that burned Soviet flags, battled with police and shouted anti-Soviet slogans during Brezhnev's first day in the French capital. A total of 70 persons were arrested.

Machinist Strike Is Authorized

SUNNYVALE (UPI) —An International Association of Machinists lodge has voted strike authorization if its negotiatiors can not reach a contract with the Lockheed Aerospace Co. plant in Sunnyvale.

John Foote, IAM grand lodge representative, said Monday the union has been working without a contract since July 23.

There was no report of progress at negotiations.

Tunnel Bomb Scare Halts Streetcars

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Three streetcar lines were halted for a half hour Monday because of a false bomb report.

An anonymous man telephoned police a bomb had been planted in the Twin Peaks Tunnel, but a search failed to find it.

system when the whole project is completed. North Marin receives water from another reservoir — Coyote in Mendocino County — via the same Sonoma aqueduct system. Its involvement in the present project is only for 3,000 acre feet per year of Warm Springs water.

In designing the aqueduct system, Sonoma County increased sizes of the lines by 40 per cent over those needed for its own water on representations from Marin Municipal that it wanted to participate. If the Marin district does not enter the project now, the lines will be redesigned 40 per cent smaller, according to an Oct. 19 letter to William R. Seeger, Marin Municipal general manager, from Gordon W. Miller, chief engineer of the Sonoma County Water Agency. Thus Marin would not be able to draw a large supply from this source without building another aqueduct system at much greater expense. This is the reason for the Marin district's "hurry-up" approach.

Even by entering the project now, the Marin district would not receive any Warm Springs water until the dam is completed — which is expected to be in 1979. Meantime, however, the aqueduct system could be used to carry to central and southern Marin users some water from Coyote Reservoir in Mendocino County, another Sonoma project, which is a major source of water for the North Marin district.

The aqueduct system included in the Measure B proposal taps the Russian River at its big bend several miles east of Guerneville and extends southward to Petaluma.

To get the water from Petaluma to users in Marin, the local district would have to build its own Marin Aqueduct. The cost of this is not included in Measure B.

The Marin Aqueduct would be nearly as long as the Sonoma portion to be built under the Measure B agreement. However, Marin Municipal has estimated its total cost at slightly less than the Marin district's share of the Sonoma Aqueduct — for which Sonoma County is paying more than half.

Total costs to Marin Municipal, including interest, have been estimated by the district's staff at $119 million, or: $32 million for its share in Warm Springs Dam, $45 million for its share in the Sonoma Aqueduct, and $42 million for the Marin Aqueduct — which is not included in Measure B and presumably would be financed from a future bond issue.

If Marin Municipal does not join in the Warm Springs Dam-Sonoma Aqueduct projects, Sonoma's redesign of the aqueduct will increase its cost to that county even while providing smaller capacity.

Queried by Seeger as to the possibility of Marin buying surplus water from the system (which would still require the Marin Aqueduct for transmission in this county), chief engineer Miller of the Sonoma agency said in his Oct. 19 letter that if any surplus were available, "the cost would be at least one and one-third times" that for which Marin Municipal could get the same amount of water if it participated in the project.

(Tomorrow: What are MMWD's water needs, now and in the foreseeable future, and are there other means of meeting them?)

$3,500 Voted For Building

Directors of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District voted last night to spend $3,500 to purchase materials for construction of a storage shed, board president Cyril G. Hansen reported.

He said the shed will be built by district employees near the district's treatment plant at Fort Baker.

In other business, the board voted to pay up to $1,000 to modify manhole covers on North Bridgeway in Sausalito where the city is planning to install curbs and gutters and build a bicycle path, Hansen said.

The district board adjourned until 8 p.m. Thursday when it will meet with the Sausalito City Council in city hall to discuss a proposal to consolidate smaller sanitary districts in the county.

Lakewood, Colo. officials have banned residents from keeping bears, or other wild animals on their premises.

Largest Gathering For Vets Building

Last night's free concert by the Airmen of Note, the U.S. Air Force band, drew a record audience of 1,850 persons to the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, Leon G. Kalimos, executive director of the building, said today.

Seating capacity of the building is 2,088. The largest previous audience was the 1,657 turnout for the building's opening night celebration on Sept. 25.

U.N.

monium since Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev pounded a table with his shoe during a boisterous 1960 session.

Tanzanian Ambassador Salim Ahmed Salim, wearing a black tunic buttoned to the throat, leaped to his feet and did a victory dance. Across the hall, U.S. Ambassador George Bush sat glumly, the United States' 21-year-fight to prevent the seating of Red China at an end.

In the end, it was a group of undecided nations which brought the American diplomatic defeat. Fifteen of them abstained on the vote by which the United States sought to have the expulsion of Nationalist China declared an "important question " which would require a two-thirds vote. That vote lost 55 to 59 and the seating of mainland China became a certainty. Among those abstaining were such allies as Italy, the Netherlands, Laos, and Turkey.

James Chen, the Nationalist Chinese ambassador to the United States, said in a speech in New Haven, Conn., Monday night before the vote that his government would survive peacefully without a diplomatic breach with the United States.

Chen said the ability of Red China to "shoot its way into the United Nations" raised the question of whether the world body is fit to survive.

U.N. Secretary General Thant immediately sent a cablegram to Peking informing the Chinese government it officially was a member of the world body. There was no immediate reaction from China, whose population is estimated at 730 million, but speculation in the United Nations was that Huang Hua, a topflight diplomat assigned to Ottawa by the Peking government earlier this year, might come from Canada to take over the China seat.

Bush told a news conference "I hope the U.N. will not relive this moment of infamy. It's not a good thing to kick somebody out. My heavens, anybody with a heart in his chest who saw those decent people thrown out of the U.N. couldn't help but he affected."

He said he did not believe the outcome would affect President Nixon's planned visit to Peking, or that presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's visit to the Chinese capital had any effect in the outcome.

In Washington, administration officials had no immediate comment on the U.N. vote.

This carries the U.S. pledge that if Taiwan is subject to an unprovoked attack, the United States will assist.

After leading his delegation from the assembly hall, the Nationalist Chinese foreign minister said he did not believe the action would lead Peking to use force against Taiwan.

"We are not fighting our own people," Chow said. "We are fighting a small percentage of fanatics. There is no possibility of reconciliation as long as such an un-Chinese regime is in power.

Sausalito Board To Eye School District's Future

The future of the Sausalito School District will be discussed by the Sausalito School District board at 7:45 p.m. today in the Central School auditorium.

District residents are encouraged to come to the session and express their views, according to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg.

He said that for the past several months the board has been considering a variety of possible future reorganization plans for the school district. The study is necessary, he said, because of the district's declining enrollment, ethnic imbalance and high cost of ecuating students.

Among the possibilities the board is considering are:

Exchanging students with neighboring districts or districts throughout the county; merging of Sausalito with one or more school districts, and contracting the district's operations to another school district.

Lindberg said no decision is expected tonight.

OBITUARIES

John H. Campion Succumbs At 74

John Hamilton Campion, longtime San Rafael pharmacist, died yesterday following a long illness. He was 74.

Campion and his brother-in-law, William F. Ward, operated the Campion-Ward pharmacy at Fourth and B streets from 1930 until 1968, when illness forced Campion to retire.

Campion was born in San Francisco but was a childhood resident of Ross. His parents established a summer home there after the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, and young Campion was graduated from Ross Grammar School in 1914. He later was graduated from the University of California College of Pharmacy after military service during World War I.

Both Campion and Ward began their careers with a San Francisco pharmacy, then opened their own partnership in San Rafael when "there were about 9,000 people in San Rafael and 10 doctors," Campion once recalled. The partners often had to meet the old San Rafael ferryboats to pick up emergency orders of vaccine from a Berkeley laboratory.

Campion was a former director of the Meadow Club, and was active with the San Rafael Rotary Club, Serra International, a number of pharmaceutical associations, United Bay Area Crusade and other civic and philanthropic groups.

Campion is survived by his wife, Marcella, of the home at 21 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, and three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. John C. W. Taylor, Mrs. William F. Ward, Mrs. S. M. O'Connor and Dr. Edward Campion, all of San Rafael, and Dr. George Stuart Campion of San Francisco.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in St. Raphael's Church, followed by burial in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

FLOYD BALDWIN

He was born in Ohio and had been a carnival worker all his life until moving to Novato five years ago. He was retired but did part-time gardening.

He is survived by a son, Floyd J. Baldwin of Novato.

Funeral will be at 1 p.m., tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Private inurnment will follow.

ALICE WALKER

Alice C. Walker, 90, former Mill Valley resident, died yesterday at a Petaluma convalescent hospital after a long illness. Mrs. Walker was born in La Cygne, Kan., and formerly lived at 267 Richardson Drive, Mill Valley.

She is survived by a son, George Walker Jr. of Trinidad, Humboldt County; a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Klitzing of Salem, Ore., and a granddaughter.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

Private funeral for Jessie E. Johnson, 86, of Greenbrae, who died in a local convalescent hospital Sunday after a long illness, will be in Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Johnson, mother of Harris A. Johnson of Greenbrae, was born in Wisconsin but lived most of her life in Seattle. She came to Marin about six years ago and lived in San Rafael before making her home with her son and daughter-in-law at their home at 70 Corte de Sabla.

Her husband, Harry H. Johnson, who was in the produce business in Seattle, died about 10 years ago.

MRS RICHARDSON

Funeral for Marie A. Richardson, 84, of Petaluma, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

Mrs. Richardson died Sunday at a Healdsburg hospital after a short illness. She had gone to Healdsburg 10 days ago to visit her daughter, Odile Rasmussen.

Mrs. Richardson was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1909, settling in Boston, Mass. She had lived in Alaska before moving to Petaluma in 1919. Mrs. Richardson was a member of the Golden Age Club of Petaluma.

She is also survived by two sons, Jimmy Richardson of San Francisco and Lee Richardson of Ukiah; a brother, Lee Meyer of San Francisco; seven grandchildren, and 11 great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

LINDA ALFONSO

Funeral for Linda Sue Alfonso of Oakland, former Novato resident, will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Mrs. Alfonso, 22, was killed Saturday night in an automobile accident in Oakland.

She was born in Long Beach, but had lived most of her life in Novato. She graduated from Novato High School and moved to Oakland three years ago when she was married. She was a teller in the Golden West Savings and Loan Association in Oakland.

She is survived by her husband, Fredan K. (Al) Alfonso; her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rangell of Novato, and two sisters, Kathy Smith of San Francisco and Sandy Kource, in Europe, with her husband in the armed forces.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

JOHN WALSH

John Francis Walsh, 67, of San Francisco, father of John F. Walsh Jr. of Novato, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

He was born and lived all his life in San Francisco.

Walsh was a retired machinist and owned the City Fork-Lift Co. of San Francisco. He was a member of Machinist Union Local 1305.

He is also survived by his wife, Imelda Crowley Walsh; three grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin.

Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

WILLIAM ACHESON

Funeral for retired Maj. William Acheson, of 1385 Joyce Street, Novato, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Chapel No. 1 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Major Acheson died Sunday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Indiana. He served in the Air Force during World War II and the Korean War. He retired in 1961 and since then has worked as an administrative officer at headquarters of Point Reyes National Seashore.

He was a member of Grand Canyon Post of the American Legion and the Wichita Falls, Tex., Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Rosalyn and a son, James Edward Acheson both of Novato; another son, William Scott Acheson and a daughter, Jane Susan Lacy, both of Flagstaff, Ariz., and one grandchild.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Friends may call until 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

P. A. GASSMAN

A Mass of Resurrection for Phillip A. Gassman, Sausalito longshoreman, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Sausalito.

A military burial for Gassman, a veteran of World War II, will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today in the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

ALLEN BASCH

Requiem Mass for Allen Carl Basch, 21, of Cotati, will be offered at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's Church, Cotati. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

Basch died yesterday after his car failed to make a turn at the intersection of Stony Point and Rainesville roads, Petaluma, and landed in a ditch in a field.

He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and had lived in Cotati for 11 years. Basch was a student at Santa Rosa Junior College. He had served in the Navy aboard the carrier Coral Sea in Vietnam and was a member of the Naval Reserve.

Basch was a graduate of Petaluma Senior High School. He was a member of Teamsters Union, Local No. 980.

He is survived by his parents, Carl and Antoinette Basch; a sister, Karen Ann Basch; a brother, Raymond Basch, all of Cotati; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Michael Zmuzsky of New Jersey.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

PETER SCHAFER

Peter M. Schafer of Mill Valley died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. He was 24.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Marin County 23 years, residing at 265 Rose Avenue. Prior to his illness, he was a student at Sonoma State College. His father, Philip Schafer, is San Francisco regional commissioner for social and rehabilitation services for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In addition to his parents, who live in Mill Valley, Schafer is also survived by his wife, Ann, of Mill Valley; two sisters, Priske Schafer of Mill Valley and Paula Bell of Oakland; two brothers, Patrick Schafer of Mill Valley and Philip Schafer of Crescent City, Del Norte County, and his grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Bogan of Mill Valley.

A Mass of Resurrection will be offered at 9:15 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley. Burial will be private.

The family prefers spiritual bouquets or donations to the Marin County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Boy, 7, Breaks Leg In Crash Of Auto, Bike

A Tiburon youngster was reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, San Francisco, after suffering a broken leg and possible concussion in a bicycle-auto collision.

Kenneth Thompson, 7, of 102 Jefferson Drive, Tiburon, was injured at 11 a.m. Sunday, when his bicycle collided with a car driven by Shirley Luthman of 60 Lyford Drive, Tiburon, in front of 442 Greenwood Beach Road. The driver told sheriff's deputies she saw the boy ride out of a driveway and into her path too late to avoid collision. He was thrown over the car's hood onto the pavement.

Tiburon firemen gave first aid before the boy was taken to the hospital.

A Special Hearing On Aqueduct

The state Environmental Quality Study Council will hold a special hearing tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Marin Civic Center to examine the environmental impact of the controversial Marin-Sonoma Aqueduct.

The hearing, to be conducted by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will run until 4 p.m. in the supervisors' meeting room.

Orange County Supervisor David L. Baker, council chairman, said the hearing will give citizens and officials a chance to testify on the need for the project and its impact on the environment.

The hearing comes only six days before the Nov. 2 election in which Marin Municipal Water District voters will consider a measure financing the project.

I-J In Error On Candidate

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Robert R. Forbush Sr., a candidate for the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board, did not submit biographical information about himself to the newspaper.

Forbush, 44, is owner of the ABC Nursery School and the A-1 Sparkling Service, a building maintenance firm. He and his wife and two children live at 21 Portola Avenue, Santa Venetia.

In connection with the election, he said, "I think local boards are more responsive to the people and I do not want consolidation of sanitary districts.

Reshuffling To Be Studied

The Marin Council of Mayor and Councilmen will discuss state reapportionment tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. during its monthly meeting to be held this month at Tiburon Tommy's Restaurant in Tiburon.

The matter has been placed on the council's agenda at the urging of several city councils which think the county should remain in one senatorial district as opposed to being divided.

The dinner meeting, to be preceeded by a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m., will also include a talk by Pierre Joske, county director of parks and recreation, on the county-wide bicycle path plan.

A DOUBLE TAKE

Motorists traveling along Highway 121 between Napa and Lake Berryessa often do a double take when they come across this strange rock formation. The man's face was put there by nature, but the pipe was added a number of years ago by a man. (UPI Telephoto)

The Problem Facing Island China People

TAIPEI (UPI)—The expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations shocked this island nation into official silence today. But from the people came the realization that they must do whatever possible to survive.

There were no crowds and no extra security measures in evidence. The security guards around the U.S. Embassy and other U.S. military and diplomatic missions were of normal strength.

This superficial calm was not shared by the people.

Television stations, newspapers and news agencies were flooded with telephone calls asking for the latest development. Almost all calls ended their queries with the questions "What's going to happen to us now? What can we do?"

A newspaper executive who asked not to be quoted by name said, "It's time now for us to forget about justice and righteousness all officials have talked so much about. It is time for us to be practical and realistic so we can survive."

The people were surprised because they had believed optimistic reports of the chances of retaining the U.N. seat.

The people were worried, not about an imminent invasion by the Chinese Coomunists, but about the possible economic strangling of the island under new Chinese Communist pressure. With a standing army of a half million well-equipped men, the people of Taiwan do not think the Chinese Communists can cross the 100-mile Formosa strait to attack the islands.

The government may not want to discuss the situation in public, but it is believed here the government will be forced to adopt a much more flexible policy both internally and externally from now on.

Political observers believe the government will have no choice now but to try to maintain diplomatic relations with those nations who may recognize Peking soon.

Such nations include the United States and Japan, which are responsible for more than 80 per cent of the island's foreign trade and which have both expressed their desire to "normalize their relations with Peking."

Within the country, the government is expected to stop discouraging the news media from free and candid discussions of world problems and particularly the problems of Taiwan.

One Taiwanese political leader said, "The government has to be much more liberalized now so we can all survive."

William K. Turner, 340 Liberty Street, Petaluma, told police that a tape player and nine tapes valued at $166 were stolen from his car yesterday while parked at his home.

Admittance Of Red China Brings A Reality To U.N.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The admittance of Communist China obviously injects greater reality into the composition of the United Nations by bringing in a growing nuclear power with the largest population on earth —730 million persons.

American officials, while supporting Peking's seat on the Security Council, regretted that it had to be accomplished by expelling Nationalist China, representing 14 million people, which had been a charter member and had faithfully discharged its obligations.

However, administration officials privately have said that Nationalist China's membership, while important, was less vital to Taiwan than its security treaty with the United States, which was signed March 3, 1955. Under this pact, the United States promises that if the Nationalist Chinese on Taiwan are subject to an unprovoked attack, the United States will assist them.

President Nixon has said that no matter what happens at the United Nations, both Chinas will have to settle their dispute by negotiation and political means unless Peking wants to risk military confrontation with the United States. Nobody believes this is in the cards.

The Nixon administration, realizing that the tide was running against it in its efforts to keep out Peking, made a virtue out of necessity and this year proposed that Peking be admitted and given the Taiwan's Security Council seat.

However, charges from some pro-Nationalist quarters that the United States simply was going through the motions of trying to retain the Nationalist seat, and not making a real effort, are refuted by the record of conferences Secretary of State William P. Rogers held at the United Nations in what appeared to be a "real arm twisting" effort to retain a seat for Taiwan despite the admission of Peking.

Assertions that the Nixon administration may not have made an all-out effort because of President Nixon's impending visit to China, where he and top Peking leaders will discuss the possibility of easing tensions, also appeared unfounded.

White House sources disclosed some time ago that presidential assistant Henry A. Kissinger, during his July visit to Peking, and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai agreed that the Sino-American summit conference was not dependent upon any alteration of policy on part of either nation.

But it was pointed out that if the United States had been able to keep the Nationalists in the United Nations, Nixon might have been in a stronger negotiating position when he meets with Peking leaders.

Senators To Push U.N. Fund Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Members of Congress dissatisfied with the expulsion of Nationalist China from the United Nations today started mapping an attempt to cut American financial support for the organization.

Both Sens. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., and James Buckley, RC-N.Y., said they would attempt to push through legislation reducing U.S. aid to the United Nations.

Buckley said he had instructed his staff to draft such legislation. Dominick said he might attempt to obtain the cut "in the coming debate on foreign aid."

"With the 67 members of the Senate who supported the Republic of China in a recent letter to the President, I would believe a motion to restrict our financial support would receive very good support in the Senate," Dominick said.

The Colorado senator said he expected some members of Congress would attempt to take the United States out of the United Nations. He said he believed this would "be a mistake" but he added. "I certainly see no reason why we should support it to the degree we have to date."

Buckley said the Monday night U.N. action "may well be recorded as the beginning of the end" of the United Nations. He said the United Nations no longer can be regarded as a "vehicle for collective security in matters of critical importance."

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he would oppose any effort to cut off funds for the world body. He said he opposed the expulsion of Taiwan, but "I don't think we have any business pouting about it."

Indecent Exposure

A 16-year-old Novato girl was the victim of indecent exposure about 6 p.m. yesterday on the Novato High School campus, police reported. The man was described as in his early 20s with dark hair and a bushy mustach.

Peking Celebrates Korean War Entry As U.N. Votes Them In

HONG KONG (UPI)—While the United Nations was voting to accept Communist China as a member, Chinese in Peking were celebrating the 21st anniversary of China's entry into the Korean War against forces of the United Nations Command (UNC).

The vote in the U.N. General Assembly which ousted Nationalist China and admitted the People's Republic of China came 21 years to the day that a multimillion-man force of Chinese "volunteers" crossed the Yalu River into North Korea and fought the UNC to a standstill.

Su Yu, a vice minister of national defense and a former chief of the Chinese general staff, spoke at a reception given by the North Koreans. He made no specific mention of the United Nations. But he denounced the United States, saying the U.S. "madly launched the war of aggression against Korea."

The People's Republic of China actually has had plenty of unkind remarks about the United Nations during the 22 years she has been trying to enter the world body.

When she went to war with the U.N. force in Korea, she denounced it as a tool of the United States, called for its reorganization and supported a move for establishment of a rival United Nations.

When troops of the U.N. Command broke the back of the North Korean forces that had invaded South Korea in 1950 and crossed the 38th parallel in pursuit of the battered North Korean army, China sent more than a million men across the Yalu to engage the U.N. forces. That war ended on July 27, 1953, with what has now become the longest armistice in history.

In January, 1965, when the late President Sukarno pulled Indonesia out of the United Nations, there was strong support from Peking for Sukarno's "bold, revolutionary action."

Island China's Goodbye Is Marked By An Ovation

"On behalf of the government of the Republic of China, I wish to make the following solemn declaration," Foreign Minister Chow Shu-kai told the General Assembly.

"The Republic of China —a participant in the Dumbarton Oaks talks, one of the four sponsoring powers at the San Francisco conference, a charter member of the United Nations, a permanent member of the Security Council —has now decided to withdraw from the organization which it helped establish."

Chow concluded:

"To overthrow the rebel Communist regime and restore freedom to the Chinese people is the common objective of all Chinese everywhere.

"The Republic of China is fighting for law and justice. It has done so many times before, often without allies and without outside aid. It is our firm conviction that right will eventually triumph over might and justice will sooner or later prevail over injustice." At 11:09 p.m. Chow turned, left the green marble podium and walked down the aisle and out of the assembly chamber, followed in single file by the four other Nationalist delegates.

The Assembly broke into a spontaneous ovation.

Two Chinatowns View Two Chinas

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The news that the United Nations voted to admit Mainland China and expelling Taiwan was met with general disappointment but little shock Monday in the United States' two best known Chinatowns — New York and San Francisco.

"The United States government should stop supporting the U.N.," said Leong Ching, owner of the Chinatown Seaford Restaurant in New York. "To think that country (Taiwan) has been our ally all these years. Every Chinese American should get out and voice their opinion. This thing stinks."

Arthur Lee, 48, a curio shop manager in San Francisco, said he was upset over the expulsion of Formosa because "after all, Nationalist China was one of the charter members" of the United Nations.

"I think it's stupid to take them out," he said. "Every nation—that is every legal nation—should have a seat."

Many of the residents questioned in New York's and San Francisco's Chinatowns expressed no opinion or were unwilling to answer.

"Some still have families on the mainland," one New York resident said. "Besides, there are factions on both sides here. Most people say they don't know or have no opinion because they don't want to be involved."

Although most who talked about the vote were disappointed about the ousting of Nationalist China, there were some who favored the move.

"They're doing the right thing," Paul Lum, 45, owner of the Rickshaw Gift Shop in San Francisco, said, pointing out there are 730 million people on the mainland.

"When you want to talk peace, you talk to the right guy," he said.

Mrs. L. Wong, 36, a San Francisco housewife, however, was bitter.

"I feel awful," she said. Mrs. Wong said she visited Taiwan a month ago and "people are really friendly there. It's a crime for them not to have a seat."

Miracle Coating Replaces House Paint for 15 Years

Los Angeles, Calif.

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the home owner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 15 years. This remarkable textured coating is asbestos KENITEX.

The Atomic Energy Commission has used KENITEX texture Coating for several years at Los Alamos, New Mexico, atomic plant. Thousands of gallons of this remarkable exterior surfacing have been applied to provide weatherproofing and beauty, far outlasting ordinary paint.

Over 1,000,000 KENITEX applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings throughout the world, 10,000 in Southern California alone, remain in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all weather extremes.

The Veterans' Administration, Sawtelle, in Los Angeles, has applied KENITEX to the exteriors of their buildings. The Kenitex coating is applied in one quick spray application without muss, fuss or odor — at a thickness 20 times that of ordinary paint. It fills holes, cracks and hides building defects, yet does not conceal the original architectural lines.

Homes and Guided Missiles
Unique among KENITEX applications is the use on guided missiles where its insulating properties shield the missile from extreme temperatures. KENITEX obtains these qualities from its basic components of asbestos, mica and perlite, which are noted for their insulation and durability.

Shot From a Gun
KENITEX is guaranteed for 15 years against chipping, flaking or peeling . . . it is extremely flexible and withstands all normal building expansion and contraction. Actually, "Shot from a Gun" KENITEX fuses to the sidewalls in a variety of beautiful decorator colors.

Free Estimates
Local applications of this remarkable coating are made by the Golden Gate Bldr's Inc, licensed and approved applicators. Cost is surprisingly low — convenient terms can be arranged. Home owners can obtain free estimates without obligations, by calling 776-4453 or mail coupon herewith:

Court Says It Didn't Mean What It Said

On Aug. 30, the justices overturned a lower court ruling that California's system of financing public education, dependent largely on property taxes, is constitutional.

"Such a system," said the California Supreme Court in a 6-1 decision (Justice Marshall F. McComb dissenting) "cannot withstand constitutional challenge and must fall before the equal protection clause."

In other words, the system is unconstitutional.

THE RULING in the case, known as Serrano vs. Priest (for Ivy Baker Priest, state treasurer, whose name headed a list of defendants), put school people throughout the state into a tizzy. And quite a few taxpayers decided to pay under protest, on the basis that they were being taxed unconstitutionally to support the schools.

On the other hand, the decision was applauded by some Democratic leaders in the legislature and by State Supt. Wilson C. Riles — because they saw it was a strong force to win passage of legislation guaranteeing greater state support to the schools. (This appears to be a classic example of the doctrine that "the end justifies the means" — the means in this case being to declare an existing law unconstitutional so you can get another one passed.)

Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger was caught off base by the court ruling. In opposing the Office of Economic Opportunity lawyers who filed Serrano vs. Priest as a class action, he had relied on the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in McInnis vs. Shapiro.

That was an Illinois case filed almost exactly the same time as Serrano vs. Priest — and likewise by OEO lawyers. In fact, the complaints differed only in detail. And the systems of school support are very much alike in Illinois and California, both based on the property tax.

THE U.S. SUPREME COURT on March 24, 1969, upheld a lower federal court decision in McInnis vs. Shapiro that "there is no constitutional requirement that public school expenditures be made only on basis of pupils' educational needs without regard to financial strength of local school districts, nor does Constitution establish rigid guideline of equal dollar expenditures for each student."

The U.S. Supreme Court also, in 1970, refused to hear an appeal from a Virginia state court's rejection of a claim that the school support system in that state — also based on property taxes — was unconstitutional.

But the California Supreme Court heeded not.

NOW, IN RESPONSE to an application from Younger for "clarification" of its Serrano vs. Priest ruling, the California Supreme Court last week added a paragraph saying that it didn't really mean the system was unconstitutional after all — it just wanted the case re-tried in lower court. It would be unconstitutional, said the California justices this time, if what the complainants said was true.

MARQUIS CHILDS

U.S. May Win Costly Victory By Keeping Taiwan In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS — The winds of change shaking the foundations of all institutions blow hard on the fragile structure of this one-and-only world organization. Yet in the great glass house on the East River there is a curious insulation as though the rough realities could be denied by United Nations fiat.

In the decision to be taken on China, the threat to the U.N. is not to be discounted. Although delegates and others here are little aware of it, the warning from Congress that the United States will cut off or greatly curtail its support if Taiwan is expelled is a harsh reality. It can happen, and with the U.N. on the verge of bankruptcy the blow would be crippling, if not indeed fatal.

THE TENDENCY HERE is to dismiss the warning as merely a tactical maneuver to swing votes into line for the American proposal to retain aseat in the general assembly for Chiang Kai-shek's China. Resentful delegates speak of it as blackmail to which they will not surrender. And George Bush, the head of the U.S. delegation, speaks confidently of President Nixon's ability to override the opposition in Congress if Taiwan is expelled.

Taiwan is expelled.

But the fire-breathing opponents, notably Rep. John J. Rooney of Brooklyn, reflected a deep undercurrent of what for lack of a better term might be called isolationism. As chairman of the subcommittee on appropriations for the State Department, he has repeatedly demonstrated his power to deny funds for operations the department considered essential.

"If the Republic of China is expelled there will be no money forthcoming from the United States Congress to pick up the biggest tab at the U.N.," he said the other day.

With absolute control over his subcommittee, this is no idle threat. And a petition signed by 336 members of the House and sent to the President expresses the same view in nearly as implacable a form.

Another 121 House members released a letter to Bush, declaring their continued support for the U.N. and maintaining the committment to pay the required dues regardless of the outcome of the China debate. Is this an accurate reflection of the status of the U.N. in the House, 121 to 336? If it is, then Rooney could have his way not only in his committee but in the House as well.

IN THE LIGHT of the President's dramatically proclaimed mission to Peking, the U.S. position on China is curiously ambivalent. We want better relations with China, with the Peking visit as exhibit No. 1. Yet if the effort to retain a seat for the Taiwan succeeds, Peking will refuse the invitation to the general assembly and to the seat on the security council now held by Taiwan.

One of those long doubtful of the wisdom of this ambivalent approach is Charles W. Yost, head of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. from January, 1969, to February, 1971. He was rudely pushed out because he questioned the Nixon policy. Writing in the magazine Vista predicting the rage from Peking if the American proposal wins, Yost suggests that the Nixon China visit will be seriously endangered:

"In announcing the meeting far in advance, both parties have given hostages to fortune in that each has to some extent constrained himself not to take such action that might cause the meeting to be called off or, if held, would prove a fiasco. In this respect President Nixon would seem to have more of a problem than the Chinese prime minister, for he would suffer more politically at home and abroad than would Chou En-lai if his dramatic initiative should fizzle out."

AND NIGHT AND DAY the pressure is applied to get a majority for the U.S. resolution to make Taiwan's status an important question requiring a two-thirds vote for adoption.

It has its comic aspect. A U.N. member, the Maldives, a collection of islands in the Indian Ocean, has never had a representative here since achieving membership. A current rumor is that the United States is sending a jet plane to the islands to fly a delegate to New York to vote for the American resolution. Increasingly, it appears that by a few votes the United States will score a victory. It will be a costly victory.

Support Master Plan For Lucas Valley

Our home is on Lucas Valley Road, and we feel that Lucas Valley would be irrevocably destroyed as a place to live — as well as a place to visit and enjoy — if the Renaissance Fair and Carnival activity were to take place at the location suggested.

We understand that there is a master plan for the future development of Lucas Valley, and that it does not include provision for the kind of high traffic commercial venture that the Fair represents.

We urge that the master plan be supported.

Information Needed On Bridge Bus Plans

I have been a commuter from San Anselmo to San Francisco and now to Mill Valley for 26 years and have worked with various groups such as the Ross Valley Commuters Club and the Mill Valley Commuters Club in differences over Greyhound transportation services.

I, and I feel that all commuters, are deeply concerned about what is going to happen Dec. 1, when the bridge district busses go into operation. The senior citizens who operate the San Anselmo depot have no information and I find no one nor any publication that gives any information on service, routes, etc.

In behalf of myself and the commuters of Marin County, I ask that you investigate the coming situation and report in clear, concise layout just what we expect — in fact a full story on what we can expect beginning Dec. 1. Surely the bridge district should know by this time its method of operation. . .

Taxpayers Should Not Underwrite Revolution

I would like to comment on your editorial regarding the book. . . purchased by Virginia Franklin at taxpayers' expense for her government classes (35 copies and 25 on order). The book contains much material deliberately intended to teach revolution, violence and disobedience of the law. The taxpayer should not have to pay for instruction in methods of tearing down the structure of the state, for the very support of which his taxes have been paid. This is the same as if one were to pay a group of people to throw rocks at his house and break all the windows.

Underneath Angela Davis' cell window, the school board and the administration is asking the already overburdened taxpayer to support teachings such as this book proposes!

The citizens and taxpayers have the full right to control the program of instruction. They should not have to submit to the dictation of the superintendent or teachers. The school board should exercise its right and aqhority to represent the citizen and taxpayer. Those who pay the bills certainly have a final recourse.

Beer, Wine Sales In Center Sensible

Even though civil servants are more prone to be 9 to 5'ers than those in private enterprise, they, like the private enterprisers, still like their beer or wine or whatever.

The flap on a beer and wine license at the Hall of Justice is absolutely ridiculous and borders on hyprocisy at best. The L.O.L.'s who doth protest can eat somewhere else. The A.B.C. who sets the rules "rejected the request for a license (for a cafeteria operator who must compete with restaurants in an outlying area) on grounds that liquor should not be sold in a public building, close to courts, the county jail and the county library." Well, we know the prisoners aren't going to take advantage of the service, so I guess the A.B.C. and Mr. Baar's chief worry is that we'll have a tipsy public servants, tipsy jailors and tipsy librarians. How archaic can you get?

Civil center caterers have my vote — God knows they need some help with the deal they made in Marin County!

Tremendous Impact From Planned 'Faire'

Whether the Rennaissance Faire is good or bad, it is very obvious the "Faire" will have tremendous impact on the traffic and noise levels on Lucas Valley Road, portions of Marinwood and portions of San Rafael, and upon the air pollution levels of all three areas. To import 6,000 cars a day for a minimum of six weekends a year (the Pattersons are unwilling to guarantee it will not go longer than six week ends a year) up a normal two-lane road that becomes a very narrow two-lane road with many curves and no shoulders is to invite chaos.

The proposed intrusion of this vast commercial enterprise in our valley I vigorously oppose. To allow re-zoning of this 1,000-acre ranch for commercial use would be a disservice to the residents, homeowners, and taxpayers who presently live in the valley. Both the Marin County Master Plan and the San Rafael General Plan show this area as low-density residential and urban-green belt. A careful study of these plans and a drive to the site should convince anyone of the obvious error in trying to locate this commercial enterprise on the Grady Ranch.

Credibility Issue For Water District

Many questions have been raised concerning the credibility of the Marin Municipal Water District representatives regarding Measure B (Russian River Project) on the Nov. 2 ballot. I suggest history can tell us much on this subject:

(1) On Aug. 12, 1970, the MMWD enacted an ordinance raising water rates 25 per cent effective Sept. 1, 1970.

(2) No bills at the higher rate were received by MMWD customers until after the Nov. 3, 1970 Proposition H water bond election.

(3) During the week of Oct. 12-16, 1970, the MMWD, at customers' expense, mailed a bond election brochure to all its customers in which it stated:

"A study by Stone and Youngberg Financial Consultants indicates that all costs in connection with Proposition H can be met through presently authorized rates" (meaning the increased rates customers were unaware of).

(4) William R. Seegar, MMWD general manager, later claimed that the brochure "did not actually promote passage of the bond issue, but served to advise the public about the district and its future plans." . . .

Sunny Hills Gets Boost From Article

The board of directors of Sunny Hills wishes to thank Don Keown warmly for his article on Sunny Hills and its executive director, Mr. Norman Herstein, in the magazine section of the Independent-Journal on Sept. 18.

The paid staff and volunteer supporters of Sunny Hills work hard to provide a first class program for the treatment of disadvantaged teen-agers, but we would never hope to be successful without the public support of the communities we serve. Sadat's Middle East Deadline Produces Little Israeli Alarm

By K. C. THALER

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's end-of-year deadline for a settlement of the Middle East conflict has caused uneasiness but no visible alarm in Israel.

Diplomats, gauging the course of Cairo's ultimate decision, see three possible lines Egypt could take once the deadline expires:

—All-out war against Israel, aimed at crossing in force of the Suez Canal and a crucial showdown.

—Despite threats to the contrary, a continuation of the cease-fire, after persuasion from the United Nations, the western powers and guarded advice from Russia.

THE MOST LIKELY course presently expected to be taken by Egypt is a combination of limited shooting and a continued search for an interim agreement on the reopening of the Suez Canal.

Total war, in the opinion of most diplomatic and expert assessments, is held unlikely, at least at present.

To stand a reasonable chance of success, total war would require full Russian backing, both political and military. Neither seems likely at this stage.

The Russians have repeatedly stated they want a negotiated settlement. Communist diplomats in Europe have said in private talks that Moscow is not willing to get involved directly in a major shooting war in the Middle East, with the risk of a confrontation with the United States.

The Egyptians are said to have the necessary equipment massed at the canal, to have made extensive preparations for ferrying troops and tanks across, and to have some 50,000 troops in the front line. But any such major move would require full control of the air, which the Egyptians do not have.

To get it, they would have to knock out the Israeli Air Force — no mean feat in the fact of the Israeli Air Force's past achievements and untarnished reputation.

The alternative would be a major attack or a series of attacks on Israeli positions, or some form of a new war of attrition.

The Israelis worry about such a possibility, chiefly because they are uneasy about possible casualties among their comparatively small population.

But they seem confident that their defenses have been sufficiently reinforced along the canal line to withstand such action better than in the past.

Fong Bill Orchestration Has Music Upside Down

SACRAMENTO — Hell hath no music like the sound of a woman legislator who has just been vetoed. And, oh, the sound of March Fong, she who is an assembly-woman from Alameda County!

One of Mrs. Fong's bills recently was vetoed by Governor Reagan. She claims the bill (AB 950) would have provided for public school instruction about venereal disease. She has been stumping the state demanding the governor's veto be overriden.

Her song is a bit self-deluding. Like the refrain from some pop-rock ballad. But it has been picked up by a lot of the media, and the trouble is, fellas, you have the music upside down.

THERE IS NOTHING in Mrs. Fong's bill which would provide for or establish educational courses about VD. As a matter of fact, such courses are permissible under existing state law.

The thrust of Mrs. Fong's bill? It would abolish the parent's right to approve or refuse a child's attendance at such classes. It would repeal the parent's right to review beforehand the written material and visual aids to be used in the course. That's it, period.

Existing state law provides that a child shall be excused from a sex education or personal hygiene class upon the parent's request. Existing law also provides that parents may check the materials to be used in the class.

The governor, and the opponents of the Fong bill, believe the parental approval and review should be maintained. Mrs. Fong and her supporters would abolish it.

UNDER THE FONG bill, school authorities could compel each and every child to take a course in VD, regardless of parental desire, without prior advice, and without permitting parents to review the materials.

So, it's that same siren song from those who think they hold the keys to some magical kingdom — those who view almost any crisis as a chance to whittle away at individual rights and responsibility.

"Give us your child and don't bother us. We know what's best."

Well, baby, some parents might just know a little more about their kids, their frame of mind, and their fears and phobias than you do. Maybe — just maybe, now — parents know what's best for their own children.

AN ALL-OUT EFFORT should be made to educate school children on the dangers, the effects and misery of VD. Instead of kicking and screaming about the governor's unwillingness to let them ride roughshod over parental approval, the school and public health authorities should get with it.

Megalomania and timidity — they're part of the same bureaucratic set. Knock it off and get going. Work with and through the parents rather than around them.

There has been a rising VD epidemic in the state. It can be halted without putting the state and the school between the parents and the child.

The governor's veto should be upheld, and will be.

Petalumans Glad To Receive Park Money But Want More

The prospect of a new 18-acre county park for Petaluma was greeted warmly by residents, but many have the "it's about time" attitude.

For years residents have been urging the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to shake loose some money for recreation in the southern part of the county. Many have been openly angry when park funds go to the more populous Santa Rosa area and for development of coastal parks.

The 1971-72 county budget allots $25,000 to start development of the 18-acre parcel on the Petaluma River adjacent to the city boat launching ramp. Many residents feel this land has been aching for park development for a long time.

INSTEAD OF DOING cartwheels at the $25,000 allotment, many have responded that it isn't nearly enough. Petaluma City Councilman William A. Perry Jr., the city liaison for development of the park, promises the city has a "pipeline" to the supervisors and believes that in future years as much as $100,000 will be invested by the county in the park.

Although the official action for the funds came during the term of incumbent Supervisor Philip Joerger of Petaluma, he's quick to point out that most of the credit should go to George De Long, who left office last January. Most residents don't care who's responsible for the money — they're just glad to get it.

CITY AND FEDERAL money combined to build the boat launching ramp. It serves its purpose well, but is not landscaped except for two pryacantha plants at the restrooms. It is hoped the county funds can be used to prepare an attractive and functional plan for the park. It could be a place of beauty.

Landscaping to blend and add to the natural terrain and river bank would make the park extremely popular. Instead of residents hurriedly launching their boats to leave the desolate area, families would be able to spend a whole day there boating, picnicking and using the play equipment.

Hundreds of new homes are under construction near the park. Road construction is also under way and we may hope it will be engineered to allow children to walk safely to play at the park.

NOW THAT THE BAY AREA Air Pollution Control District is enforcing pollution laws in Southern Sonoma, the foul odors and smoke from river industries should be contained by the time the park is opened.

The advent of stronger pollution controls came largely unnoticed to the average resident. But now that fall is here, something is missing. Without the pungent smell of burning leaves, fall seems a little less colorful.

ART BUCHWALD

Why Nixon Couldn't Find Woman For Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — It came as no surprise to most men here that President Nixon could not find a qualified woman to nominate to the Supreme Court.

"Heaven knows we tried," an administration spokesman said, "and the pressure on the President was enormous. First Mrs. Nixon talked to him about it, then Martha Mitchell, and finally Bella Abzug. But it just wasn't in the cards."

"Why?" I asked.

"Well, we investigated it and discovered women just weren't cut out to be Supreme Court justices. For one thing it takes a lot of physical endurance to sit on the court, hearing cases all day long, and our medical people told us women couldn't take the pressure. They have a tendency to fidget when they have to stay in one place too long."

"I hadn't thought of that but it's true," I admitted.

"ALSO WE DECIDED the Supreme Court is a man's world. When the Supreme Court justices get together in private session to discuss cases, they like to tell locker-room jokes and cuss a lot. A woman wouldn't be comfortable in such an atmosphere and it would inhibit the male justices in their work."

"It figures," I agreed.

"Another major consideration was the question of protocol. We had to think what effect a woman justice would have on dinner parties in Washington for the next 15 or 20 years. A Supreme Court justice outranks most people in the government, including cabinet officers, and it just wouldn't look right for a woman justice to be seated on the right of her hostess. Putting two women next to each other at a Washington dinner party is unthinkable and could cause grave consequences in the social world for years to come. I think Mr. Nixon said it best: 'Presidents may come and go but dinner parties in Washington go on forever.'"

"WHAT OTHER objections did you find?" I wanted to know.

"As you know, the President said in his television speech the one criterion he used in his selection was that a member of the Supreme Court should be the very best lawyer in the nation. He said, 'In the legal profession, the Supreme Court is the fastest track in the nation, and it is essential that the justices on that court be able to keep up with the very able lawyers who will appear before the court arguing the cases.'

"Now the President wasn't just using a sports metaphor. What we did was lay out a one-mile track around the Supreme Court and we clocked several women nominees in races against male lawyers. We discovered that those women who agreed with the President's philosophy couldn't keep up the pace, and those who were fast enough to get around didn't have enough blue-blooded strict-constructionist breeding."

"No one can say the President didn't give women a fair test," I said.

"ANOTHER FACTOR that militated against a woman being appointed to the court was the fear that there would be mass resignations among the Supreme Court guards, who had been used to dealing with men justices all their lives.

"You can find any number of qualified Supreme Court justices, but it takes years to train a good Supreme Court guard.

"But there were other things we had to worry about as well. What kind of precedent would we be setting by appointing a woman to the Supreme Court? Suppose the next thing women would ask for was a seat on the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or an opportunity to conduct Sunday church services at the White House? Where would it stop?"

"God only knows," I said. "Why didn't the President make this perfectly clear?"

"As soon as he explains it to Mrs. Nixon, Martha Mitchell and Bella Abzug, he probably will."

Can, Gasoline Found At Site Of Theater Fire

A half full five-gallon gasoline can has been found at the site of a fire, believed set by an arsonist, at Forest Meadows theater in San Rafael Saturday.

The theater, adjoining the Dominican College campus on Grand Avenue, did about $200 damage to the state area and wood props, San Rafael Fire Department reported.

The theater was the scene of a series of deliberately set fires last year, including one which destroyed $4,500 worth of costumes being used by the Marin Shakespeare festival.

San Rafael Police said the arsonist responsible for Saturday's fire, discovered about 10:30 p.m., poured gasoline on the stage and props before lighting them.

Another West Coast Dock Strike For Yule?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chances are, come Christmas week, dock workers will go on strike again on the West Coast. Such is the record of the Taft-Hartley Law when used by the government to try to settle dock strikes.

When President Nixon recently invoked the law to force West Coast longshoremen back to work after some 100 days, it marked the ninth time it had been used in a dock strike—more than in any other industry.

It has done little good.

The argument can be made —and has been made —that using the law harms more than helps in trying to end longshore contract disputes. The key provision is an 80-day cooling off period, which in the current case would end just before Christmas.

The board of inquiry that Nixon himself named to look into the West Coast dispute — preliminary to going to court to get an injunction to stop the strike —mentioned reservations about use of the law.

The board observed, "Fear has been expressed ... that heightened government actions at this point will inhibit the parties in resolving their differences."

Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, representing the West Coast dockers, boycotted the presidential board, contending that no national emergency existed because the strikers had continued to load and unload military cargoes.

In the eight other instances where the Taft-Hartley has been used in a dock strike, in only one case was the dispute settled during the cooling off period —and that just before the 80-day injunction expired.

In all the others, the strikes resumed. In fact, most of the time, the hard bargaining did not come until after the injunction expired.

The opposing parties know that once used, the Taft-Hartley law loses its sting. Come what may, after 80 days the injunction comes off. The cooling off period cannot be renewed or extended. It is a one-time weapon in the hands of the President.

The last 20 of the 80 days are supposed to be devoted to getting final position statements from the opposing parties and putting a final offer from employers to a vote by workers.

More often than not, that has been an exercise in futility with the government sometimes not even bothering to submit the final offer for a vote, because of the certainty of rejection.

The fact is, if a dispute is so bitter that only an economic struggle will settle it, the Taft-Hartley cooling of period merely gives one side or another — sometimes both — a breather to resume the fight after the injunction expires.

When renewed, the fights frequently have had an element of bitterness which did not exist before: Government use of a back-to-work order.

Occasionally the Taft-Hartley Act has seemed to be successful in bringing on settlements during cooling off periods. Those involved in the negotiations have said that it is mostly illusory —that the negotiators probably were on the brink of agreement anyway and would have ended the dispute without Taft-Hartley interference.

That was said to have been the case in the 1959-1960 steel strike.

"... WHEN THE others fed their babies I just sat alone. But then I ... fed Laura with the nurses there," said Mrs. Carol Martin about her premature baby. "It was scary ... she was so tiny."

"I SPEND all my time with them," said Mrs. Paul Knupp about her prematurely born twins Rhonda Lee and Richard Paul (shown here). While the twins were still in the hospital their mother and father came often to learn to do their feeding. "Their legs were like your finger, at first," said Mrs. Knupp.

"GREG WAS due yesterday," mused Mrs. Len Ellis, but he is 6 weeks old. "It would have been easy to get detached," said his mother, but instead both mother and father went to the hospital to learn to take over his special feeding technique.

ON THE AGENDA

Greek Orthodox Church Group Slates A Big Halloween Frolic

The Greek Orthodox Church Community of Marin is having a public Halloween Frolic Friday night at 8 o'clock at the Marinwood Community Center.

Hosts of the family party are asking guests to wear costumes. There will be both Greek and American folk dancing to the music of a Greek band. Refreshments are being prepared by Ladies of the Greek Orthodox Church Community.

Chairman is Peter Kavantzas of San Anselmo, and committee members are George Roland of Larkspur, Stanley Sarganis of Novato and Mike and Ulysses Orologas of San Rafael.

MRS. HENRY GOLDMAN
Hadassah speaker

MRS. HENRY Goldman of New Jersey, national recording secretary and Aliyah chairman of Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization, will speak at the meeting of Marin Chapter of Hadassah Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Paul Winton in San Rafael.

Rose Goldman was a delegate to the World Zionist Congress in Jerusalem in 1956 and 1969 and headed the Kennedy Reception Dedication tour in 1966.

Mrs. Andre Gabany of Mill Valley is reservations chairman.

AN OPEN house for parents of nursery school age children is being held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the San Geronimo Valley Nursery School in San Geronimo.

Dr. Robert Burke, a child and family psychiatrist with Community Mental Health Services in Marin, will be at the open house to discuss development and behavior of preschool age children with parents.

ST. RAPHAEL'S Mother's Guild is having a luncheon tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the social hall of the church in San Rafael.

The lunch, to which all parishioners of the church are invited, is being prepared by the Ladies' Luncheon League.

TA MAR Chapter, B'Nai B'Rith Women will meet tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Elliot Bauman in San Rafael. A buffet luncheon will be served at noon.

MARGE NOVAK, teacher of 131 different crafts, will discuss "Crafts for Christmas" Thursday at a meeting for members of the Family Service League at 9:30 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Child care will be available at the church.

MARIN YWCA and the Marin Jewis Community Center, sponsors of the Search for Identity series, are presenting "The Black Jew," a discussion with slides by Joel Brooks, director of the American Jewish Congress, Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

SPEAKER AT the meeting of the Petaluma Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Green Mill Inn in Cotati will be Mrs. Ruth Church Gupta.

Mrs. Gupta, an attorney in partnership with her husband in San Francisco, is a member of the Queen's Bench and the National Association of Women Lawyers and is past president of the California Federation of BPW. She is serving as the legislative advocate of the federation and is on the advisory council of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

She will report on a recent visit to the Soviet Union, Hungary and Romania at the public dinner meeting.

Chairman is Mrs. Harold Snodgrass, and Mrs. Hulda Wilson is reservations chairman.

SAUSALITO WOMAN'S Club is having an old fashioned quilting bee Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the clubhouse. Instruction will be given by Mrs. Edmond Gross, and heirloom and contemporary quilts lent by members will be on display.

Mmes. Joseph De Martini and Charles W. Elliott, chairmen, are being assisted by Mmes. George Kowski, Frank Rossman, Willard Hall and Thomas Gildersleeve.

The Thinking On 'Premie' Care Has Changed

By BARBARA HOSMER

Until a few years ago, when a premature baby was born it was immediately whisked away to a separate unit of the hospital for careful handling in strict isolation, and the baby's mother was excluded.

It was as if the parents had had no child until the tiny one measured up to the five-and-a-half to six pounds required for it to be able to be taken home.

Now the thinking has totally changed, and when "premies" are born at Marin General Hospital they go into the same nursery as other newborns. Their mothers are invited into the nursery just as soon as they are able to go.

THE BABIES are kept in isolettes and given the same careful care, but both the mother and father are included in as much of their baby's care as possible while it is still in the hospital.

Talking about her premature baby Laura (now two months old), Mrs. Carol Martin of San Rafael explained her recent experience at Marin General's maternity.

"She was in the isolette and when the others fed their babies, I just sat alone. But then I went and fed Laura with the nurses there. It was scary to see her in the isolette — she was so tiny."

The premie in the isolette wears a little mask and also sunglasses to protect the eyes, called a Bilite, explained Gail Moore, clinical nurse specialist who works with premature babies and their families.

THREE MOTHERS and a father of babies who recently were born prematurely at Marin General Hospital gathered there last week to talk about their experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Knupp of San Rafael had premature twins, Richard Paul and Rhonda Lee, now seven weeks old. They took turns coming into the hospital and feeding the babies. They would alternate feeding each twin so that the babies would be used to both parents doing the feeding, as they would when the babies went home.

SOMETIMES IT is necessary to arrange for extra help at home to assist with the older children and the baby when it first goes home, and the Knupps had a nurse help them for the first week the twins were home. Both Mr. and Mrs. Knupp have been kept busy with the two-hour feeding of two babies who, because they were premature, are weak and tire easily when being fed.

"I spend all my time with them," said Mrs. Knupp. "You get two or three hours sleep — it's terrible," remarked her husband.

All of the parents have older children, and the mothers had been through the birth and feeding experience before and could compare the difference of caring for a prematurely born infant.

They were taught by the nurses to feed and handle their babies very carefully and when the babies were stable, eating well and the parents felt competent to take over full care, they found they could bring the infants home, though they might weigh only 4½ pounds.

THE BABY'S condition and the parents' ability to give the care it needs determine when a prematurely born baby can be taken home from the hospital. It is not longer the weight that counts, the nurse said.

Though the Knupps have a 4-year-old daughter as well as the twins, Mrs. Knupp said that she and her husband learned certain techniques from the nurses for the care of the two new babies.

"WE WEREN'T aware of the tongue being at the roof of the mouth and how to pull the chin down to get the tongue to drop before feeding.

"We learned to twist the bottle one-quarter turn to wake them up — if they are weak (as premature babies are) they tire easily," Mrs. Knupp said.

She said she shared the same feeling about smallness that Mrs. Martin had. "They were so tiny I thought they were glass," she said of the twins, who weighed four pounds 11 ounces and four pounds nine ounces when born a month early. They are almost seven pounds now, their mother estimated, glancing down at the little ones whose heads show traces of her own reddish hair.

"I noticed a difference in the legs — they were like your finger at first," she said.

"It makes you feel really good to see that fat go on," Mrs. Martin spoke up. Her Laura was four pounds 11 ounces at birth and went down to four pounds nine ounces. Now she's close to nine pounds.

MRS. MARTIN had a special task with her premature baby because she wanted to breast-feed her. It meant that for every two or three hours the first eight days of the baby's life Carol Marin had to pump the milk at home and bring it to the hospital.

"It also meant that I had to keep myself up well so that I could continue to breast-feed her at home," she said. She has had two other premature babies, one of whom did not live.

Feeding their babies has been difficult for all because the tiny ones tire so quickly they become too weak to suck.

Mrs. Len Ellis of Novato, who has two other children, age 5 and 3, has special problems with her Greg, who was born six weeks prematurely.

"I didn't even know what to expect when I found out Greg would be premature. Then he was born with a cleft palate and harelip. I had never seen a cleft palate before. I was glad they told me right away in the delivery room what the problems were," she said.

THEN GREG developed a lung distress and it was touch-and-go for awhile. Elaine Ellis and her husband just concentrated on hoping he'd make it.

Looking back at the past six weeks since Greg was born, Elaine Ellis talked about the differences in caring for him from her other children as babies.

"Feeding is the biggest hurdle for him," she said holding the sleeping infant on her lap. "Because he was premature he doesn't have the strength to suck and he can't get much milk.

"Being premature and with birth defects, he spent three weeks here in the hospital. My husband and I came in often. It would have been very easy to get detached from Greg then, to forget about him.

"He spent an extra week in the hospital so we could learn how to feed him. He will be coming back soon to have his lip and palate repaired."

She said that the nurses all had a hand in the Ellises' learning to feed him.

"MY HUSBAND did feed him at the beginning when Greg came home. Now he tends to give the bottle and I finish with tube feeding, but he does a lot of the holding for me. If you don't keep doing it you're not as good at it," she said.

"I think we feel closer to Greg than we did to the other children when they were babies."

All agreed that premature babies looked sort of "blobby" with undefined features and it has been interesting to watch eyelashes grow and features develop.

"Greg was due yesterday," Mrs. Ellis said. "Now he looks about the way my other babies did when they were born."

Mrs. Knupp was already noticing that her boy twin was harder to care for than the girl. "That's the way with boys," remarked Carol Martin, whose older child is a boy.

NONE OF the parents of premature babies were eager to go through it again. Accept what happens, but don't repeat it if you can help it, they agreed. It can happen to any mother, and usually you have some idea ahead of time.

It helps if any woman who is expecting a baby has a pediatrician already selected, nurse Gail Moore advised, so that he can be there quickly if the baby is premature.

"If you expect to have a premature baby, don't get too shook up," said Carol Martin, who has had three.

"Anxiety is bad — the worst thing is to worry about it. Accept what happens," advised Elaine Ellis.

One advantage they found was that while the newborn were in the hospital they had some time at home to recover and prepare before the baby came home and to spend with the older children.

Also, the father feels closer to premies because he gets in on the ground floor with them, remarked Gail Moore. "Especially if he sees the baby even before the mother does."

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

'Unk The Skunk' Probably Feels Hot Number Should Share Warmth

DEAR RAP:

The uncle of my ex-boyfriend is about 45, has a sweet wife and two children, is a friend of my family's, and is a Dirty Old Man!

He wants me to sneak out and go with him. If I turn him down, he'll tell my parents a bunch of stuff he knows about me, and I'll get beat and also watched like a hawk until I leave home, which won't be for another two years, darn it.

Here's the story: "Unk" (let's call him) is a big flirt and I goofed around with him a lot but always thought he was kidding. He knows more than he should — like how I sneak out on dates because my father is mean as sin.maybe his nephew told him something, too. Anyway, I thought I could trust him. He always seems to be on the kids' side, so you tell him a lot. That was a mistake!

Last night, he gave me a ride home, and an unfatherly kiss. Then he said he wanted to take me out, and he knew I could manage it because I was good at sneaking.

What it added up to was that if I didn't go with him, he'd tell my folks about my "past." He was pretty cool, but I got the message. And my dad would believe a friend before he'd believe his daughter, especially since I haven't exactly been the ideal teenager.

I don't want to go with a dirty old married man, but how am I going to get out of it? — DISGUSTED BY D.O.M.

DEAR DIS:

He probably figures a hot number should share the warmth.

When you let a "D.O.M." know you sneak out and fool around, then play up to his flirting, you can't expect a image." But when he comes on like a blackmailer, you can slap him down fast with, "Want to go out with me? Look, you ask my father, and I'll ask your wife." — HELEN

SUE'S ANSWER

DEAR DIS:

The Dirty Old Man has a lot more to lose than you have — his wife and kids, his reputation, and probably a lot of skin if your father finds you two together.

Play it safe, "Dis": Ignore "Unk the Skunk" until he goes away. — SUE

DEAR SUE AND HELEN:

I'm 15 and just heard the worst news of my life. Mom and Dad are going to separate. I've told them how awful I feel and they don't seem to hear me. There's this terrible quiet. Nobody says a word to anybody. Would it help if my brother and I ran away? Maybe looking for us would bring them back together. — N.N.

DEAR N.:

Running away won't solve the problem. It might push your folks farther apart. If they aren't happy together, a separation may be better for all of you, even though it hurts awfully at first. (You aren't the only victim of a broken home: they're miserable, too — which is why they don't seem to hear you.)

Remember, married people can stop loving each other, just as you and your boyfriend could. Try to see their side. — SUE

DEAR N.:

. . .But sometimes married people only think they have stopped loving each other. If you can break through that wall of silence and get them talking, maybe you'll have two real parents again. — HELEN

A Birth Pill— 72 Hours After

CHICAGO (UPI)—A birth control pill taken with 72 hours after sexual intercourse prevented pregnancy in 1,000 women of child bearing age without serious side effects, a Michigan physician reported today.

Dr. Lucile Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health Service, said in an article released today in the Journal of the American Medical Association that nearly 900 of the women had used no contraceptive protection.

The probability of a woman becoming pregnant following sex without protection is between one in 50 and one in 25, Dr. Kuchera said.

Dr. Kuchera said she gave a synthetic estrogen known as diethylstilbestrol twice daily for five days to consenting women.

She emphasized that the pill was an emergency type of treatment and advised the women to use other means of contraception on a regular basis.

Secondhand Dolls Sought

Used dolls in good condition are being sought by Mrs. Delorris Moore of Sonoma who for many years has cleaned, refurbished and dressed secondhand dolls and donated them to children who would not otherwise receive gifts at Christmas.

This year Mrs. Moore is seeking Barbie dolls, but says she would welcome dolls with moveable parts, trims, laces and other materials.

FRENCH-CANADIAN design in furniture is introduced in this armoire of mellow cherrywood. It is a case of a new piece of furniture that can become a family heirloom and help rid the house of "the blahs."

INSIDE YOUR HOME

For The House That Has A Bad Case Of The Blahs

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

So far no clever manufacturer has come up with a patent medicine for a house with a case of the blahs. You just live with it, hoping one day to get a great inspiration that will transform that dull interior into a room of distinction.

Fresh paint, new wall coverings and sometimes just a new area rug may alleviate some of the blahs. But what may be totally missing in a house or apartment is that one element that makes a room say it's individual.

The young folks who cover the antique shops, swap meets and junk dealers are ever on the lookout for that once-in-a-lifetime find. It may be an old roll-top desk or a beat-up hutch cabinet. Maybe an armoire or marble-top washstand. But the pickings are getting slimmer and slimmer at those sources.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong with new furniture many people fail to realize that every antique was new once. So they prefer the so-called found treasure over the one sitting in the local retail store. The same narrow vision affects people who shop for older Persian-type carpets.

They look for rugs with faded colors, thinking that represents antiquity. Perhaps it doesn't occur to them that the original owners of those same rugs enjoyed their fresh, jewel tones. When they were new, they had singing, brilliant colorations; they grew faded through generations of use.

So on occasion it's nice to let your family members be the ones who cause a piece of furniture to become an heirloom. The armoire shown today is an example of the kind of piece that can be handed down to the next generation.

Inspired by an armoire from a private collection in Saint-Hilaire in the province of Quebec, this piece is part of Heritage's Tour de France line. Heritage makes no effort in this line to make every piece match or go-together exactly.

Instead, they have searched for unique pieces that have architectural scale and interest. It's their solution to the blahs, and it retails at a bit more than $400. We don't usually mention prices, but in this case, the price tag seems reasonable for the loving craftsmanship and detailing.

THE CURVED apron, multiple moldings, recessed panels and shell motif vary slightly from the original armoire. The fittings are antique brass; hinges are described as long barrel hinges and they become part of the overall design.

The interior is fitted with pull-out drawers and dividers so the unit could work in many areas of the home. It's particularly interesting since it represents a period of design so few of us are aware of and that is the French-Canadian style of the 18th century. You see, there's another cure for those blahs — learning about design.

Paris' Spring Fashions Skipping Back To School

PARIS (UPI) — Paris spring fashions skipped back to school today.

After fiddling around with midis and slinky looks, the French ready-to-wear manufacturers for spring have wrought an innocent little girl theme built around schoolgirl smocks, sailor outfits and sweet 19th Century ruffled evening dresses.

The mini, which could barely hold up its head in last year's ready-to-wear midi experiement, has made a triumphant return. Daytime skirts in the weeklong ready-to-wear displays by 700 French manufacturers at the Versailles Exposition Hall for buyers and press are shorter than those usually seen on Paris streets. The minis replaced "hot pants", the only shorts in the collections being Bermudas for sports.

CONSERVATIVE OR older women are not expected to dress like school girls. For them the show offers the usual suits and coatdress outfits inspired by Chanel or Courreges, sheaths and cocktail garb, although even in these lines of ready-to-wear the hemlines are shorter than for winter, to bare the knee.

For the young and the swingers, the new look is the smock or the sailor. The peasanty-looking smocks are gathered over the bust with a round Peter Pan collar or square neckline. Sleeves, be they short, medium or long, are puffed. Many dresses in prints have collars and cuffs in different prints, the idea of mixing prints, stripes, dots and solids in one dress being popular in the Paris rag trade.

Dresser smocks come in satins and crushed velvet. "Elle" magazine, the style-setter for the young of Paris, is already out with photographs of these mini-school-girl dresses with short puffed sleeves worn over pullover sweaters or blouses.

For the evening, the winner at the Versailles Hall exposition were copies of Yves Saint Laurent's "Proust" dresses in his winter show, long taffetas or ginghams with demure high necks, eyelet embroidery, rickrack and ruffles.

Time Can Be The Heart Healer

"Time is a great healer," is an old proverb — and time is what it takes to mend some infants' heart defects, as doctors at the National Institutes of Health recently discovered.

According to research among a group of children born with a hole that separates two sides of their heart, in more than a third of the youngsters the defects corrected themselves naturally by the time the children reached their third birthday.

In infants born with other defects, heart malfunctions are not known to mend naturally. In these cases, science takes over, and very often with good results. Many childrens' heart defects which do not heal spontaneously can be corrected by open heart operations and other cardiac surgery.

GIANT MUSICAL SOUND

Pathologist Arrives For Haley Study

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Viennese pathologist arrived here yesterday to conduct a second autopsy on the body of Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, killed in the 1970 Marin Civic Center shoot-out.

Dr. Leopold Breitenecker, chairman of the Institute of Legal Medicine at the University of Vienna, was accompanied by his wife, Erma, and his son, Dr. Rutiger Breitenecker of Baltimore, who will assist in the post mortem.

The pathologist said he was under orders not to issue statements, grant interviews or submit to photographs in connection with his visit.

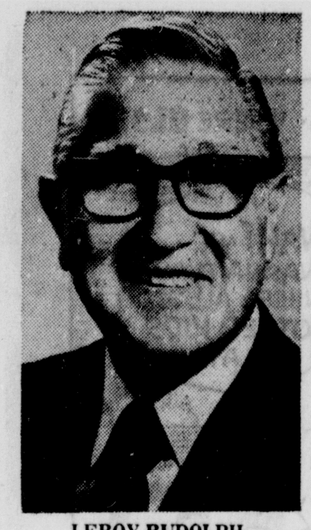
However, he did comment on his arrival at San Francisco International Airport that it was not unusual to exhume a corpse more than a year after death. It has been done "many times" and is "an accepted procedure around the world," he said.

Judge Richard E. Arnason, presiding over the murder-kidnap trial of Ruchell Magee, granted a defense request that Haley's body be exhumed.

Magee's court-appointed attorney, Ernest Graves of Los Angeles, wants the new autopsy to try to prove that a shotgun blast allegedly fired by Magee in the back of an escape van did not kill the judge.

The original autopsy indicated Haley was hit by the shotgun blast and also sustained a bullet wound. Both were fired at about the same time and either could have killed him, said coroner's officials.

Graves is trying to prove the bullet wound occurred first and Haley was already dead when the shotgun was fired.



LEROY RUDOLPH
Retiring banker

San Rafael Banker Will Retire Soon

Leroy Rudolph, manager of the Bank of America's San Rafael main office and a bank vice president, will retire next month after more than 45 years with the bank.

Headquarters for the bank in San Francisco announced Rudolph will retire Nov. 30. No successor has been named.

The executive began as a bookkeeper in the bank's Petaluma office in 1926.

After 11 years in Petaluma, he was transferred to Cloverdale, then to San Rafael in 1941 as assistant cashier and chief clerk. He was named operations officer five years later.

In 1952, he became assistant manager of the bank's Santa Rosa main office and six years later took over as manager of a branch office in Santa Rosa.

He was moved to the San Rafael post in 1960 and was named vice president two years later.

His wife, Marjorie, was murdered in their San Rafael home in 1966 while he was in a local hospital recovering from surgery. The slayer has never been found.

In addition to his bank work, Rudolph has devoted himself to service organizations. He belongs to the San Rafael Rotary Club and Elks Lodge and has served as a Marin director of the Cerebral Palsy Association, a director of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Redwood Empire Association.

Critic To Speak At Fall Series

Karen Monson, music critic for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, will be the speaker Thursday at the final opera preview in the fall series sponsored by Marin Opera Action.

Miss Monson, 26, will preview Donizetti's "Maria Stuarda" at the Frances Young Gallery on the grounds of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross at 8:30 p.m.

A native of New York, the music critic holds a bachelor's degree from Radcliffe College, where she majored in music. She has studied flute for 16 years in New York, Boston and London and in 1966 was chosen a Fulbright scholar in performing arts at the Hochschule Fuer Musik in Berlin.

On her return to this country she became a member of the Rockefeller Foundation's project for the training of music critics. During this three-year program she was a graduate student at the University of Southern California and then became the assistant to Martin Bernheimer, music critic of the Los Angeles Times.

She is now a member of the Rockefeller Foundation Project faculty and has been with the Herald-Examiner since 1969. She also writes on a freelance basis for the San Francisco Opera, various music and other periodicals and record jackets.

Inverness Election Off

One of three candidates running for two seats on the Inverness Public Utility District board has been disqualified, making an election unnecessary.

According to a spokesman at the county elections office, Sim Vanderryn, an architect, failed to get the necessary number of signatures to qualify for the ballot.

Thus incumbent George H. Ludy of Highland Way and Donald J. Colbert of Inverness Way will be considered by the county board of supervisors for direct appointment to the utility district board.

Ludy, a former Marin County supervisor and planning commissioner, is now in real estate sales.

A Sampling By Lindsay In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York swept through Florida Monday in an apparent test of sentiment for his possible entry in the Florida presidential primary in March.

He flew back to New York after appearances in Tallahassee, Miami and St. Petersburg.

Lindsay arrived in Tallahassee early Monday morning, after a weekend visit to Mississippi, where he spoke at rallies for independent black gubernatorial candidate Charles Evers.

Lindsay conferred with state officials and Democratic party leaders in Tallahassee, then hopped by charter plane to Miami and St. Petersburg for speech-making.

Lindsay told the Florida League of Cities meeting in St. Petersburg the nation should turn its money and energy to building hospitals, schools and jobs rather than bombs.

"When will we finally have escalation of concern for our cities her at home?" he asked the municipal officials.

"You and I know the facts of urban life, but we have not gotten the help we need because in Washington theydo not understand these facts," Lindsay said. "Washington has lost touch with what's going on in the cities and towns of America."

MUSIC REVIEW

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A second new chamber music group to make its Marin debut within a week — the Pacifica Chamber Players — was heard last night in Angelico Hall in the Dominican College Concert Series.

Whereas the concert Friday by the Otnes String Quartet at the Tamalpais Retirement Residence was suited to the average music lover, last night's concert was definitely for the connoisseur of chamber music, for the program consisted of difficult and rarely heard gems performed with extraordinary skill and polish.

The Pacifica Chamber Players is a group of six music students of university or graduate level and last night included professional musicians substituting for the violinist and cellist. Performing were director Tom Rose, clarinet; Ricklin Nobis, piano; Anne Crowden, violin; Nancy Ellis, viola; Gretchen Elliott, cello, and Robert Dickow, French horn.

Playing with remarkable rapport and precision, the musicians were masters of technical and expressive resources that resulted in full realization of the widely varied styles of their three numbers. These were the refined subtle Mozart Quartet for Piano and Strings No. 1 in G Minor, the gay, piquant Milhaud Suite for Violin, Clarinet and Piano, and the fiery, brilliant Dohnanyi Sextet for Clarinet, Horn, Strings and Piano.

Balance among the instruments was very good for the most part. Though the cellist was technically proficient, her tone was a little light. The unusual power and warmth of the viola helped to strengthen the lower register.

Highlight of the evening was the Dohnanyi with its typical Hungarian fervor and drama. Playing was at a very high level of skill by all instruments, but I particularly noticed the French horn. I have rarely heard as mellow and golden a tone and one so smoothly sustained on this instrument.

The Milhaud was the spice of the program, completely captivating with its jazzy first and last movements, lyrical second and dance-like third. The songful quality of the clarinet was especially lovely.

The Mozart that opened the program is said to include tempestuous, stark and imperious elements, but the Pacifica Chamber Players' interpretation did not have all that dramatic an impact. It was refined and elegant Mozart.

Special commendation is due pianist Ricklin Nobis, who provided a strong equally virtuoso foundation for the other instruments in all three numbers on the program.

Price Team Takes Oath Of Office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Working against an 18-day deadline, the seven members of the Price Commission took the oath of office today and immediately went to work on a program that will attempt to hold the line on prices after the freeze expires.

In a brief ceremony in the Executive Office Building next to the White House the new commissioners grasped bibles, raised their right hands and pledged to "well and faithfully discharge" their new duties.

The commission will set price and rent standards that will apply after the freeze expires Nov. 13. They will also hear appeals for relief from the economic controls and decide if companies have made unreasonably large "windfall" profits because of the controls.

The board is headed by C. Jackson Grayson Jr., dean of the business school at Southern Methodist University. All seven members are public representatives. There is one woman, Marina Whitman, University of Pittsburgh economics professor, and one Negro, William T. Coleman Jr., a Philadelphia lawyer.

The other members are John William Queenen, formerly with the accounting firm of Haskins and Sells; William Scranton, former governor of Pennsylvania; Wilson Newman, former chairman of Dun and Bradstreet, and Robert F. Lanzilotti, dean of the school of business at the University of Florida.

Soviet Military Might Studied

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin Laird today gave European defense ministers a report on increases in Soviet military strength and discussed plans to contain it.

At a meeting of the nuclear planning group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), Laird and his European counterparts—from Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark and Greece —examined studies of how the balance of strategic nuclear forces will develop in Europe.

The ministers are engaged in a continuing study of the strategic balance aimed at maintaining NATO's policy of flexible response in any conflict and deciding policy for the future.

Closed Meeting

Directors of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District will meet in closed session to discuss whom to hire for a secretary job at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office, 270 Elm Road, clerk Jane Boyer reported.

UC Virus Lab To Be Renamed

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The University of California's famed virus laboratory at Berkeley will be renamed in honor of the late Wendell M. Stanley, pioneer virus researcher, in ceremonies Sunday.

Stanley died in June while attending a scientific meeting in Spain. He was the first to crystallize viruses and define their chemistry, and won the Nobel Prize for his research.

Membership Drive Extended This Week

The new Marin Concert Association has extended its membership drive through Saturday.

Information about the association, which plans a series of concerts at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, may be obtained by asking information for the telephone number of the association at its headquarters at Sherman Clay, San Rafael, or by calling Mrs. Bernard Mulaskey, 18 Sherman Court, Fairfax.

Bears Hazardous

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Residents of the Vancouver north shore have been warned not to get too familiar with visiting black bears. Two bears have been killed recently in residential sections of West Vancouver and a game official said more bears could be expected to appear in the area.

Registration Slated For Six Courses

An eight-week course in judo will start Nov. 15 at Rancho School.

A belly dancing course will be taught for six weeks starting Nov. 4 at the Novato Community House.

Food and cake decorating will be taught on Wednesdays and Thursdays starting Nov. 3 and 4 at the Novato Community House.

Teen drop-in will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Novato High School and Wednesdays at San Marin High School, San Jose and Sinaloa junior high schools and on Saturdays from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at Novato and San Marin high schools.

A Warning On The Waterfront

Gryziec, representing the 500-member volunteer planning organization San Francisco Tomorrow, said the city's official plans for development of the waterfront could destroy some areas.

A hearing on the city's planning problems was set for Thursday afternoon.

"The official plans reveal that the waterfront will continue to be treated as common real estate available for maximum private profit rather than as a rare natural resource for maximum public enjoyment," Gryziec said.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South Should Refuse First Trick For A No-Trump Victory

"It's hard to live in a state of rapture over such plays as that," said Sherlock Holmes as he got up from his favorite kibitzing chair at the Baker St. Bridge Club. Dr. Watson walked out with the great detective, but the good doctor was bewildered. They had just watched a very normal, but unlucky, hand. What on earth was Holmes complaining about?

ENCOURAGEMENT

In the hand in question, West opened the jack of hearts. East signaled encouragement by playing the seven, and South took the king. South got to dummy with a diamond to try the club finesse, losing to the king.

West promptly led the six of hearts, and East took four heart tricks to defeat the contract. Exit two kibitzers.

Holmes wouldn't discuss the hand, but readers of this column surely see what bothered him. If you haven't spotted the bridge crime and the criminal, take another look at the hand before you read on.

HASTY PLAY

South could afford to lose a trick to the king of clubs, but he couldn't afford to lose four heart tricks. Moreover, South didn't need a heart trick to make his contract; he just needed to limit the loss in hearts.

If you have put all these observations together you have surely seen that South should refuse to win the first trick. East can capture the next heart trick with the ace, dropping the king, but then East must stop after taking the queen of hearts. Dummy's ten will eventually stop the suit.

HEARTS TRAPPED

West eventually gets in with the king of clubs but cannot lead hearts or get the lead to his partner in any other suit.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 8 7 4 3 2
♥ - J 6
♦ - 10 7 6
♣ - K 8 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is slightly too weak for a response. If partner opened with one spade, however, you would raise to two spades since your length in partner's suit would be worth a point or two.

Transport Panel Meeting Slated

OAKLAND — The Metropolitan Transportation Commission's monthly meeting will be at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow in the board of supervisors chambers of the Alameda County Administration building, 1221 Oak Street.

Because the commission's seven committees always meet in secret without public notice, business to come before the full commission cannot be determined in advance.

The executive committee will meet first at 9:15 a.m.

Environmentalist Listing Sought

GREENWICH, Conn. (UPI)— Charles R. Carroll, chairman of the Greenwich Environmental Service, is asking all environmentalist and conservationists in the country to help in the compilation of a national directory of such organizations.

Carroll expressed hope that "all groups will write us to let us know of their existence and that all national groups will send us a list of all of their chapters or affiliated organizations."

Carroll asked that responses be sent to: P.O. Box 95, Pleasantville, N.J. 08232.

Seven In Stinson Beach Lineup

(One of a series of articles being published by the Independent-Journal, outlining the issues and presenting the candidates in the Nov. 2 election)

On Nov. 2 voters in the Stinson Beach County Water District will go to the polls to select three directors for the district board, in the first contested election since the district was formed in 1961.

The district's 451 registered voters will be able to choose from a field of seven candidates, including three incumbents.

Despite the fact the State Water Resources control board last week withdrew certifaction for the $8.1 million waste treatment system proposed for Stinson Beach and Bolinas and thus killed the project, it was the controversial project which drew the large field of candidates.

The project may be dead in its present form, but its impact will still be felt in the upcoming election because money remains available for a suitably modified plan and all four candidates opposing the incumbents decided to run because they were against the project.

Incumbents Edward E. Leary, James V. Stevens and Hugh Dougherty may have expressed doubts that the waste disposal system planned was the best one possible for the community. But many residents still see the board members as the persons responsible for coming close to saddling the community with an $8.1 million sewer system.

It must be noted that Dougherty and Stevens decided several months ago that alternatives to the plan might be possible. To this end, they encouraged the board's recent hiring of two consultants to study the sewage situation in Stinson, then recommend other possible (and feasible) solutions. Leary, too, had agreed to take another look at the proposal if re-elected.

Long before the current project was killed by the state, the four other candidates in the race were convinced it must be stopped and other methods and solutions found.

Three contenders, John L. Jones, Andrea De Marco and Charles E. Hancock, are running on a slate sponsored by Stinson Beach Projects, a grassroots resident group which emerged in opposition to the expensive system. A fourth contender, Proctor Jones, is in the contest as an independent, but also opposed the project as unsuitable for the small community.

Two other candidates, Lank Felsen and Harriet W. Crandall, have withdrawn from the race in favor of the Stinson Beach Projects slate, although their names will still appear on the ballot.

On election day voters will cast their ballots at a single polling place in the Stinson Beach Community Center where the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The seven candidates bring to the contest a variety of qualifications and reasons for running for the board:

Incumbent Stevens, a sales engineer for a company which manufactures pulp and paper waste disposal systems, said he hopes to bring to the board "technical experience and common sense, plus an appreciation of the necessity of protecting the environment and small town atmosphere of Stinson Beach."

A two-year veteran on the board, Stevens contends that waste disposal systems proposed by opponents of the project are untried and unproven and could be very expensive to maintain. He said the current waste system would cost more to build than others, but the cost of upkeep and maintenance would be low.

The ideal system for Stinson Beach must combine "a dedication to ecology, balanced with a system of proven effectiveness which is simple to operate," Stevens said.

Stinson Beach rancher Hancock believes a change is needed on the board to make it more responsive to the public it serves. For some time, he said, residents in the district have been "faced with a crisis of nonrepresentative government."

Hancock said the three Stinson Beach Projects candidates are very aware of the problems which can result when a board ignores the wishes of the public. He said the three would work diligently to insure the board remains "receptive to the views of residents."

Hancock, who is also a trustee for the Bolinas-Stinson School District, said he would strive for a sewage disposal system that would utilize existing facilities, such as septic tanks, to the fullest extent possible.

Leary, a retired construction inspector for the state, who has served on the water board about three years, is running "because I did not want to quit under fire since I had not done anything to be ashamed of." He said he has been "a good board member" and has "done what I thought was the right thing."

If the district is going to construct a treatment and disposal system, Leary believes it should be built as soon as possible because "the longer we wait, the more it will cost."

Teacher Miss De Marco says that if elected she would do everything in her power to keep community residents informed of what is going on in the district. "I care about Stinson Beach and feel there are forces on the county and state level which could destroy the character of the area if the people are not informed," she said. She suggests the district publish an information bulletin which could be sent to all residents.

Miss De Marco, who describes herself as "a critical thinker, someone who doesn't just accept what's handed to me," would also work to deal with other community problems, such as lack of recreational facilities and insufficient distribution of water.

Photographer Jones deplores "the undemocratic manner" in which the current board has been run and the "immense indebtedness the board has incurred without consultation and consent" of taxpayers and property owners.

Jones, who has leased or owned property in Stinson Beach for the past 17 years, believes that local government is "our last bastion of hope. If we dissolve, merge, consolidate or permit annexation of the little areas which we know, and in which we are known, we lose our identity as a free people," he said and urged persons "who favor big government" to vote against him.

In addition to developing a scaled-down system involving recycling of wastes and no ocean outfall designed for Stinson alone, Jones sees improvement of Stinson's water mains as essential. "They have deteriorated to the point where the fire department might not be able to handle a single residential blaze, let alone a major conflagration in an area where there is much old frame construction," the retired lumber company vice president said.

If elected, he would try to insure the electorate is kept informed of district operations, something he believes the current board has neglected.

Dougherty has been president of the water district board since it was formed in 1961 and said his 10 years experience on the board have given him "an extensive layman's knowledge of waste treatment systems and local government."

He is running, he said, because of "a sense of continuing responsibility to the community" and the desire to "achieve an optimum solution to the (sewage) problem and avoid a short-sighted solution which will require starting all over again in a few years."

The system Dougherty envisions would be one which is environmentally sound, within the financial resources of the community and designed in such a way that it will serve the area adequately in the future.

Heated Officers' Charges During Prisons Hearing

By WAT TAKESHITA

SAN FRANCISCO — Spokesmen for the California Correctional Officers Association were sharply reprimanded by a congressional subcommittee yesterday for charging certain lawyers and lawyer groups with possible subversion or revolutionary activities.

Moe Camacho, president of the California Correctional Officers Association, called for investigation of several groups including the National Lawyers Guild and Berkeley attorneys Fay and Marvin Stender for subversive activities.

This brought stinging rebuke from Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., chairman of a subcommittee of the House Committee on Judiciary.

"I take exception to your statements," said Kastenmeier. He said attorneys are accountable to courts and the bar associations and should not be subjected to such serious accusations at a public hearing on prison reform.

"We've dealt with plots to kill correctional officers," replied Camacho. "We have lost nine personnel in two years. When a correctional officer in his heart feels some people are purposely trying to kill him, he's got to get emotional!"

"When will a committee be formed to take testimony from the victims of crimes?" Apfel asked indignantly.

Camacho placed blame for violence on attorneys who he said "provide an ideal pipeline between the outside and inside revolutionary movements.

"Prison violence and murder in California will continue to increase unless and until we accept the cold, hard fact that a conspiracy exists to destroy our penal system and our willingness to deal accordingly with those who are responsible."

Rep. John Conyers, D-Michigan, a black member of the subcommittee, told the correctional officers they label prisoners as militants and revolutionaries but forget that there are a few sadistic officers who precipitate the incidents.

Citing one recent example, Conyers declared that on Aug. 23 — two days after the Aug. 21 outbreak at San Quentin in which three inmates and three guards died — officers dragged prisoners whom they considered revolutionaries out of their cells and forcibly removed their long hair and sprayed mace in their faces.

"That's common knowledge, and I'm sure you wouldn't deny it," challenged Conyers.

He added that some correctional officers later returned to the prisoners and apologized for what they had done in a heat of passion.

"If I saw any brutality inflicted by an officer, I'd report it," replied Camacho.

Aaron Read, spokesman for the California State Employees Association, asked for more realistic salaries for correctional officers and a training academy similar to the one set up for highway patrolmen.

The strongest attack against the state prison administration came from Fay Stender, Berkeley attorney, who was one of those named as a possible subversive by Camacho.

"The basic root condition of California prisoners is total powerlessness," said Mrs. Stender. Once inside the prison, a convict is at the complete mercy of the correctional officers because it is their word over that of convicts, she declared.

At a disciplinary hearing, a parole hearing, or a hearing to revoke parole, the word of one or two officers can doom a man to life imprisonment with no chance for rebuttal or cross-examination, she alleged. "The terror comes from powerlessness because all review is within the system; there is no redress."

She hand-delivered a note which she said was written by a correctional officer to a convict who pleaded for medical aid. The note read: "Yell for help when the blood is one inch thick all over the floor. Don't call before that."

To free convicts from the terror of powerlessness, Mrs. Stender recommended that a federal ombudsman be created to hear grievances of prisoners. She said this ombudsman must be paid and supervised from an agency completely divorced from the department of corrections.

Among her other recommendations were:

Prisoners should be allowed to organize, hear charges and cross-examine witnesses, get a minimum wage for working in industries, not be subject to indeterminate sentences, and have more access to legal help.

Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections; Henry W. Kerr, chairman of the California Adult Authority, and James W.

Raymond K. Procunier, director of the Department of Corrections; Henry W. Kerr, chairman of the California Adult Authority, and James W.L. Park, associate warden of San Quentin, defended the prison system as working better today than ever before. They cited such improvements as conjugal visits, three-day passes, and the work furlough system.

Prison officials agreed that San Quentin and Folsom are old and over-crowded and should be abolished, but the expense of converting these prisons into smaller units scattered in various communities is more than the taxpayers can afford.

UNICEF Drive Is Set Sunday

Several hundred Tiburon Peninsula children will go door-to-door Sunday to collect money for the United Nations Childrens Emergency Fund in the annual "trick or treat for UNICEF" campaign.

This year the Reed School District, the Community Congregational Church and St. Stephen's Episcopal Church are cooperating in the drive, according to Peninsula chairman Gertrude Schleiger.

Each year approximately $600 is collected for UNICEF on the Tiburon Peninsula, she said.

Five Enter Race For Fire Panel In Bolinas

Five candidates will vie Nov. 2 for three seats on the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

The candidates include the three incumbents whose seats are up for election — Fred E. Davis, Hurford Sharon and Edwin Cadogen.

None could be reached yesterday for comment on the election in which 661 registered voters will be eligible to cast ballots. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Davis, 62, of Aspen Road, has served on the board since Dec. 1966.

Davis, who is a handyman, also has served on the Bolinas Public Utility District Board.

Sharon, another incumbent, lives on Brighton Avenue.

Cadogan, a former College of Marin instructor, is running for the first time since being appointed to the board.

He is also a director of the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District and is subject to a recall election Nov. 2 from that board.

He resides at 32 Crescente Avenue. He resigned his position at the College of Marin in 1967 after 20 years with the school.

Four Candidates Battling For Three Marinwood CSD Seats

(One of a series of articles being published by the Independent-Journal, outlining the issues and presenting the candidates in the Nov. 2 election).

Four candidates — including two incumbents and a former director — are battling for three seats on the Marinwood Community Services District board to be filled by the Nov. 2 county election.

Lawrence B. Malkin, who surrendered his seat in 1969 after almost two years on the board, is again seeking a seat. Walter O. Johnson, a member of the land use advisory committee of the services district, is the fourth candidate.

The polls in the Lucas Valley district will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the 1,974 registered voters in the district.

The main problem confronting the board is future development, according to Genevieve T. Bolding, business manager of the district.

While the board unanimously has taken strong stands against major developments such as the proposed Renaissance Pleasure Faire in Upper Lucas Valley, Johnson said the board has not gone far enough.

"I think the Marinwood Community Services District board has been very lax in the area of acting rather than reacting. This has resulted in more hysteria than practical land use," the 43-year-old financial planner and consultant said.

He said his main thrust if elected to the board would be to develop "realistic" long-range plans for the valley so the board would have guidelines for dealing with developers.

Although he has held no elective office, he said his experience in real estate would help in planning.

Malkin, 39, assistant administrator at Marin General Hospital, was chairman of the Marinwood Parks and Recreation Commission before being appointed to the district board in January, 1969. His resignation followed his election as president of the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club.

He lauded the past leadership of the board in holding down taxes and meeting the problems of a small district. He promised to continue in the same mold.

Solomon, 43, an attorney, was elected to the board in 1967. He has also served as a director of the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District and chairman of the Marinwood Citizens' Advisory Committee on Land Use and the Dixie School District Citizens Finance Committee.

The incumbent director said further effort must be expended on improving the district's services while continuing to drive down the tax rate and on planning for land use.

Emphasis, he said, should also be placed on "preventing the polarizing of the community, by age, by politics, or otherwise," and on cooperation with other government bodies.

O'Brien, like Malkin, was appointed to the board after a stint as chairman of the parks and recreation commission. The 43-year-old insurance broker was appointed in March 1970.

He told the Independent-Journal the main concerns of the board are finances and development.

He claimed the board has added services and made improvements while reducing the tax rate.

The incumbent appointee also committed himself to fight "abuses in density" and battle to retain open space on the hills surrounding Lucas Valley.

The goldeneye duck is commonly called the "whistler" because of the loud, high-pitched noise made by its wings.

Driver Injured In Lot Scuffle

A 20-year-old San Rafael man was released yesterday from Marin General Hospital after overnight treatment of an injury suffered in a scuffle Saturday following a minor traffic accident in a supermarket parking lot.

San Rafael police said Leroy T. Leonhardt of 2035 Redwood Highway, Apt. 12, was taken to the hospital by ambulance after he was found unconscious, although it was not clear how he was knocked out, in the Mayfair Market at 1801 Fourth Street.

Police said the trouble at the market began when Leonhardt apparently backed his car into a car being driven by John E. Loeber of San Jose in the parking lot.

The men got out of their cars and Leonhardt allegedly attacked a passenger in Loeber's car, Mark Jefferson Lee of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 21, San Rafael.

Lee and Loeber got back into their car and were starting to drive away, police said, when Leonhardt hurled two rocks through the back window of their car. Lee suffered minor glass cuts on his arm and cheek, police said.

Lee and Loeber then chased Leonhardt into the store, but were reportedly held away from him by other persons in the store, and police were unable to say how Leonhardt was injured. He suffered bruises of his head and abdomen, the hospital said.

General Obligation Bond Is Supported

The Petaluma City Council heard last night that passage of general obligation bonds would be the cheapest method of financing the required addition to the sewage disposal plant.

City Finance Director Cecil G. Gealta said that Ernest Bodner of financial consultants Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco recommended that $1 million bond election be held in January to finance the project.

Last June voters rejected a $2 million bond election for the project. Since that time, the city has become eligible for 80 per cent rather than 50 per cent federal and state financing for construction. Bodner said the city would now reduce its bond issue to the $1 million figure and still meet costs.

Gealta said the city must actually have $1.7 million on hand, pending federal reimbursement of money, but said it would be less expensive to borrow the remaining $700,000 from a bank or from the city water fund.

The council heard that revenue bonds could be sold without holding an election, but that interest rates would be higher than on general obligation bonds and that more reserve funds must be on hand.

The council has promised the state Water Quality control Board that if a bond election is held and fails again, it will sell revenue bonds to finance the project.

Gealta said the council requested more financial information and set another meeting for Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. A decision on the bond election must be made at the Nov. 15 meeting so the election can be held in January.

Youth Injured In Shoreline Accident

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a fractured collarbone received in a one-car accident on the Shoreline Highway, south of the Tomales Bay Oyster Co.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Paul C. Holsman was injured about 9 p.m. when his southbound auto overturned while rounding a curve.

HOW TO BE SURE YOUR HOUSE SITS INSTEAD OF SELLS

You can put up a sign and wait for a prospect. Or advertise, and wait for the phone to ring. Both are guaranteed to get you more "lookers" than buyers.

Save time. See us first. We're Realtors; experts who know how to price your home, promote your home, and bring you real prospects. Professionals who are pledged to a strict code of ethics, and work in your best interests. So you can relax, knowing you're being taken care of. Professionally.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, if you list with multiple listing, you will immediately have 800 professionals working for you.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
No. 18246

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Superior Court, on November 8, 1971, at 9:00 a.m. or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as Administrator With the Will Annexed of the Estate of RUTH ROBERTS LUNDGREN, also known as RUTH R. LUNDGREN, Deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned all right, title and interest of RUTH ROBERTS LUNDGREN, also known as RUTH R. LUNDGREN, deceased, at the time of her death, and all right, title and interest that the estate has acquired in addition to that of decedent at the time of her death, in the real property located in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

PARCEL A

Commencing at a point on the Southerly line of Mission Street, said point being the Northeasterly corner of the parcel conveyed by John J. Roberts to Rachel A. Roberts by Deed recorded September 29, 1914 in Book 163 of Deeds, at page 474, Marin County Records, and running thence along the Easterly line of said parcel South 15° 34' West 140 feet, more or less, to the Northeasterly corner of the parcel conveyed by Rachel A. Roberts to Ruth R. commonly known as Mission and Mary Streets, San Rafael, California.

The sale is subject to current taxes, convenants, conditions, restrictions, rights, rights of way, and easements of record, if any. The property is to be sold on an "as is" basis, except as to title.

Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the office of BRYAN R. McCARTHY, attorney for said Administrator, at 960 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, or may be filed with the Clerk of said Superior Court or delivered to BRYAN R. McCARTHY personally, at any time after first publication of this notice and before making said sale.

Bids must be sealed and will be opened at the office of BRYAN R. McCARTHY at the hour of 9:00 a.m. on the above date. The property will be sold on the following terms: Cash. 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an Order confirming the sale.

SUMMONS
No. 60127

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin

vs.

SAMUEL I. MOORE, also known as S. I. MOORE, and ALSO ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN, CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO, Defendants.

To the Defendants:

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.

The object of this action is to make the above-named defendants set forth the nature of their claim or claims to the real property in the complaint and hereinafter described, if any they have, and that such claim or claims be adjudged to be of no effect and void, and that plaintiffs' title to said real property be quieted against them.

That said real property is situate in the City of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described as follows:

Parcel One:

Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of Beach Road, formerly "Bay View Ave." which point is the most southerly corner of Lot 12, Block 1, as said lot and block are shown on that certain map entitled, "Map No. 3 of the Belvedere Peninsula, Marin County, Cal." filed June 26, 1891 in the Office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin; running thence from said point of beginning along said road line south 38° 21' east 51.36 feet to the most southerly corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Rose M. Rotchy to Martha M. Morrison, recorded July 25, 1955 in Book 958 of Official Records at page 161; thence along the southeasterly line of the parcel of land described in said last mentioned deed north 38° 26' east 134.72 feet to a point distant 65.02 feet from the easterly corner thereof; thence leaving said line north 77° 51' west 89.22 feet; thence south 28° 26' west 50.0 feet; thence south 27° 23' east 32.89 feet and south 38° 26' and west 20.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcel Two:

IF YOU WISH TO SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO SO PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING, IF ANY, MAY BE FILED ON TIME.

Defendant(s): ELISEO DEVELOPMENT CO., a limited partnership, NIELS SCHULTZ, JR., ALVIN K. SCHULTZ, SCHULTZ INVESTMENT CO. (formerly SCHULTZ CO.), EDWARD W. BURGAR, individually, EDWARD W. BURGAR, INC., a corporation, EDWARD HAGEMAN, individually, EDWARD HAGEMAN & ASSOCIATES, a partnership, EDWARD A. LINDSTROM, CAROLYN I. LINDSTROM, DAMES & MOORE, a partnership, WILLIAM MOORE, TRENT DAMES, DOE ONE, through DOE FIFTY, inclusive.

To the Defendant(s): EDWARD A. LINDSTROM and CAROLYN I. LINDSTROM:

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint (or a written or oral pleading, if a Justice Court) within 30 days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise, your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your pleading, if any, may be filed on time.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE RE: MINORS' CHANGE OF NAME
No. 61509

WHEREAS, JOHN JAMES FLORES and KAREN FLORES, his wife, petitioners, as guardians of applicants, ELIZABETH DENISE HERNANDEZ, ROBERT ANTHONY HERNANDEZ, MELINDA THERESE HERNANDEZ, and VERONICA DORESE HERNANDEZ, all being under 18 years of age, have filed a petition with the clerk of this court for an order changing applicants' family name from HERNANDEZ to FLORES.

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the above-entitled matter appear before this court at 9 A.M., on Nov. 11, 1971, in the courthouse in San Rafael, Marin County, California, and show cause, if any, why the petition for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in the Independent-Journal of Marin, a newspaper of general circulation printed in the County of Marin, California, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing on the petition.

The Bighorn Returns To Old Habitat

TULELAKE (UPI)—A band of 10 California bighorn sheep returned during the weekend in a livestock truck to the northeastern corner of the state where they had been extinct for more than half a century.

The eight ewes and two rams, transported from British Columbia by the state Department of Fish and Game and the National Park Service, were turned free in Lava Beds National Monument to start what wildlife officials hope will be a new herd of California bighorn sheep.

The California bighorns originally populated the northeastern part of the state as far west as parts of Shasta County and as far south as Lassen County. But hungry domestic sheep eventually spelled their downfall.

The transplanted bighorns will roam throughout 1,100 acres of steep, rocky country on lands administered by the Parks Service and Forest Service.

When the fledging herd has increased to 25 animals, officials hope to relocate some to other areas where bighorns once roamed. Currently, an estimated 200 bighorns now roam the eastern slope of the Sierra from Mono County southward in small, scattered bands.

Steel Imports

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The 11 million tons of steel imported in the first seven months of this year was the equivalent of 65,000 full-time job opportunities in the domestic steel industry plus 13,000 in supporting business, according to the U.S. Steel Corp.

Man Complaining of 'Dope' Spill Booked At Jail

A San Anselmo man, arrested on drug charges by San Rafael Police Sunday, has been released from Marin County Jail on his promise to appear in municipal court Friday.

Police said Bruce L. Rasmussen, 19, of 51 Forbes Avenue was arrested after he asked a San Rafael service station attendant for some rubber bands, saying he had spilled his "dope" in his car.

The attendant at Sarganis Shell Station, 755 Second Street called police, who said they found a hypodermic needle and syringe, a spoon and a plastic bag containing 30 white tablets of an unidentified substance in a small cardboard box in Rasmussen's pocket.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KPIX (5), 7:30 p.m. — The influence of black Americans on contemporary white English singers of the blues, and vice versa, is explored in an hour-long special, "Black, White and Blues." Among the musicians performing are Chicken Shack, Fleetwood Mack and Savoy Brown. Gene Pell narrates.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — "Should tax monies be spent to support non-public schools?" is the subject on "The Advocates."

Rare Woodpecker — Photographic Proof

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI)—The ivory-billed woodpecker, its presence undocumented for more than 30 years, has been sighted and photographed in the southeastern United States, a representative of the National Audubon Society reported Monday.

William M. Campbell, president of the local chapter of the Audubon Society, told United Press International the society has "documented proof" of the existence of the bird.

Campbell's announcement was confirmed by Robert Manns, southeastern representative for the society in Atlanta. He said a pair of the birds had been sighted and a photograph taken of one of them recently.

Campbell and Manns refused to reveal the location of the birds, explaining they feared an influx of hundreds of bird watchers if the site were made known.

Last year officials of the Audubon Society made a recording of the mating call of the bird in the Santee swamp in South Carolina. However, the woodpecker itself was never observed at that time.

"We can safely say the ivory-billed woodpecker is not extinct," said Campbell. "We have a photograph of it and we know that it was observed jointly by at least two highly qualified observers."

The last reported sighting of the bird was made by ornothologist John V. Dennis in 1967 along the big thicket country of Eastern Texas. Dennis' report was never confirmed by Audubon authorities.

The decline of the woodpecker followed extensive lumbering operations throughout the South in the 1930's. The Santee swamp has been the target of a proposed logging operation, but a one-year delay has been ordered in the start of timber cutting while a state study of the impact of the cutting is made.

Campbell would not say definitely if the Santee swamp was the site of the photographs, but he noted that "the fact that we have found the bird points up the pressing need for an extensive study of the area by the South Carolina public service authority."

COEDS CREATE CREEPY CORNERS

Mother Of Jackson Is Denied Items

A move by the mother of slain San Quentin inmate George Jackson to get possession of some of his property apparently has been denied.

A preliminary opinion filed today by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court indicates the warden of San Quentin has the right to hold property of Jackson which appears to be needed in connection with an investigation of the Aug. 21 violence at the prison.

With the exception of unidentified materials given to Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, all Jackson's property has been returned to his mother, Georgia Jackson of Pasadena, according to an affidavit filed by San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson.

Bales has declined to say what property he has, but Mrs. Jackson's attorney, Edward C. Bell of San Francisco, said it includes a manuscript of a book Jackson was working on, various correspondence dating from 1960 and legal documents pertaining to the defense of the Soledad Brothers.

Jackson died in what was reportedly a futile escape attempt at the prison Aug. 21. Two other inmates and three guards were slain.

CTA Calls For Racism Probes

OAKLAND (UPI) —The California Teachers Association is calling on each of its locals for independent studies of racism.

A resolution, passed Monday as the CTA ended its annual convention, asks each local to spend a meeting before March 31 considering racism and education—what each local is doing to promote the hiring, retention and promotion of minority group teachers.

The resolution was passed after two black members complained of internal racism.

JoAnne Minor of California State College at Hayward declared the 20,000-member organization has no "state black officials—either elected or appointed.

Tam High Trustees Seeking Goals Study

Tamalpais High School District trustees last night asked the district superintendent for ways to educate themselves on education goals without stepping on the toes of task forces appointed to develop such goals.

Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said his recommendations will be forthcoming, probably Nov. 15, after he talks with members of the task forces.

The two-and-a-half hour discussion with parents and teachers focused mainly on defining "goal", Hawkins said, but littel was said about actual educational priorities.

However, the board recommended that the task forces study goals set up for elementary districts in Marin.

The task forces, consisting of students, parents and faculty, have been set up at each of the district's three schools to develop educational goals for the high schools.

In a closed session prior to the discussion, the board discussed firing a teacher, but took no action, Hawkins said.

Belvedere Council Scores Democratic Remap Plan

The Belvedere City Council last night joined its sister city Tiburon in opposing a democratic proposal to redistrict state Senate districts, cutting the Tiburon Peninsula from the rest of Marin.

Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel said the council is sending a resolution to the Senate elections and reapportionment committee saying that the "interests of the electorate are primary" rather than the interests of "politically motivated" elected officials.

Democrats on the committee have proposed a plan whereby the Tiburon Peninsula would be included in a district which would stretch 200 miles north and include Solano, Colusa, Glenn, Sutter, Yuba, Tehama and Shasta counties.

The rest of Marin would be included in a district covering portions of San Francisco and San Mateo counties under the Democratic proposal.

Republicans have proposed a plan which would keep Marin intact in a district that would be enlarged to include western portions of San Francisco and Sonoma counties.

Burglar Slips Into Ice Cream Parlor

A burglar slipped into the rear room of a Larkspur ice cream parlor last night and escaped with $150 while an employee was closing the front of the store.

Larkspur police said the theft from a counter at Swensen's Ice Cream and Candies, 230 Bon Air Shopping Center, occurred between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m.

Floating Dock Permit Sought

A proposal to build a floating dock on Corte Madera Creek near Larkspur Plaza has been received by the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco.

Anyone wishing to object to the application by Charles J. Hendrickson for the dock at 555 Larkspur Plaza Road must write in triplicate to the corps prior to Nov. 15, according to Col. Charles R. Roberts, district engineer.

He said the proposed dock, designed to service an apartment building, must also be approved by the state.

FIRE CALLS

Yesterday:

8:07 a.m., Sausalito — Resident reported smoke pouring out from A.G. Schoomaker plant no. 2; fire department investigation found smoke to be exhaust gases from smokestack.

5:28 p.m., San Rafael — Small grass and brush fire at end of Worthington Lane; believed set by children.

Kentfield Board Hires Three New Employees

The Kentfield School District board last night hired three part-time employees and accepted the resignation of a fourth.

District Supt. Anthony Bacich said the board accepted the resignation of David Powers, a teacher's aide at Adaline E. Kent Junior High School, and hired Nancy Jacobsen to replace him. Her salary will be $111 a month, he said.

Also employed were Barbara Stump and Lila Van Orden. Mrs. Van Orden will work two hours a day at $5 an hour as a teacher of handicapped children, a new position, Bacich said.

Mrs. Stump will work 18 hours a week as a library aide for $148 a month, the superintendent said.

Youth Is Nabbed For Loaded Rifle

A 17-year-old Novato youth went hunting yesterday and was crossing the San Marin High School campus with his loaded .22-caliber rifle when Novato police apprehended him.

He was cited to juvenile authorities for having a loaded gun on school grounds and in public. He was also cited for having marijuana when police found a packet of green vegetable matter in his pocket.

Pedestrian's Wrist Broken

A 25-year-old San Rafael woman was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a broken right wrist suffered when she was struck by a car while crossing Fourth Street in San Rafael.

Police said today Christine Wilsey of 65 Treehaven Drive apparently was not in the crosswalk when struck by an auto driven by John Noble Young, 75, of 1438 Nye Street, San Rafael.

Officers said Young was turning left onto Fourth from Lootens Place when the 12:10 p.m. accident occurred.

Injuries Minor In Shoreline Accident

A 35-year-old Stinson Beach man received minor injuries, but declined hospital treatment yesterday, in a two-car accident on Shoreline Highway in Stinson Beach.

The California Highway Patrol, which had no details of the accident, said Sheldon B. Spindell, of Box 268, driver of one of the vehicles, was hurt about 4:05 p.m. The other driver involved was identified as Stephen W. Burke, 28, of Los Angeles.

SPORT NOTES

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Johnny Fuller of the San Francisco 49ers is from the pro football capital of the world and he couldn't be prouder of that bit of information.

If you didn't know, the football capital is Beaumont, Tex., population a little over 115,000. There are currently 23 men from Beaumont playing professional ball either in the U.S. or Canada, including Bubba and Tody Smith, Mel and Miller Farr, Jerry Levias. And John Fuller.

Fuller, a fourth year pro via Lamar Tech (Texas again), was guest speaker for the Marin Chapter, 49er Goal Rushers yesterday at San Rafael's Holiday Inn.

When things are going smoothly for the 49ers, Fuller is a backup defensive back. With injuries to safeties Mel Phillips and Roosevelt Taylor the past two weeks, Fuller has been pressed into service, but things are still going smoothly because Fuller has been doing one heck of a job.

Johnny, with traces of Texas accent leaking out all over the place, agreed with comments past 49ers have made concerning the heavy dosage of holding penalties the Niners have been getting.

"They're (officials) really watching us this year. All teams hold, we all know that. How else can you keep some of those big defensive ends from getting in?"

In trying to find an answer to the 49ers' scoring problem, San Rafael Buick baron Don Collins asked Fuller if he felt the team missed any of the coaches lost last year when Ed Hughes left the 49ers to take over as head coach for the Houston Oilers, taking two other assistants with him.

"No," declared Fuller. "We've got a great coaching staff. Our defensive backfield coach, Don Heinrich, really understands quarterbacks and receivers and can tell us what they'll do at certain situations."

Milt Schwartz wanted to know why the 49ers' offense is great between the 20-yard lines but still fails to score touchdowns (just one in each of the last two games).

"I sure can't answer that," said Fuller, "and John Brodie can't answer it either. I think the offense will come around. They'll start scoring."

He hinted a good time would be next Sunday when the 49ers will be entertaining the New England Patriots in Candlestick Park. They do have Jim Plunkett, but he can't play defense, too, and that's where the Pats are hurting.

The defensive specialist enjoyed talking about what he knows most, the defense, which has been outstanding for the Niners thus far in the season.

"We have more depth this year, and more confidence. Our defensive line is better, with experience from last year really improving those guys."

In explaining why the 49ers don't use zone defense in the backfield more, since more and more clubs are going to it, Fuller said the Niners have tried it in the past "and we get burned. We can do better in man-to-man coverage."

Another question concerned the ruling on the bump and run tactics teams use when defensive backs bump receivers as they start downfield in pass patterns. Before the ball is passed, Fuller explained, a defensive back can push or bump the receiver while he is in front of him, but once the receiver gets to the side of the defender, or past him, no more pushing.

Fuller, who is on all 49er special teams — kickoffs, punts and field goals — is one who likes to get involved with kids. In the off season he's a juvenile delinquency counselor at a boys ranch in San Francisco.

Novato Youth Wins Houston Trip

Boots Way To Title In Oakland

By LEW CODDINGTON

David is 8. Sunday at the Oakland Coliseum, the Novato youngster won the quarterfinals of Ford's punt-pass-and-kick competition, thus advancing farther than any Marin County youngster ever has in this annual affair.

Blanda is 43, and although he doesn't punt, he passed and kicked the Raiders to a harrowing 31-27 victory over Cincinnati. The competition was held at halftime of that game, there were 54,699 people in the stadium, which is a bigger crowd than most eight-year-old kids normally play before.

Was he nervous? "You bet," he says.

He didn't act it. His combined distance for one punt, one pass, and one place-kick off a tee was 157 feet, a whopping 25 feet better than his nearest competition.

It earned him a trip to Houston, scene of some of Blanda's earlier triumphs, where the national semifinals will be held Dec. 19 at halftime of the Oilers-San Diego Chargers game. Thirteen youngsters in his age bracket, one representing each of the American Football Conference cities, will collide. The winner meets the National Football Conference winner at the Super Bowl.

That's pretty heady stuff for a third-grader, but he's taking it all in stride.

"The big thing is that I'll get to see the Astrodome," he says. "And I'll get to fly." He hasn't been in a plane since he was a baby and has never been out of California except for a skiing excursion to Nevada.

David never has played organized football, although he plans to when he is old enough. He plays pretty well on the neighborhood pickup level — two on a side, one quarterback and one end. He's usually the quarterback.

"David has a lot of natural ability," said his father, Duane. "He's big for his age, but not as big as some of the guys he's beaten."

His father coached him for about a month before the competition, on evenings and weekends after David got home from Pleasant Valley school. Nobody in the neighborhood paid much attention to it at the time, but now that they've got a hero in their midst, "they think it's great," David says.

This is David's first year in the competition, and he'll be eligible for five more tries, up through age 13. He intends to keep coming back. "He really wants to win," said his father.

There were about a million youngsters to start out in the competition, and now he's one of the final 26 in his age group. Which leads to a final comparison:

If he can handle the eight-year-olds as well as Blanda handles the 43-year-olds, he's going to be one happy youngster.

Victory Bell Up For Grabs

Two title-conscious teams with divergent attacks collide Friday night in the Marin County Athletic League football game of the week when Terra Linda and San Rafael meet.

San Marin visits Redwood in Larkspur at 3:30 p.m. in another Friday MCAL game.

On Saturday, Novato treks to Tamalpais in Mill Valley, 1:30 p.m.; St. Patricks of Vallejo plays at Marin Catholic, 2 p.m., and Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland plays Drake at San Rafael High, 8 p.m. in two non-league contests.

The pass oriented Terra Linda team visits San Rafael High School to battle the resident Bulldogs in an 8 o'clock affair, hoping to return the coveted victory bell which goes to the winner of this intradistrict game.

Coach Don Lucas' Trojans realize they must stop the

Novato Sets For Redwood Harrier Go

Redwood high school meets Novato Thursday in a pivotal Marin County Athletic League cross-country meet that will either simplify the race or throw it into hopeless confusion.

Other MCAL competition will find San Rafael at San Marin, Drake at Terra Linda, and Tamalpais home with a bye.

Redwood and San Rafael are tied for first place with 4-0 league records, while Novato is still in the race at 3-1. Both the Giants and the Bulldogs are expected to win, setting the stage for their showdown next Thursday at Phoenix Lake.

But Novato has other ideas, and a Hornet victory would create the possibility of a three-way tie at the season's end. Novato has two big advantages in the upcoming clash: unbeaten runner Don Hutton, and a wicked, hilly course opponents hate to run on.

Standings

Redwood 4-0, San Rafael 4-0, Novato 3-1, Tamalpais 2-3, San Marin 1-3, Terra Linda 1-4, Drake 0-4.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

USC Back Honored By Pac-8

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

SAN FRANCISCO — USC defensive back Bruce Dyer, who pilfered two key passes in the Trojans' 28-14 win over previously unbeaten Notre Dame, is this week's Pacific 8 defense player of the week.

Dyer returned his interceptions 28 yards and 53 yards with the second one going for a touchdown. The 179-pounder from Dearborn Heights, Michigan, also was credited with five tackles from his cornerback position.

Offensive honors earlier had gone to wide receiver Edesel Garrison of the Trojans and Washington State's Bernard Jackson.

Stanford

STANFORD — Stanford, upset victim last Saturday at the hands of Washington State, prepared Monday for their next Pacific-8 conference test Saturday against Oregon State in Corvallis.

Indians coach John Ralston said the squad heard a scouting report and watched game films of Oregon State, and then worked on setting basic offensive and defensive patterns in an hour and a half practice session.

California

BERKELEY — California quarterback Reed Chastang returned to practice Monday and began the tough job of trying to regain his starting position.

Chastang opened the Bears' first game against Arkansas, but separated a shoulder in the first period. He was replaced by Jay Cruze, who has led the Bears to three straight last minute victories.

Bears coach Ray Willsey said he will make a decision on whether to play Chastang this week in Berkeley against USC after watching Chastang in practice.

Oregon

EUGENE — Oregon held a very short no-pads workout Monday as they began preparation for their Saturday game against surprising Washington State in Spokane.

The offense worked on both passing and running and worked against simulated Washington State defenses.

The defense concentrated on pass coverage and WSU running formations.

Oregon State

CORVALLIS — Oregon State university watched game films of Stanford's early season games following a light workout Monday.

He also worked both Steve Endicott and Jim Kilmartin at quarterback with the number one offensive unit.

Plunkett Returns Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — New England Patriots quarterback Jim Plunkett, last year's Heisman trophy winner from Stanford, will return to familiar territory Sunday, but he'll have a welcoming party led by the San Francisco 49er defensive front four.

The 49ers lead the 26-team national football league in the number of times its defensive unit has dropped the opposing quarterback for a loss — 25 in six games.

That statistic is primarily the work of three young linemen, ends Tommy Hart and Cedrick Hardman and tackle Earl Edwards, who combined with veteran tackle Charlie Krueger.

ARTERIES HARDENED

Deceased End Had 'Old' Heart

DETROIT (UPI) — The family of Chuck Hughes had a history of heart trouble, the Lions' team physician has disclosed, and the Detroit wide receiver had the heart of a man in his 40s.

An autopsy Monday disclosed Hughes, 28, had an undetected heart disease known medically as "arteriosclerosis," an abnormal thickening and hardening of the arterial walls.

A massive stoppage of the left coronary artery felled Hughes on the Chicago Bears' 15-yard line with 62 seconds to play in Sunday's National Football League game. He was pronounced officially dead 50 minutes after the end of the game but both Lions' doctors feel he was, in effect, dead when he hit the turf.

"The Chuck Hughes family — both mother and father — died of what appears to be a heart disease," said Dr. Edwin R. Guise, who along with Dr. Richard A. Thompson comprise the Detroit team of physicians.

"Possibly two different kinds," Dr. Guise said. "And there's a question about one brother." Hughes was one of 13 children.

"His heart was not consistent with his age," Dr. Guise said. "His heart was an older heart. I prefer to say he was a man with a heart of the 40s —and I use that age because that is my age."

The two doctors jointly released the Wayne County medical examiner's report and were emphatic in dissociating the football game from the heart attack.

"It could have happened at any time," Dr. Thompson said. "It was something that was bound to happen. It could have happened yesterday, the day before or tomorrow."

"Arteriosclerosis heart disease has been coming on with no visible signs for some time," Dr. Guise said. "Playing football contributed in that it was a stressful situation. There is some evidence to indicate that stressful situations can induce a terminal event in patients with heart trouble."

Hughes had a "false negative test," Dr. Guise said, when he passed the electrocardiogram every NFL player takes before a new season starts. He was hit hard in a Sept. 4 exhibition game and was hospitalized twice after complaining of abdominal pains.

"I don't know," Dr. Guise replied when asked if the 180-pound receiver was given any tests for heart damage at that time. "We gave him so many tests that Ithink we must have, but I'd have to go back and look at the results to be certain.

Minnesota Stops Colts 10-3

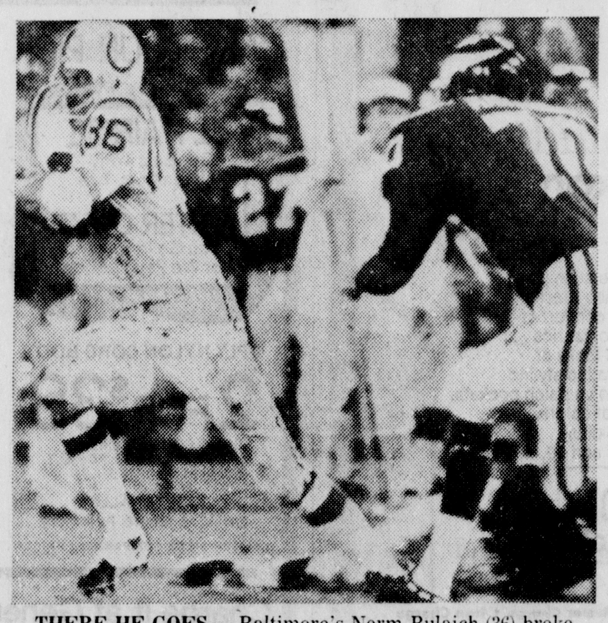
BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Two teams with mutual admiration, the Minnesota Vikings and the Baltimore Colts, spent the better part of Monday night's football game trading ball possession between the 30 yard lines.

But when the Vikings did get inside the Baltimore 30, which happened twice, they scored 10 points. And the Colts, who fared a bit better in field position, were stymied by three first half pass interceptions and two goal-line stands.

After the Vikings had emerged from a tense finish with a 10-3 win, coach Bud Grant grinned and said, "I think they could play in our division."

Judging by the relaxed atmosphere in the locker room of the defending super bowl champion Colts, they had surmised the Vikings can play with anybody now, too.

"It was a well fought, good football game," Baltimore coach Don McCafferty said. "Just a battle of two fine defenses. We're proud of our defense, and they have every right to be proud of theirs."



THERE HE GOES — Baltimore's Norm Bulaich (36) broke away for a 36-yard romp during last night's game against the Minnesota Vikings. Chasing Bulaich was Vikings' defensive end Jim Marshall. The Vikes downed the Colts, 10-3. (UPI Telephoto)

Someone asked McCafferty if the Colts would like to meet the Vikings again.

"I can't think about that," he replied. "We've got to look forward to next week."

If the teams did meet again, it would be in the Super Bowl — with Baltimore representing the American Conference, and Minnesota the champion of the National Conference.

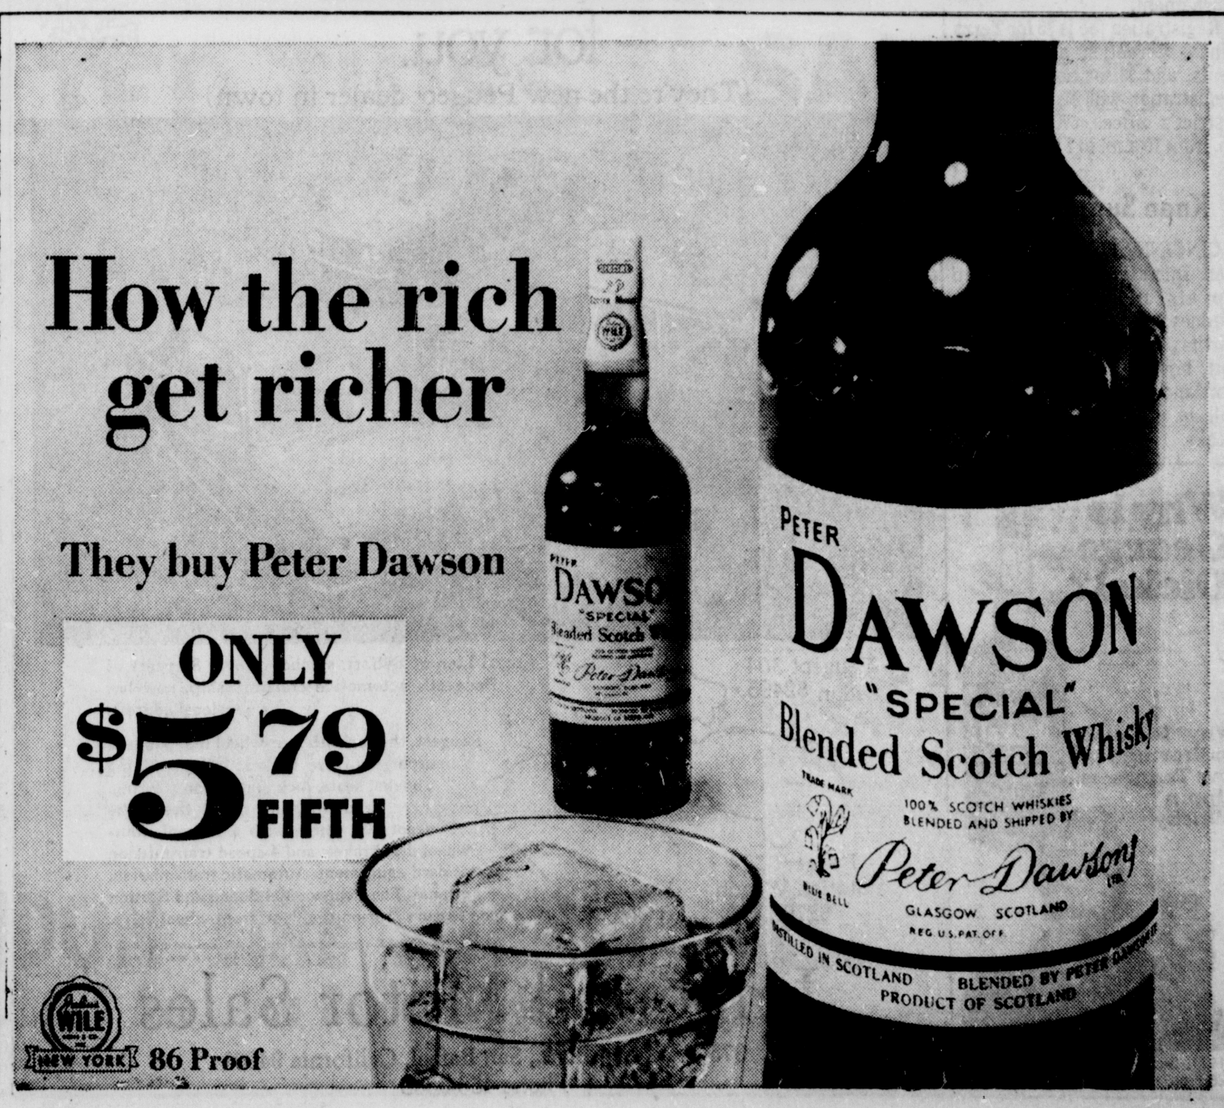
And that's not out of the question, because the two teams lead the NFL in defense and are fighting for their division titles.

The two teams traded compliments just like they traded the ball 26 times with only three scores.

"They're the best defense we've faced by far," said Viking flanker Bob Grim, who entered the game with 22 receptions and didn't catch a pass. "Because of that double coverage they use, you get forced to the inside."

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas countered, "they play a zone defense they way it's supposed to be played. We had to look for the short passes."

Colt defensive end Bubb Smith added, "they just have one hell of a good front four. If they get ahead of you by more than one touchdown, like they did to us tonight, it's murder trying to catch them."



FISH AND GAME

Just Living Off Fat Of The Land

By AL GIDDINGS

Ravendale, Lassen County — I guess I left you last week with me in the 7 Acres Motel at Litchfield, my wife, Mary, in Woodacre with our car, and those two guys, Howard Leach and Jack Schaub enroute home to Sacramento. And it's snowing! Yep, those two left me up here hoping I'd stay in the tent in the coming snowstorm, but not this kid.

The good wife Mary arrived that night about 11 o'clock. We just let it snow. For two days we drove out to the camp, but it seemed best to stay at the motel.

We got in a duck hunt one day at a little pond near camp. We collected one mallard and three widgeon in an afternoon's shoot. Last Wednesday, we spent the evening with Charlie Heart and his family at Susanville. He said that two California Highway Patrol officers and a sheriff — all from Sonoma County — were coming up for a deer hunt. Charlie is a CHP man here in Lassen County. On the hunt I took a shotgun along for cottontails.

As it turned out it was a banner day for Mary. The entire trip became a booming success. She got herself a dandy three-pointer. It probably weighed about 160 pounds. We had gotten separated from the rest of the group, so we ended up packing it in making two trips to the car. Mary took a little more than a quarter, so things went good; her first trip she took the guns and her binoculars. (Those back packs are Godsends.) Of course all the fellows were duly impressed. Mary was in her glory!

Friday morning Enos Foster of Woodacre and his 11-year-old son, Scott, showed up about 7 o'clock. We knew they were coming so we had the two sets of horns sitting on the camp table where they couldn't miss seeing them. We got the desired results! Enos spent the day on a big hunt of his own with Scott going all the way. Enos said they hiked 10 miles, saw about 28 deer, one legal, two forks, two spikes and the rest does. The legal buck was just too far for a shot. Scott had a back pack on — no gun — but he collected deer horns, cowheads — anything that was interesting in the mountains. Some kid! Enos had arrived with our mail for which we were at first elated! What's going on down there? One state income tax bill came and they want money in October? The house tax bill came too. Up 200 bucks! Didn't they hear that state employees didn't get a raise this year? I guess it's "Stay up here, live in a tent!" No water bills, no taxes, a ranger services the one building around here once a week and he also collects the garbage. Live off the fat of the land, that's what I say!

On Saturday, Mary and I were waiting for Enos and Scott and two other hunters. George Kerbs of Woodacre and Larry Broussal (the French Chef) of San Francisco were coming for dinner. They had been out since early morning; it had been snowing most of the day. Mary and I had just returned from a ride, and she was putting together a stew. With just two days left to this deer season in this area, I hoped the boys connected.

Here they come now! One cottontail rabbit. Put it in the stew. Yep, living off the fat of the land!

vaunted San Rafael running attack, which features All-League halfback Scott Duncan, Mark Farrar, Dave Urquhart and alternate Jim Grigg. This group ran roughshod through all but Redwood, a team which later bowed to Terra Linda.

The Trojans showed the league they can stop the run with a defense bulwarked by linemen Mike Sabel, Larry Madden and backer Steve Withers. Safety John Buckley and halfback Rich Nicholes, a late developing star, anchor the pass defense.

San Rafael also has some excellent defensive stalwarts, such as end Duke Bessee, the Lechners, John and Bill, and Urquhart.

With defensive stars like these pervading the lineups, some observers foresee a low-scoring game. However, with championship survival at stake, it is likely that both squads will pull out all stops in repeatedly denting the scoreboard.

The other two championship candidates, Redwood and Novato, confront easier tasks. The Giants host San Marin, while the Novatans tackle Tamalpais.

In addition, the Hornet offense has awakened. Thus, Novato enemies have even more to worry about, like stopping the aerial antics of All-League quarterback Marty Moroski and the running of tailback Leo Magers.

Like Novato, Redwood has a comparatively easy assignment. The Giants will be trying to rebound from a 23-6 pasting by Terra Linda when battling San Marin. The Mustangs will attempt to spoil the Giant plans with the passing of sophomore quarterback Hoza Wright. The southpaw has exhibited outstanding potential and is determined to trigger a Mustang triumph.

The Wildcats of Kentfield dropped their first two, but they won the next five to serve notice that coach Bruno Banducci has transformed the school's erstwhile sagging fortunes.

PREP OF THE WEEK

Larry Madden Shows Dexterity

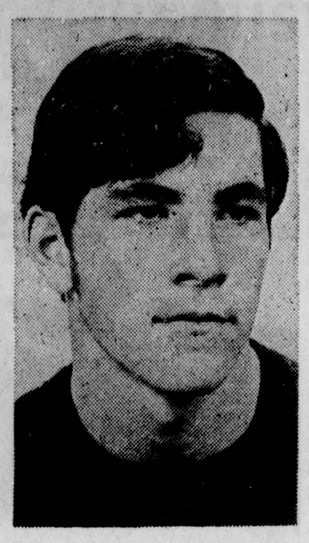
Larry Madden, a 6-foot-2, 180-pound defensive tackle at Terra Linda High School took honors by anchoring a highly inspired Trojan defense which walloped Redwood 23-6 Saturday. He intercepted a fourth quarter pass and rambled 48 yards for a touchdown to see the win.

In attempting to pinpoint the "why" behind his development, Trojan followers observe the junior is tremendously strong and very consistent. "He is a great pass blocker too," Blue and Gold coach Don Lucas pointed out.

Madden's football prowess is enhanced by his attitude. "I like to set my goals high and try to extend myself. I always try to be the best and give my best all the time.

"And that goes for the classroom also," the four-year I-J toter added. Sporting a healthy 3.0. Madden has aspirations for attending Idaho State. His reasons are not solely academically motivated; "I like the skiing there," he said referring to the hobby he has nurtured for the past two years.



The lanky lad with four tackles and 27 assists this season is also contemplating Oregon State University possibilities. His grandfather was the captain of the 1905 varsity football edition.

In addition, Madden was born in Corvallis, Ore., the Beaver's campus locale.

Although college looms over the immediate horizon, Madden is more concerned with the contemporary questions, like beating San Rafael Friday night or completing chemistry assignments.

Neither are easy tasks, but Madden is working hard on both. While putting in some two hours a day in the school week for football practice, Madden still finds time to plunge into classroom assignments.

He deems English interesting, "but I'm only taking chemistry because I have to." Madden is also studying American history under former Trojan frosh coach Brad Squires. "He's a very good teacher, because he questions things, and makes us think."

Apparently, the Madden family is heavily involved in several newspaper aspects. "My father (Paul J.) is working in the circulation department of a San Francisco paper," the 16-year-old noted.

A sister, Cathy, served part-time in the I-J circulation department in the summer.

Ironically, the family's newspaper ties run deeper than their past athletic affiliations. "Other than the grandfather," Larry's father interjected. "No one previously played in sports in our family."

However, Larry has turned the course of Madden history. The Madden family pioneer last year set the school's "B" discus mark of 136-feet, four inches.

"I enjoy swimming and listening to music also," Madden enthused.

In discussing the latter subject, Madden intimated that he prefers "rock, because it is easier to listen to and doesn't drag on. I like other music too, and I'm studying about Bach."

To complete his 25 hour day, Madden has tried his hand at the guitar. "But I've sort of stopped it for a while because of football."

Thus, when opposing coaches peel their proteges off the grass after a Madden tackle, they will know that Larry Madden is more than a commonplace footballer; he is an intense young man bent on excelling in all his endeavors.

Lamonica Says He's Prepared

OAKLAND (UPI) — Kansas City and Oakland are tied for the lead in the American Football Conference Western Division, but the Raiders think they will be on top after Sunday.

"It comes down to Kansas City and us again next Sunday," offensive guard Gene Upshaw says. "Somebody's going to be leading the West and it had better be us."

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who injured his little finger on his throwing hand against Cincinnati last Sunday and had to watch veteran George Blanda lead the team to a 31-27 comeback win over the Bengals, said, "My finger's sore now, but I'll be there."

At least one Raider — running back Marv Hubbard — is a bit apprehensive about the game with the Chiefs.

Hubbard, who scored three touchdowns against the Bengals and moved into the rushing leadership in the AFC, had some unkind words for the Chiefs after the two teams played to a 17-17 tie in their second meeting of the year.

"I'm scared to be perfectly honest," Hubbard said. "I know those guys are going to be looking for me. It's going to be a real war. We're gonna have to go after them. I think we'll be ready."

Both the Raiders and the Chiefs, with one loss each on their records, have five-game winning streaks on the line.

'Skins Get Flowers

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys placed safety Richmond Flowers on waivers Monday and was claimed by and awarded to the Washington Redskins.

TITLE FIGHT

Rondon Thinking Ahead; Faces Brennan Tonight

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — You'd think the fight was over.

If World Boxing Association (WBA) light-heavyweight champ Vicente Rondon succeeds tonight against Gomeo Brennan in his third title defense this year, his stock as one of boxing's brightest young stars will again climb.

And Rondon says training will start almost immediately for a fight next month with world middleweight champ Carlos Monzon in Argentina.

For Brennan, who has 38 knockouts in 108 bouts to his credit — while Rondon has fought a total of 39 fights — a win in the scheduled 15-rounder at Miami Beach convention hall will be the culmination of a lifelong dream.

Rondon is a hard trainer and a hard puncher who told UPI, "I like to sweat," and traveled to Germany just two weeks ago to fight and win a non-title tuneup bout.

From a toothful smile between his mutton-chop whiskers, Brennan said, "I fought my first bout here in Miami Beach when I was 18 and if hard work, good shape and experience means anything, I'll take him."

The 31-year-old Brennan added "you must remember that I was fighting in 'battle royals' with kids in Bimini long before I ever came to Miami."

Twice British Empire middleweight champ, Brennan has wanted a world title shot "ever since I started fighting."

With a record of 35-5-1 Rondon wants his family to know the win will be for his late father. In this, his first defense outside Venezuela, Rondon's family will not be able to be on hand, but they'll be watching on television at home, he said.

His father died shortly after he won the WBA title Feb. 27 with a knockout over Jimmy Dupree. Bob Foster holds the title of the National Boxing Association (NBA) which does not recognize the WBA.

In his two previous title defenses, in Venezuela, the 6-2 former soldier, whose weight fluctuates between 174 and 178 pounds, earlier this year beat Italy's Piero Del Papa and Eddie "Bossman" Jones of the United States.

California In Road Go Tomorrow

It took the seals eight games this year to break into the national hockey league win column. Last year it took 10 games.

And Gerry Pinder's three goals that helped the Seals get that first win last Sunday with a 6-3 victory over Detroit was the third time in eight games a Seal has turned the hat trick. Last season California had just one three-goal performance.

The Seals continue their short road trip Wednesday when they meet Pittsburgh. Then they travel to Boston Thursday and return home Sunday.

Angels To Select Dalton Tomorrow

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Harry Dalton, director of player personnel for the American League Champion Baltimore Orioles, is expected to be named general manager of the California Angels Wednesday.

Angel President Robert Reynolds Monday announced the hiring of Dalton, 44, had been scheduled for that day.

"Throughout our talks with Dalton my feelings have ranged from doubtful to hopeful," Reynolds said. "I'm now very optimistic.

"I'm optimistic that we'll be able to make an announcement on Dalton at a press conference sometime Wednesday.

Reynolds said it was unlikely California will name a field manager at the conference.

"We'd like to announce both but right now the first step is the important one," the Angel president explained. "and, of course, we want our general manager to have the key voice in choosing his field manager."

Angel general manager Dick Walsh and Field Boss Lefty Phillips were fired after the club's 11th pennantless season.

Signups Slated For Saturday In Junior Cage

Registration will be held Saturday, Nov. 6, for the Terra Linda Recreation and Park Department's junior basketball program.

Boys in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are eligible to compete. Teams will be fielded from Santa Margarita, Don Timoteo, Bernard Hoffman, Nova Albion, Oakview, St. Isabella's, Mary Silveira, Lucas Valley, Oliver Hartzell and Dixie schools. Regular-season play will open in January following a Christmas tournament.

Registration fee is $5 for Terra Linda recreation district residents, and $6 for non-residents. Registration will be held at the district's offices, 670 Del Ganado, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Knee Surgery Set

CINCINNATI (UPI) —Rookie Ken Durrett of the Cincinnati Royals undergoes surgery Wednesday to repair a torn cartilage in his right knee. Durrett, injured in a game against Portland last Saturday night, will be sidelined for about 12 weeks.

Olivares Stops Kanazawa

King Decks Game Foe 3 Times

NAGOYA, Japan, (UPI)— World bantamweight champion Rubin Olivares of Mexico Monday night knocked down challenger Kazuyoshi Kanazawa of Japan three times in the 14th round for a knockout victory in their 15-round title match.

Olivares, an overwhelming favorite, finally caught up with his relentless body attack and stopped the courageous challenger. The end of the fight came at 2 minutes of the round.

Olivares, who was on the verge of being stopped himself in the 13th round by the comeback by the challenger, came out fighting hard as the 14th round opened. He drove Kanazawa against the ropes and punished the Japanese fighter severely with lefts and rights to the body.

Kanazawa took a nine-count knockdown from referee Jay Edson of Phoenix, Ariz. Kanazawa tried to fight back courageously but Olivares sent him down flat on his back with a two fisted attack.

Kanazawa rose gamely to his feet but he went down again before Olivares' hammering punches and the fight ended.

Upsets Hit British Net Tournament

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — The $48,000 Embassy Open tennis tournament moves into second round play today after an opening day marked by stunning upsets.

Among the top-ranked pros falling in opening round action were Stan Smith, the U.S. Open title holder; Ken Rosewall of Australia; and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill.

Australian Ray Ruffels knocked out Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., 9-8, 6-4 while South Africa's Frew McMillan ousted Rose-wall, the Forest Hills winner a year ago, 6-4, 6-2.

Bob Hewitt of South Africa eliminated Reissen 9-8, 6-4 while John Newcombe from Australia, played back to form in beating countryman Owen Davidson 9-8, 9-8.

In other first round matches, Ilie Nastase of Romania beat Roy Barth of San Diego, Calif., 8-6, 6-4; Czechoslovakia's Jan Kodes defeated Australian Fred Stolle 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; John Alexander, also of Australia, ousted U.S. Davis cupper Frank Froehling 7-5, 6-2; and Jeff Borowiak of Lafayette, Calif., downed South Africa's Ray Moore 9-8, 6-3.

TROUBLED ABA TEAM

Pittsburgh Sold Again

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Condors, with an albatross of low attendance round their necks, Monday were sold to a group of Washington-Maryland businessmen, the fourth sale of the team in the last five years.

The Condors, whose pre-game attendance last season was a league-low 2,806 persons, will remain in Pittsburgh, according to general manager Mark Binstein.

Metro Sports, Inc., the new owner, announced its purchase of the American basketball association team from Haven Industries, a New York conglomerate, on Monday. League approval of the purchase was expected today, according to Donald H. Adams, a Bethesda, Md., investment banker and president of Metro Sports, Inc.

In their five-year history, the Condors have had three other owners, seven coaches, four nicknames and made three franchise shifts. Binstein denied published reports the sale would mean another shift.

"The difference between this offer and the six or seven other offers Haven Industries have received in the year a half they owned the club, is that this group did not want to move the franchise," Binstein said in Pittsburgh.

The team's new executive director is Arnold Heft, former part owner of the Baltimore Bullets and a former NBA referee. Heft is a builder in the Washington, D.C. area.

Other officers of Metro Sports include Victor H. Ottenstein, vice president, a prominent Washington businessman, and Leonard S. Blondes, secretary treasurer, a lawyer and former Maryland state legislator.

Mill Valley Gal Wins 2 Net Titles

Alice Reeve of Mill Valley was a double winner in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department Open Doubles Tournament Sunday.

Mrs. Reeve teamed with Betty Stephens of San Rafael to win the women's doubles over Mary Ann O'Neil and Marianne Hanley of Mill Valley, 6-1, 6-1, in a powerful display.

Then teamed with her husband, Jim, the Reeves defeated her women's doubles partners, Mrs. Stephens, who was a partner of Phil Seymour of Ross, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

In men's doubles, Seymour and Gordon Smith of Mill Valley downed George Garver and Mike O'Neil of Mill Valley, 7-6, 7-5.

Warriors Entertain Buffalo

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors play their second home game of the new National Basketball association season tonight when they meet the Buffalo Braves in the Oakland Coliseum arena.

The Warriors, playing almost all their home games in the Coliseum this year, are coming off a tough 115-109 overtime victory over Detroit last Saturday in their home opener.

Down by eight points with 4:50 left to play and playing without center Nate Thurmond, who had fouled out of the game, the Warriors came back in the final minutes to tie the game, and then broke the game open in the extra period on a seven-point burst by Jim Barnett.

"It was a thing of beauty. Very inspiring." Thurmond said afterwards. "It's been a long time since we've come back like that after being so far down late in the game. The guys really hustled."

SPORTS SHORTS

Vatican Radio Raps Automobile Racing

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

VATICAN CITY — Vatican Radio bitterly attacked the sport of automobile racing today and described its two latest victims as "Kamikazes dedicated to death."

The radio said it was commenting in the wake of the deaths Sunday of Joe Siffert of Switzerland and Ron Sheldon of the United States.

"These drivers," it said, "became ever more kamikazes dedicated to death. Shudders of emotion and indignation are raised everywhere, but nothing — or practically nothing — is done to guarantee the so-clear respect of the human being."

It took note "bitterly" of the current way the sport is operated and said it was a sport which remained deaf in the face of the "slaughter" of drivers.

Tennis

WEMBLEY, England — U.S. Open champion Billie-Jean King of Long Beach, Calif. today started defense of her singles title at the $45,000 Wills Embassy tournament with a comfortable victory over Briton Shirley Brasher.

Mrs. King, chasing the top prize of $2,400, needed only 40 minutes to defeat the British No. 8, a veteran mother of three, 6-4, 6-1.

Basketball

BALTIMORE — The Baltimore Bullets regained Archie Clark today, but still were uncertain about Earl Monroe's plans for returning to the club.

Clark, who came to the Bullets from Philadelphia in a trade for Fred Carter and Kevin Loughery, was suspended with Monroe last Friday for failing to show up for a game with New York.

Clark apologized to Bullet fans Monday night for going AWOL and promised them he would do what he could to bring them "an exciting season of NBA ball." He will be in uniform for tonight's game in Milwaukee against the champion Bucks.

Baseball

STANFORD — Hospital authorities said surgery "went fine as expected" Sunday on San Francisco Giants First baseman Willie McCovey.

Dr. Fred Behling, Stanford's team physician, performed the operation for a torn cartilege in McCovey's left knee. The Giants said McCovey was expected to stay in the hospital for about a week.

General

DETROIT — A scholarship fund has been set up to pay for the education of 23-month-old Brandon Shane Hughes, son of the late Detroit Lions' wide receiver.

McNulty Gets Second

Penalties Ire NFL Team Boss

The San Francisco 49ers, who Sunday set a new team penalty mark of 168 yards in a single game, are not the only ones afflicted with foul problems. Take the case of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The American Football Conference team's coach Chuck Noll, referring to the 511 yards marched off against the squad in six league games, commented Monday that league officials are making "ridiculous" calls this season.

The Steelers received seven 15-yard penalties during Sunday's 23-16 victory over the Houston Oilers. Noll complained Monday that some of the four offensive holding fouls against Pittsburgh were called merely because players had their arms outstretched.

"It's the whole emphasis on calls," Noll said. "Some coaches complain that things are not being called, so the league tells the officials to look for this or look for that, and they start calling things."

"We had a holding call on Jon Kolb when he was 10 or 12 yards away from the play on the other side of the field and the ball-carrier already was being tackled. One of the Houston players ran in front of him and all he did was put his hands out to keep from stepping on his foot. It was a simple human reaction."

Size Of The Pie Remains The Same

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. If I bought 100 shares of stock "A" at $40 and two years later it split 5-for-2, I would then hold 250 shares.

If the market value for stock "A" drops to $8 can I sell my original 100 shares, and take the tax loss on my original total cost?

This would leave me with 150 shares at no cost for a later capital gain.

Would this be permitted by the Internal Revenue Service? — I.G.

A. No, since your original 100 shares no longer exist as an entity.

If you think of the corporation as a pie, the concept becomes simple.

Whether a pie is cut in four pieces or 10 pieces, the pie remains the same size.

On the original cutting you had two pieces to eat, now you have five, but no matter how you slice it you still have half the pie.

Your original $4,000 total cost must be equally assigned to each of the 250 shares, giving you a per share cost of $16.

Sale of 100 shares at $8 would mean a realized loss of $800 and a paper loss of $1,200 on the remaining 150 shares.

Q. I purchased SMC Investment Corp. at 17½ late in 1968.

It is now below 10. Should I buy more to average down, hold or sell? — L.G.

A. These OTC shares, purchased at the initial offering, are trading at a substantial discount from net asset value.

However, since a large proportion of the company's assets are in non-marketable restricted securities, value assessments are difficult to make.

These restricted securities may be sold only through a private transaction or by filing a registration statement with the SEC for a public stock offering.

SMC is a closed-end investment trust with heavy emphasis on venture capital investments.

While SMC's portfolio contains securities of some well-known corporations, a larger number of its investments are in relatively untested companies.

Rough(neck) 'n Ready Red Adair Has A Job No One Else Wants

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Red Adair has made a career of taking on jobs nobody else in the oil industry seems to want or can handle: well blowouts and fires.

Many regard Adair, who headquarters in Houston, as a hell-for-leather roughneck who jets around the world snuffing out huge fires with dynamite blasts. That's part of what he does, but he also is a master technician of the oil industry and intimately familiar with the hardware and equipment used in the business.

He's a consultant in catastrophe situations. Oil companies won't say how much they pay Adair to do his thing, but they will say he's "worth every dollar."

The son of a blacksmith, he was born Paul N. Adair in Houston June 18, 1915. Adair dropped out of the seventh grade after the school house, located across the street from the fire department, burned down. He worked as a soda jerk before entering the oil fields as a roughneck.

He became an oil fire fighter in 1946 for Myron M. Kinley, a pioneer in the field of dousing oil blazes. Kinley said he was impressed by the way Adair once calmly capped an oil well blowout and once was uninjured in a blowout that blew him 50 feet into the air. When Kinley retired in 1959, Adair went into business for himself.

A five-foot, six-inch, 180 pounder with red hair and freckles, Adair can be quick with a smile or a temper tantrum. He and his wife have a son and daughter, both married. When he is not battling oil fires, Adair flirts with danger in a powerful racing boat or takes it easy aboard his 27-foot fishing boat. He also has four cars, all painted red.

When Red talks about what he does he lapses into an oil field argot that is hard for most people to understand.

He's likely to say, "We'll put on a packoff assembly head," or, "up here, we have a split slip and hanger designed to handle 10,000 pounds pressure."

When Adair appeared at a news conference in New Orleans while a big offshore fire was under way he showed he had a philosophical side. It came out when a young lady from a television station asked him, "Mr. Adair, is there any danger to your personnel?"

Parker Is Elected To Summit Post

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — Robert G. Parker has been elected executive vice-president of Summit Corp. of San Francisco and Wichita, Kan., national distributors for Petroleum Resources Fund Inc.

Before joining Summit Corp., Parker was managing general partner of P M R Co., a San Francisco brokerage firm, and vice-president and co-owner of Pacific Securities, Sacramento.

Market Closes Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market found little in the news to its liking and closed lower today despite a brisk rise early in the session.

Some analysts labeled the initial advance a "technical rally" after nine consecutive declines in key market averages, but they noted that there was no news to give it any support.

The late selling continued to reflect uncertainty about Phase Two of President Nixon's economic policy, world monetary concern, and some worry over possible repercussions stemming from the ouster of Nationalist China from the United Nations.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.14 at 94.96, and declines topped advances, 889 to 439, among the 1,664 issues crossing the tape.

Sales Are Up

MENLO PARK (BW) — Envirotech Corp. has reported sales of $63,748,000 for the first six months of its fiscal year ended Sept. 30, compared with $46,416,000 in the first half last year. Earnings after taxes were $1,735,000, or 55 cents per share, compared with $1,265,000, or 47 cents per share, in the previous year.

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.
